

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

It has been thought desirable that a Year-Book should be published in future, together with the list of Fellows, containing full information respecting the constitution and working of the Royal Geographical Society, and the arrangements for the utilisation of its property and the furtherance of its objects. It is hoped that the Fellows will thus become better acquainted with the uses to which their premises are put, as well as with the labours of their Society since its foundation. This, I trust, will lead to more frequent visits to their rooms, and to a largely increased use of the geographical treasures they contain. Another object of the Year-Book will be the more general dissemination of knowledge respecting the work and uses of the Society.

FOUNDATION OF THE SOCIETY.

THE Royal Geographical Society was founded in 1830. Previously, and since the dawn of British exploration and discovery, geographical work had been done without regular organization. It was commenced in 1555, when Richard Eden published his "Decades of the New World." It was continued by a succession of collectors of Voyages and Travels—Hakluyt, Purchas, Harris, Astley, Churchill, Pinkerton, Dalrymple, Kerr, and Burney. The Royal Society, from its foundation, published occasional geographical papers, and promoted the invention and improvement of instruments useful to travellers. Sir Joseph Banks was the constant and very active patron of geography from the time that he became President of the Royal Society in 1778 until his death in 1820. His mantle fell upon Major Rennell, while from 1818 Sir John Barrow, the Secretary to the Admiralty, was the great promoter of voyages of discovery. In 1788 the African Association was founded for the promotion of discovery in the interior of that continent, and the labours of its members culminated in the discoveries of Mungo Park, of Denham and Clapperton, and of Lander.

The Raleigh Dining Club was founded in February, 1827. The world was mapped out into so many divisions corresponding with the number of members, each division being represented by at least one member, so that the Club collectively should have visited nearly every part of the known world. The principal object of the Club dinners, which took place at the "Thatched House," was announced to be the attainment of an agreeable and rational society composed of persons who had visited all parts of the globe. At the dinners the feeling that the creation of a more completely organized institution for the advancement of geography was necessary, gradually took definite shape. After the foundation of the Society the Raleigh Club continued to flourish, becoming more and more closely connected with the Society, until, in 1854, the affiliation became complete. With new rules the name of Raleigh was then dropped, and it became the Geographical Club, whose history has since been part of the history of the Society.

Early in 1830 Admiral Smyth sketched out a well-conceived scheme for a Geographical Society, and enrolled many names. Independently of his efforts, there was subsequently a numerously attended meeting of the Raleigh Club, with Sir John Barrow in the chair, on May 24th, 1830, when it was resolved that a Society was needed whose sole object should be the promotion and diffusion of geographical knowledge. The meeting nominated a provisional committee consisting of six members of the Raleigh Club, Sir John Barrow, Mr. Robert Brown (Princeps Botanicorum), Sir John Hobhouse (afterwards Lord Broughton), Sir Roderick Murchison, Mr. Mountstuart Elphinstone, and Mr. Bartle Frere. The meetings of this Committee took place in Sir John Barrow's room at the Admiralty. They there settled the preliminary business, and drew up rules. Admiral Smyth's zealous exertions, commenced at an earlier date, were now heartily given to the Committee. He materially furthered the successful progress of its efforts.

On July 16th, 1830, at a meeting in the rooms of the Horticultural Society in Regent Street, resolutions were adopted relating to the government and constitution of the Society, and the Geographical Society of London was founded. President, Vice-Presidents, Council, Treasurer, and Secretaries were elected.

Our first President was Viscount Goderich, afterwards Earl of Ripon. The Vice-Presidents were Sir John Barrow, Sir John Franklin, Colonel Leake, and Mr. Greenough. Four hundred and sixty names were enrolled on the list of Fellows, forty-three being naval officers, including the King, fifty officers in the army, all the leading statesmen of both parties, including the Duke of Wellington (then Prime Minister), and men eminent in all branches of science. King William IV. became patron of the Society, granted an annual donation of fifty guineas (which has been graciously continued by her present Majesty) to constitute a premium for the encouragement and promotion of geographical science and discovery, and ordered that our title should be the "Royal Geographical Society."

The African and Palestine Associations were merged in the Society.

The objects of the Royal Geographical Society are the accumulation of new geographical knowledge, the maintenance of a library and a collection of maps for the use of its members, granting assistance to travellers and to research, the training of explorers, the raising of the standard of geographical education, and the dissemination of geographical knowledge. It has actively and successfully pursued these objects during the last sixty-eight years.

The Society's Royal Charter of Incorporation was granted to Sir Roderick Murchison on the 8th of February, 1859.

The following table shows the progress of the Society, so far as the number of Fellows is concerned :—

CHARTER AND BYE-LAWS.

THE ROYAL CHARTER OF INCORPORATION TO THE ROYAL
GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY, 1859.

Victoria, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith, To all to whom these Presents shall come, Greeting.

WHEREAS Sir Roderick Impey Murchison, Knight, and others of our loving subjects did, in the year one thousand eight hundred and thirty, establish a Society, by the name of The Royal Geographical Society, for the advancement of Geographical Science, and of which Society we have become the Patron :

AND WHEREAS it has been represented to us that the same Society has since its establishment sedulously pursued such its proposed object, by collecting, registering, digesting, and, from time to time, publishing an annual Journal of Transactions, which have contributed to the progress of geographical knowledge; by carrying out, at its own expense, various important Expeditions in every quarter of the Globe, and by assisting other Expeditions with grants of money and otherwise; and whereas, distinguished individuals in foreign countries, as well as British subjects, have availed themselves of the facilities offered by the same Society for communicating important discoveries, greatly extending geographical knowledge :

AND WHEREAS the same Society has, in aid of its objects, collected a large and valuable Library of Scientific Works, Atlases, Maps, Charts, Plans, Views, and Instruments, to which fresh accessions are constantly being made; and the said Society has hitherto been supported by Donations, and annual and other Subscriptions and Contributions to its Funds :

AND WHEREAS, in order to secure the property of the said Society, to extend its operations, and to give it a more permanent establishment among the scientific Institutions of our Kingdom, we have been besought to grant to the said Sir Roderick Impey Murchison, Knight, and to those who now are, or shall hereafter become, Members of the said Society, our Royal Charter of Incorporation for the purposes aforesaid.

NOW KNOW YE, that We, being desirous of encouraging a design so laudable and salutary, of our especial Grace, certain knowledge, and mere motion, have willed, granted and declared, and Do, by these Presents for us, our heirs, and successors, will, grant and declare, that the said Sir Roderick Impey Murchison, Knight, and such other of our loving subjects as now are Members of the said Society, or shall from time to time be elected Fellows thereof, according to such Regulations, or Bye Laws, as shall be hereafter framed or enacted, and their successors, shall for ever hereafter be, by virtue of these Presents, one body politic and corporate, by the name of "The Royal Geographical Society;" and for the purposes aforesaid, and by the name aforesaid, shall have perpetual succession and a Common Seal, with full power and authority to alter, vary, break, and renew the same at their discretion, and by the same name, to sue and be sued, implead and be impleaded, answer and be answered unto, in every court of us, our heirs and successors, and be for ever able and capable in the law, to purchase, receive, possess, hold and enjoy, to them and their successors, any goods and chattels whatsoever; and also to be able and capable in the law (notwithstanding the Statutes of Mortmain), to take, purchase, hold and enjoy, to them and their successors, a Hall or House, and any such messuages, lands, tenements, or hereditaments whatsoever, as may be necessary for carrying out the purposes of the Society, the yearly value of which, including the site of the said Hall or House, shall not exceed in the whole the sum of eight thousand pounds, computing the same respectively at the rack rent which might have been had or gotten for the same respectively at the time of the purchase or acquisition thereof: and to act in all the concerns of the said body politic and corporate, as effectually, to all intents and purposes, as any other of our liege subjects, or any other body politic or corporate, in our said Kingdom, not being under any disability, might do in their respective concerns.

AND we do hereby grant our especial licence and authority, unto all and every person and persons, bodies politic and corporate, otherwise competent to grant, sell, alien, and convey in Mortmain, unto and to the use of the said body politic and corporate, and their successors, any messuages, lands, tenements, or hereditaments, not exceeding such annual value as aforesaid.

AND our will and pleasure is, and we further grant and declare, that there shall be a General Meeting, or General Meetings of the Fellows of the said Society, to be held from time to time as hereinafter mentioned: and that there shall be a Council to direct and manage the concerns of the said body politic and corporate, and that the General Meetings and the Council shall have the entire direction and management of the same, in the manner and subject to the regulations hereafter mentioned.

AND we do hereby also will, grant and declare, that there shall be a President, Vice-Presidents, a Treasurer, and Secretaries of the said body politic and corporate; and that the Council shall consist of the President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, Trustees, Secretaries, and not more than twenty-one, nor less than twelve, other Fellows of the said Society.

AND we do hereby further will and declare, that the said Sir Roderick Impey Murchison, Knight, shall be the first President of the said body politic and corporate; and the other persons now being the Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, Trustees, Secretaries, together with twenty-one Members of the Council, shall be the first Members of the Council, and shall continue such until the election of Officers shall be made in pursuance of these presents.

AND we do hereby further will and declare, that it shall be lawful for the Fellows of the said body politic and corporate hereby established, to hold a General Meeting once in the year, or oftener, for the purposes hereinafter mentioned, namely, that the President, Vice-Presidents, the Treasurer, the Secretaries, and other members of the Council, shall be chosen at such General Meeting, and that the General Meetings shall from time to time make and establish such Bye Laws, and vary and alter, or revoke the same, as they shall deem to be useful and necessary for the regulation of the said body politic and corporate, for the admission of Fellows and of Honorary and Foreign Members, and for the fixing the number of the Presidents, Officers, and for the management of the proceedings, and the estates, goods, and business of the said body politic and corporate, so that such Bye Laws be not repugnant to these presents, or to the Laws and Statutes of this our realm, and shall and may also enter into any resolution and make any regulation respecting the affairs of the said body politic and corporate that may be necessary and proper.

AND we do further will and declare that the General Meetings shall take place at such time as may be fixed by the said Council, and that the present regulations of the said Society, so far as they are not inconsistent with these presents, shall continue in force until the same shall be altered by a General Meeting.

AND we further will, grant and declare, that the Council shall have the sole management of the income and funds of the said body politic and corporate, and the appointment of Secretary, Librarian, Curator, and such other officers, attendants, and servants, as the Council shall think necessary or useful, as also the entire management and superintendence of all the other affairs of the said Society, and shall and may, but not inconsistently with or contrary to the provisions of this our Charter, or any existing Bye Law, or Laws and Statutes of this our realm, do all such acts and deeds as shall appear to them necessary for carrying into effect the objects and views of the said body politic and corporate.

PROVIDED always, and we do will and declare that the Council shall from time to time render to a General Meeting a full account of their proceedings, and that every Fellow of the Society may, at all reasonable times, to be fixed by the said Council, see and examine the accounts of the receipts and payments of the said body politic and corporate.

AND we further will, grant and declare, that the whole property of the said body politic and corporate shall be vested, and we do hereby vest the same solely and absolutely in the Fellows thereof, and that they shall have full power and authority to sell, alienate, charge, and otherwise dispose of the same as they shall think proper; but that no sale, mortgage, incumbrance, or other disposition of any messuages, lands, tenements, or hereditaments belonging to the said body politic and corporate shall be made, except with the approbation and concurrence of a General Meeting.

AND we lastly declare it to be our Royal Will and Pleasure, that no Resolution or Bye Law shall on any account or pretence whatsoever be made by the said body politic and corporate in opposition to the general scope, true intent, and meaning of this our Charter, or the Laws or Statutes of our realm, and that if any such Rule or Bye Law shall be made, the same shall be absolutely null and void to all intents, effects, constructions, and purposes whatsoever.

IN witness whereof we have caused these our Letters to be made Patent.

WITNESS Ourselves, at our Palace at Westminster, this eighth day of February, in the twenty-second year of our reign.

By Her Majesty's command.

BYE-LAWS OF THE ROYAL GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY.

As amended by a Special General Meeting held on June 22nd, 1896.

CHAPTER I.

CONSTITUTION.

1. THE ROYAL GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY is instituted for the Advancement of Geographical Science.

2. The Society consists of Fellows, and of Honorary and Honorary Corresponding Members.

3. A Council shall be chosen annually from the Fellows to conduct the affairs of the Society, and shall consist of a President, six Vice-Presidents—two of whom shall be ex-Presidents, if available—a Treasurer and two other Trustees, three Honorary Secretaries, and twenty-one other Councillors.

4. Every Fellow shall be eligible to fill any of the offices in the Council. One of the Vice-Presidents, and seven of the other Councillors shall be changed every year, and shall not be eligible for re-election to the same office till after the expiration of one year.

5. In the case of the death or resignation of the President, of one of the Honorary Secretaries, or of the Treasurer, in the interval between any two successive annual meetings, the Council shall have power to appoint one of their number to perform the duties of the vacant office provisionally, until the next General Meeting.

6. The Society shall not make or distribute any dividend, division, or bonus in money, unto or between its Fellows.

CHAPTER II.

PUBLICATIONS AND COLLECTIONS.

1. THE Society shall, from time to time, under the superintendence of the Council, publish Transactions, and accompany them with Maps and other Illustrations, as occasion may require.

2. Each Fellow is entitled to a copy of the Society's monthly publication, which will be forwarded, free of expense, to all Fellows whose addresses are known.

3. The monthly publication shall include a Report of the Proceedings of meetings, papers read or abstracts thereof, donations made to the Society, and such additional matter as may seem appropriate.

4. The Society shall maintain a Library and a collection of Maps, Charts, Photographs and Instruments connected with Geographical Science to which Fellows and Strangers by free orders shall have access, under such restrictions as may appear advisable to the Council.

CHAPTER III.

ELECTION AND ADMISSION OF FELLOWS.

1. EVERY Candidate for admission into the Society as a Fellow must be proposed and seconded agreeably to the Form No. 1 in the Appendix II.; and such proposal must be subscribed by one Fellow at least, who must certify his personal knowledge of the Candidate.

2. The Form, thus filled up, shall be delivered to the Secretary, and shall be read out at the next Ordinary Meeting of Fellows; after which it shall be suspended in a conspicuous place in the Society's House till the next Meeting.

3. The Election of Fellows is entrusted to the Council; and the names of those so elected shall be regularly announced at each Ordinary Meeting.

4. The Secretary shall send to every newly elected Fellow notice of his election within three days; together with a copy of the Bye-Laws of the Society, corrected to the date of issue, a List of the Fellows, and a Card announcing the days on which the Ordinary Meetings will be held during the current Session. But no election of a Fellow shall be complete, neither shall his name be printed in any List of the Fellows, nor shall he be entitled to exercise any of the privileges of a Fellow, until he shall have paid his entrance-fee and annual subscription; compounded for the same, as hereafter to be explained; or been exempted therefrom under paragraph 6 of this Chapter; and unless these payments be made within three calendar months from the date of election, such election shall be void; but this period may be extended by the Council in special cases.

5. Honorary and Honorary Corresponding Members shall be selected by the Council, and shall enjoy such privileges as the Council may from time to time determine.

6. The Council are empowered to remit the entrance fees and subscriptions in a limited number of cases, where it may be found desirable to elect gentlemen to the Fellowship who are distinguished for their services to Geographical Science.

CHAPTER IV.

WITHDRAWAL AND REMOVAL OF FELLOWS.

1. ANY Fellow may withdraw from the Society by signifying his wish to do so, by letter addressed to the Secretary, at the House of the Society; he shall nevertheless continue to be liable for his annual subscription for the year in which he signifies his wish to withdraw; and he shall further continue liable for such annual subscription until he shall have discharged all sums due by him to the Society, and shall have returned all books or other property borrowed by him of the Society; or shall have made full compensation of the same, if lost, or not forthcoming.

2. ANY Fellow may be removed from the Society, by the Vote, taken by ballot, of a Special General Meeting of the Fellows.

CHAPTER V.

PAYMENTS TO THE SOCIETY.

1. EVERY Fellow shall, on election, be required to pay £5 as entrance fee, and £2 as annual subscription for the current year, and thereafter a yearly subscription of £2, due on the 1st January of each year; or he may compound either at entrance by one payment of £35, or at any subsequent period on the following scale, provided that there shall be at the time no arrears due by him to the Society:—

Fellows of 10 years' standing and under 15	£20
„ 20 „ „ „ and over	£12 10s.

No Fellow shall be entitled to vote or to enjoy any privilege of the Society while in arrear. Honorary and Honorary Corresponding

Members and Fellows elected under Chapter II., paragraph 6, are not required to make any payments.

2. The first Annual payment of Fellows elected in November and December shall nevertheless be considered to extend to the 31st December of the following year.

3. So soon in every year as the Auditors shall have completed their financial investigation, the name of every Fellow in arrear to the Society, together with a statement of the amount in arrear, shall be reported to the Council; and notice of the same, with an account of such arrear, shall be forwarded to every Fellow whose name shall have been so reported; and if the arrear be not paid within one calendar month from the date of such notice, or within such further time as the Council may grant upon special cause to them shown, the Council shall direct that the name of the Fellow so reported, together with a statement of the arrear, shall be suspended in the House of the Society; and if the arrear shall not have been discharged before the second Ordinary Meeting after such suspension, the Council shall be empowered to remove his name from the Society's List; and the name of any one so suspended shall not be taken down until the arrear shall have been paid, or the Fellow shall have been removed from the Society.

CHAPTER VI.

MEETINGS OF THE SOCIETY.

Sect. 1.—Anniversary Meetings.

1. THE Anniversary General Meeting of the Fellows shall be held on the fourth Monday in May, or as near that date as may be found convenient.

2. Notice of this Meeting shall be sent to every Fellow residing in the United Kingdom, whose address is known; and shall be inserted in two or more newspapers, one week at least before the day of Meeting.

3. The following shall be the Agenda for the Anniversary General Meeting:

- (1) The Presentation of the Gold Medals and other awards of the Society.
- (2) The Presidential Address.
- (3) An interval for the withdrawal of visitors, prior to which no discussion shall be allowed.
- (4) The presentation of the Annual Report of the Council.
- (5) The election of the Council and Officers for the ensuing year.

No other business shall be transacted.

No resolution shall be passed at the Anniversary General Meeting. But in the event of any Fellow being desirous of bringing forward a Motion on any point in the Report of the Council, such Motion shall be handed in, read and referred to a Special General Meeting; provided that such Motion is supported by not less than forty Fellows present.

4. In order to give effect to the provisions in Chap. I., paragraph 4, which require certain annual changes, as before specified, in the Council, a sufficient number of printed balloting lists, according to the form in the Appendix, shall be prepared previous to the Meeting; one column of which shall contain a list of the existing Council, a second the names of Fellows changing office or retiring, a third the list proposed for election by the Council, and a fourth left vacant to receive names which any Fellow may wish to substitute for those proposed for election by the Council. One of the balloting lists shall be available for every Fellow present at the Meeting.

5. The chair shall be taken at the time named in the notice, or as soon after as twenty-five Fellows shall be present; whereupon the Chairman shall appoint two or more Scrutineers from among the Fellows present, to superintend the ballot during its progress, and, when it is closed, to examine the lists, and report the result to the Meeting.

6. Each Fellow voting shall deliver his balloting list, folded up, to one of the Scrutineers, who shall immediately put it into the balloting-box.

7. The Scrutineers shall report the number of votes for each person to the Chairman, who shall declare the persons on whom the election has fallen.

8. If the name of any Candidate is found to be simply erased in the majority of the balloting papers, without any name being substituted, as provided in paragraph 4 of this section, such Candidate shall not be elected. The vacancy thus created may either be left open till the next Annual Meeting, or be filled up at an adjourned General Meeting of the Fellows, as the Chairman may think best.

Sect. 2.—Special General Meetings.

1. The Council may at any time call a Special General Meeting of the Society, whenever it shall be considered necessary.

2. Any six Fellows may propose to the Council, by letter addressed to the Secretary, any new Bye-Law, or the alteration or repeal of any existing Bye-Law, or any resolution respecting the affairs of the Society, and if dissatisfied with the answer of the Council, may, if supported by the written requisition of not less than forty Fellows, require that the proposition be referred to a Special General Meeting, which the Council shall convene during the Session for that purpose within sixty days after receiving such requisition; the days in the months of August, September, and October not being included in the reckoning.

3. Thirty days' notice at least of the time when, and the object for which, every Special Meeting is to be holden, shall be sent to every Fellow residing in the United Kingdom. And no other business than that of which notice has been thus given shall be entered upon or discussed at such meeting.

4. Not fewer than one hundred Fellows must be present to pass any resolution at a Special General Meeting; and no such resolution shall be carried unless supported by two-thirds of the Fellows voting.

Sect. 3.—Ordinary Meetings of the Society.

1. The Ordinary Meetings shall be held on the evenings of the second and fourth Monday of every month during the Session; or otherwise as judged expedient by the Council.

2. Fellows will be admitted to the Meetings, on showing their "Fellow's Ticket," which will be sent to all whose Subscriptions are not in arrear, at the commencement of each Session.

3. One Visitor may be introduced personally by each Fellow present, or by a Fellow's Ticket transferred for the occasion. Visitors may also be admitted by invitation of the Council.

4. At the Ordinary Meetings, the order of proceeding shall be as follows:—

A. The Minutes of the last Meeting shall be read, and, if their accuracy be not questioned, signed by the President or Chairman.

B. Result of Ballot of Candidates and names of Proposed Candidates shall be announced.

C. Papers and communications shall then be read and discussed.

5. At the Ordinary Meetings of the Society nothing relating to its regulations or management shall be brought forward. But the Minute-Book of the Council shall be on the table at each Meeting; and extracts therefrom may be read to the Meeting on the requisition of any Fellow.

6. On occasions which the President shall decide to be of exceptional interest, and which shall be duly advertised in the Daily Newspapers, ordinary Tickets will not be available; but written or personal applications from Fellows will be received at the Office of the Society for Orders of Admission for themselves (single tickets), or for themselves and one friend (double tickets), up to a date to be notified by Circular: and on that date such seats as may remain after seating all Fellows who have applied shall be allotted to the guests of Fellows in the order of application.

7. On such occasions as described in Rule 6, Eighty Seats shall be reserved for Members of Council and their friends; and Fifty Reserved Seats for Visitors of distinction shall be at the disposal of the President.

CHAPTER VII.

COUNCIL AND OFFICERS OF THE SOCIETY.

Sect. 1.—Council.

1. THE government of the Society, and the management of all its concerns, are entrusted to the Council, subject to the provisions of the Charter and the Bye-Laws of the Society.

2. The President, any one of the Vice-Presidents, or any three other Members of the Council, may at any time call a Meeting of the Council: and when such Meeting is to be held, every Member of the Council residing in the United Kingdom shall be summoned by letter.

3. In all Meetings of the Council, five shall be a quorum; and all questions shall be decided by vote, unless a ballot be demanded. Any determination of the Council, whether by vote or ballot, shall, at the desire of any two Fellows present, be deferred to the succeeding Meeting; but no question shall be more than once so deferred.

4. Minutes of the Proceedings of every Meeting of the Council shall be taken in a rough book by one of the Secretaries, or, in case of their absence, by some Member of Council whom the President or Chairman shall appoint for the occasion. The Minutes shall be printed and transferred to a Minute-Book to be kept for that purpose, and read at the next Meeting of the Council, and signed by the President or Chairman.

5. The Accounts of the Society shall be examined by the Council from time to time; and at the Anniversary General Meeting the Council shall present a complete statement thereof, together with a Report on the general affairs of the Society during the preceding year.

6. The Council may refer particular subjects to Committees, to be named by the President or Chairman; and such Committees shall report to the Council the result of their proceedings.

7. There shall also be permanent working Committees of Council nominated by the President, the number, designation, and purposes of which shall be arranged by the Council as, from time to time, may seem necessary.

8. The Council may appoint persons, not being Members of the Council, to be salaried Officers, Clerks, or Servants, for carrying on the necessary concerns of the Society; and may define the duties to be performed by them respectively; and may allow to them respectively such salaries, gratuities, and privileges, as to them, the Council, may seem proper; and may suspend or discharge any Officer, Clerk, or Servant from office, whenever there shall seem to them occasion for so doing.

Sect. 2.—President.

1. The President when present is Chairman of the Council, of all Committees, and of all Meetings of the Fellows whether Ordinary or Special.

2. He shall execute, and cause to be executed, the Bye-Laws of the Society; shall see that all the Officers of the Society perform the duties assigned to them; shall call for Reports and Accounts from Committees and persons; shall cause of his own authority Special Meetings of the Council and of Committees to be summoned; and shall propose, from time to time, to the Council such measures as shall appear to him conducive to the welfare of the Society.

3. As Chairman of the Council he shall appoint Referees to examine and report on original Papers communicated to the Society, previous to their publication.

4. It is his duty, conjointly with the Council, to consider and resolve on the names of Fellows who are to go out of the Council, and of those to be recommended to the Anniversary Meeting to fill up the vacancies.

5. When prevented from being present at the meetings of the Fellows or Council, or from otherwise attending to the current business of the Society, he will be expected to give timely notice thereof to one of the Vice-Presidents, or, in their absence, to some other Member of the Council, who may exercise his authority until the next meeting of the Council.

6. In all Meetings of the Society and Council, except in the cases otherwise provided for, the decision of a majority of the Fellows voting shall be considered as the decision of the Meeting, the President or Chairman having only a casting vote.

Sect. 3.—Vice-Presidents.

1. One of the Vice-Presidents to be nominated by the Council shall exercise the authority of the President when absent.

2. The Vice-Presidents, by virtue of their office, shall be Members of all the permanent Working Committees of the Council.

Sect. 4.—Treasurer.

1. The Treasurer is ex-officio one of the Trustees of the Society; and the Funds of the Society shall be vested in his name, and in those of the two other Trustees.

2. The Treasurer has special charge of all Accounts; and shall see to the collecting of all sums of money due to the Society.

3. He shall, of his own authority, appoint a Collector, for whom he shall be responsible, and who shall receive a reasonable remuneration; and the money collected shall immediately be paid to the Bankers of the Society.

4. The Treasurer, in concert with the Secretary, shall keep a complete List of the Fellows of the Society, with the name and address of each accurately set forth; which List, with the other Books of Account, shall be laid on the table at every Ordinary Meeting of the Council.

5. The Accounts of the Treasurer shall be annually audited at the discretion of the Council either by a Chartered Accountant or by four Fellows, two selected from the general body of the Fellows, and two from the Council, proposed by the President or Chairman, and approved by the first Ordinary Meeting held in the month of February. No drafts on the Society's Bankers shall be paid unless signed by two of the Council and the Secretary.

Sect. 5.—Honorary Secretaries.

Of the three Members of the Council who are elected as Honorary Secretaries by the Society, two shall be General Secretaries and one the Foreign Secretary. The Honorary Secretaries shall assist the President in the performance of his duties, and shall exercise such other powers as the Council shall delegate to them from time to time. The Honorary Secretaries, by virtue of their office, shall be Members of all the permanent Working Committees of the Council.

Sect. 6.—Secretary.

The Secretary shall be a salaried officer, appointed by and responsible to the Council, and shall be the Editor of the Society's publications. His further duties shall be such as are from time to time determined by the Council.

III.

THE HOUSE.

FROM 1830 to 1840 the Society met in the rooms of the Horticultural Society in Regent Street, by arrangement with Dr. Robert Brown, the great botanist and one of the founders of our Society.

From 1840 to 1854 the Society's rooms were at 3, Waterloo Place, and meetings were latterly held at King's College.

From 1854 to 1870 the Society had a lease of 15, Whitehall Place, and the meetings were held in our library, which had been built for a ball-room. The theatre of the United Service Institution was lent to us for large meetings. From 1858 to 1870 the meetings were in the Royal Society's Hall, in the wing of Burlington House, since pulled down.

In 1870 the freehold of 1, Savile Row was purchased for £14,257. The alterations cost £3,798, removal £1,074, dilapidations at 15, Whitehall Place, £334—total, £19,733. Our funded capital was then £19,250. A sum of £18,250 was sold out. Since 1870 our meetings have been held in the hall of the University of London, but on exceptional occasions, such as the return of Mr. Stanley and Dr. Nansen, the Albert Hall, or some other large hall, has been hired.

In 1894 there was an expenditure of £1,478 to improve the accommodation at 1, Savile Row, and on December 12th of that year the President gave a reception to the Fellows and their families to afford them an opportunity of becoming acquainted with their improved premises. Further improvements were carried out in 1897.

In the entrance hall there are marble busts of Sir Roderick Murchison and Mr. Greenough in niches, and between them there is a board with the names of our Medallists in gold letters. Above the board there is a medallion of Sir John Franklin. Busts of Livingstone and Joseph Thomson, the latter in marble, are placed on either side of the map-room door. A table with a glass case, and another glass case against the wall—in the hall—contain some relics belonging to the Society, as will be seen in the following list. On the left-hand side of the hall is the office, and opening out of the hall behind is the Map-room. On the first floor on the left is the Council Room, used by Fellows as a reading-room when the Council is not sitting; on the right is the central room of the Library, behind which is the Gallery in which the bulk of the books are arranged. On the second floor is the Secretary's room, and opposite is the Upper Library and Librarian's room, with two other rooms, both filled with books. On the third floor the Map Drawing Rooms and the Map Mounting Rooms are on the left, and on the right is a room, also well filled with books, intended as a Smoking Room, but at present used as an Instruction Room, while in

THE JOURNAL.

ACCORDING to the Bye-Laws of the Society, Chapter II., Section I., "The Society shall from time to time, under the superintendence of the Council, publish Transactions, and accompany them with Maps and Illustrations, as occasion may require."

The Society has carried out this bye-law from the beginning. The first volume of the "Journal of the Royal Geographical Society of London" was issued in 1832; it contained 284 pages, and included the papers read at the Meetings from November, 1830, to June, 1831, the last paper being an account of the discovery of the lower course of the Niger by Richard and John Lauder. There were in all thirteen such papers. But from the first it was recognised as part of the duty of the Society to publish not only the papers read at its meetings, but also to take cognisance of matters of geographical interest in general. Under the head of "Analyses," the volume contains ten reviews, and under that of "Miscellaneous" a series of eight notices on various geographical topics. It also contains a report of the proceedings at the opening meeting of the Society on July 16th, 1830, with Sir John Barrow in the chair; and it is of interest to note the wide conception even then entertained as to the Society's functions. Sir John Barrow in his address pointed out that among the most important matters that would engage the attention of the Society would be "the composition of maps illustrative of particular branches of geographical knowledge, more especially those relating to orology, hydrology, and geology;" the establishment of more scientific divisions of the earth's surface; "a more uniform and systematic orthography than has hitherto been observed....and a more precise and copious vocabulary; the preparation and improvement of road-books for different countries, of gazetteers, of geographical and statistical tables, and of such matters as are of general utility."

The Society, it will be admitted, has through its publications done a vast amount of good work since its foundation, but much yet remains to be done before the objects referred to in the above regulations are fulfilled. The second volume of the Journal contained 350 pages, and the tenth volume nearly double that number. Lists of the additions to the library were given and of other publications, giving in a less systematic way, and in a more elementary form, the bibliographies which now form so important a feature of The Geographical Journal. It must be said, however, that in succeeding years the size of the Journal varied between 400 and 700 pages, and although always copiously supplied with maps, the illustrations were not so lavish as in the earlier volumes. The Journal continued to be published to the year 1880, making fifty volumes in all, containing a record of all the most important geographical work that had been accomplished during that period.

The practical utility of the Journal was greatly facilitated by the publication of a series of decennial indexes. The first of these, dealing with the first ten volumes, was published in 1834, and was compiled by Col. J. R. Jackson, the Hon. Secretary. It covered 216 pages in double columns. The General Index to the second ten volumes was compiled by Mr. George Smith Brent and edited by Dr. Norton Shaw; it contains only about half the number of pages of the previous and the succeeding volumes. The task of compiling the General Index to the third ten volumes of the Journal was generously undertaken by the late Sir Henry Yule. The fourth and fifth decennial indexes were done in part by the late Mr. Jones, Chief Clerk, and partly under the superintendence of the late Mr. Bates.

PROCEEDINGS.

In 1855 the work of the Society had so increased, and there was so much in its proceedings of present interest, that it was decided to issue an additional publication, to be entitled Proceedings. This was issued at frequent intervals during the year, and contained reports of the proceedings at the Meetings, abstracts of papers read, short notices on matters of interest, correspondence, the Annual Presidential Addresses, and other items not quite suitable for the annual Journal, which was reserved for full reports of the longer and more important papers. The first volume, for Sessions 1855-6 and 1856-7, was published in 1857, and contained 540 pages. The succeeding volumes, including only one Session, contain from 300 to 650 pages, increasing in size as the work of the Society and geographical activity grew. These Proceedings extended to twenty-two volumes in all, the last volume, including Session 1877-78, having been published in 1878, and covering the same period as the last twenty-five volumes of the Journal. A general index to the old Proceedings is now in course of preparation.

HISTORY OF THE SOCIETY.

In 1881, when the Society had completed its fiftieth year, the Council published in the last volume of the old Journal, and also as a separate volume, "The Fifty Years' Work of the Royal Geographical Society," by Mr. Clements R. Markham, C.B., F.R.S., Secretary.

PROCEEDINGS, NEW SERIES.

With the publication of the 50th volume of the Journal and the 22nd of the old Proceedings, the Council decided to combine the two into one monthly publication, to be entitled "The Proceedings of the Royal Geographical Society (new series) and Monthly Record of Geography." For some years previous to this, under the editorship of Mr. (now Sir) Clements Markham, a monthly Geographical Magazine had been published independent of the Society. The new series of Proceedings covered the ground both of the old Proceedings and Journal and of the Geographical Magazine, so that the last ceased to be published. The new Proceedings, indeed, aimed at being a Monthly Geographical Magazine, containing not only the proceedings and papers of the Society, but also by articles and notes, lists and notices of all new books and maps, original maps and illustrations, covering the whole field of geography. The first part was issued in January 1879. The parts averaged from sixty-four to eighty pages each, and the volumes averaged about 800 pages. The periodical publication of the Society continued to be published in this form to 1892, when fourteen volumes of the new Proceedings were completed. To these fourteen volumes a General Index was published in 1896, containing 270 pages, double columns.

THE GEOGRAPHICAL JOURNAL.

In the year 1892 the Council were convinced that the time was ripe for a new departure in the periodical publications of the Society. The title "Proceedings," it was felt, was somewhat misleading as indicating the nature of the contents of the Monthly Journal issued by the Society. After careful consideration it was decided to change the title to that of The Geographical Journal, to increase its size, to cover still more completely the whole field of geography, to greatly increase the number of illustrations, and to introduce maps wherever it was possible to illustrate any point in this manner. The first number of the new Journal was published in January, 1893, and up to date ten volumes have been issued. Owing to the increased size of the monthly parts, these volumes are half-yearly, each averaging from 700 to 750 pages, or over 1400 pages annually, as compared with the 800 pages of the monthly Proceedings, of which the new Journal is the successor. Each volume contains from twenty to twenty-five large maps, besides smaller ones, and from fifty to a hundred illustrations. The Journal contains the papers read at the Society's meetings, reports of the proceedings, articles—varying in length—on exploring expeditions, and on matters of interest in all departments of geography, as well as on matters of public interest on which geography can throw light. Under the head of "Monthly Record" many pages each month are devoted to notes and news, classified under different heads. One of the most valuable features is the exhaustive bibliography of new books and papers and articles in the publications of societies and in periodicals relating to the various departments of geography, and also the list of new maps issued each month. Notes are appended in many cases to the titles of books and maps, while the more important publications are dealt with at greater length. The new Journal circulates to a considerable extent beyond the limit of the Society's Fellows.

SPECIAL PUBLICATIONS.

In the announcement prefixed to the last volume of the old Journal it was stated that papers of more than ordinary length and great value would be issued as supplements to the Proceedings. As a matter of fact supplementary volumes were occasionally issued from the beginning. Thus in 1836 were issued Howse's "Grammar of the Cree Language" and Graah's "Narrative of an Expedition to the East Coast of Greenland," translated from the Danish by G. Gordon M'Dougall. In 1873 Burton's "The Land of Cazembe" was issued by the Society, and in 1875 the volume of "Arctic Papers" for the use of the Nares Arctic Expedition. The "Hints to Travellers" is referred to specially below.

As "Supplementary Papers" to the new series of "Proceedings" thirty-two separate publications, memoirs and records of travel were issued between 1882 and 1893. These are collected into four large volumes. Some of the memoirs contained in these volumes are of great value; such as the late Colborne Baber's "Travels and Researches in Western China" (200 pages); "Progress of Discovery on the Coasts of New Guinea," by Sir Clements Markham; "Bibliographies of the Barbary States," by Sir Lambert Playfair; "On the Measurement of Heights by Barometer," by the late John Ball; "Journey of Carey and Dalgleish in Chinese Turkestan;" "Modern and Ancient Roads in Eastern Asia Minor," by D. G. Hogarth and J. A. R. Munro; "The Historical Geography of Asia Minor," by Professor W. M. Ramsay, which occupies the whole of Volume IV. Mr. Keltie's "Report on Geographical Education," which appeared originally as a supplementary paper, was also issued as a separate volume.

The issue of Extra Volumes has been continued along with the new Geographical Journal; they are in a different and more attractive form than the former Supplementary Papers. The following volumes have been issued:—

"The Pamirs and the Source of the Oxus," by the Right Hon. George N. Curzon, M.P. "Map of Persia, with a Memorandum and Index," by the Right Hon. George N. Curzon, M.P. "The Topography of the Battlefield of Platea," by G. B. Grundy, B.A. "Notes on the Kuril Islands," by Captain H. J. Snow. "Eastern Persian Irak," by General A. Houtum-Schindler. "A Journey on the Upper Mekong, Siam," by H. Warington Smyth. "British New Guinea: Country and People," by Sir William Macgregor, K.C.M.G., C.B.

A large volume containing the account of Sarat Chandra Das's visit to Lhasa is in course of preparation. The special maps which have been published are referred to elsewhere.

"HINTS TO TRAVELLERS."

In consequence of the frequent applications made to the Council of the Royal Geographical Society by travellers about to set out for imperfectly-known countries, for instructions by which they might make their labours useful to geography, Colonel Jackson, the Secretary from 1840 to 1847, prepared a pamphlet entitled "What to Observe; or, the Traveller's Remembrancer," which went through four editions. In 1854 the Council requested the late Admiral Fitzroy and Lieut. Raper, R.N., to consider what instrumental outfit might best be recommended to explorers. Their report, together with suggestions submitted to them by Admirals Smyth and Beechey, Col. Sykes, and Mr. Francis Galton, was published first in the Journal for 1854, and afterwards issued in pamphlet form under the title of "Hints to Travellers."

The exhaustion of the first edition led, in 1864, to the revision and enlargement of the original work by a Committee of the Council, consisting of Sir George Back, Admiral Collinson, and Mr. Francis Galton, which was published as the second edition. In 1871 a third edition, under the same editorship, was published, and this was followed in 1878 by the fourth, under the sole editorship of Mr. Francis Galton, and in a new form convenient for pocket use.

In 1883 the Council, anxious to increase the usefulness of the volume, and to make it meet the higher requirements of a new generation of young travellers, many of whom had received scientific training from the Society's instructor, appointed an Editorial Subcommittee, consisting of Col. H. H. Godwin Austen, Mr. J. K. Laughton, and Mr. Douglas W. Freshfield, to remodel the "Hints."

The "Hints on Practical Astronomy and Surveying"—the principal portion of the work—were placed in the hands of Mr. Coles, the Society's Map Curator, and Instructor in Practical Astronomy and Surveying. The "Hints on Collections in Natural History" were expanded by Mr. H. W. Bates, and "Hints on How and What to Observe in other Sciences—Geology and Anthropology," were added by Mr. W. T. Blanford and Mr. E. B. Tylor. The section on "Photography" was re-written by Mr. W. F. Donkin, "Meteorology" by Mr. R. Strachan, "Medical Hints" by Mr. G. E. Dobson, and "General Hints on Outfit" by Messrs. E. Whymper, Col. J. A. Grant, C.B., and Mr. J. Thomson.

The fifth edition was exhausted in 1889, and the production of the sixth was commenced under the editorship of Capt. (now Adm. Sir) W. J. L. Wharton, R.N., the Hydrographer to the Admiralty, and Mr. Douglas Freshfield. No material alterations were made in the character of the book, but it received such corrections and additions as were considered necessary to increase its usefulness. All the sections were carefully revised. The "Hints on Meteorology" were re-written by Mr. H. F. Blanford, those on "Photography" were brought up to date by Capt. Abney, "New Hints on Commercial Geography" were furnished by Mr. J. S. Keltie, and an index was added.

In 1893 all the sixth edition had been sold, and the seventh edition was brought out under the same editorship as the sixth. Preliminary Hints were added by Mr. D. W. Freshfield, the Astronomical and Surveying section was revised and considerably expanded by Mr. Coles, the "Medical Hints" were re-written by Surgeon-Major T. H. Parke, "Hints on Photography" were revised and brought up to date by Mr. J. Thomson, the "Natural History" notes were revised by Mr. P. L. Sclater, a section on "Industry and Commerce" was contributed by Mr. J. S. Keltie, and other important additions and corrections were made.

The fact that 2000 copies of the seventh edition of "Hints to Travellers" have been sold to Fellows, officers, travellers, and explorers is sufficient evidence of the estimation in which it is held by the class for whose use it was prepared.

V.

ORTHOGRAPHY OF GEOGRAPHICAL NAMES.

THE following Memorandum, with Rules on the Orthography of Geographical Names, was drawn up in 1891 and revised in 1893 and 1894:—

In 1878 the Council of the R.G.S., impressed with the necessity of endeavouring to reduce the confusion existing in British maps with regard to the spelling of geographical names, in consequence of the variety of systems of orthography used by travellers and others to represent the sound of native place-names in different parts of the world, formally adopting the general principle which had been long used by many, and the recognition of which had been steadily gaining ground, viz., that in writing geographical native names vowels should have their Italian significance and consonants that which they have in the English language.

This broad principle required elucidation in its details, and a system based upon it was consequently drawn up with the intention of representing the principal syllabic sounds.

It will be evident to all who consider the subject, that to ensure a fairly correct pronunciation of geographical names by an English-speaking person an arbitrary system of orthography is a necessity. It is hardly too much to say that in the English language every possible combination of letters has more than one possible pronunciation. A strange word or name, even in our own language, is frequently mispronounced. How much more with words of languages utterly unknown to the reader.

The same necessity does not arise in most continental languages. In them a definite combination of letters indicates a definite sound, and each nation consequently has spelt foreign words in accordance with the orthographic rules of its own language.

It was therefore not anticipated that foreign nations would effect any change in the form of orthography used in their maps, and the needs of the English-speaking communities were alone considered.

The object aimed at was to provide a system which should be simple enough for any educated person to master with the minimum of trouble, and which at the same time would afford an approximation to the sound of a place name such as a native might recognise. No attempt was made to represent the numberless delicate inflexions of sound and tone which belong to every language, often to different dialects of the same language. For it was felt not only that such a task would be impossible, but that an attempt to provide for such niceties would defeat the object.

The adoption by others of the system thus settled has been more general than the Council ventured to hope.

The charts and maps issued by the Admiralty and War Office have been, since 1885, compiled and extensively revised in accordance with it. The Foreign and Colonial Offices have accepted it, and the latter has communicated with the Colonies requesting them to carry it out in respect to names of native origin.

Even more important, however, than these adhesions is the recent action of the Government of the United States of America, which, after an exhaustive inquiry, has adopted a system in close conformity with that of the R.G.S., and has directed that the spelling of all names in their vast territories should, in cases where the orthography is at present doubtful, be settled authoritatively by a Committee appointed for the purpose.

The two great English-speaking nations are thus working in harmony.

Contrary to expectation, but highly satisfactory, is the news that France and Germany have both formulated systems of orthography for foreign words, which in many details agree with the English system.

The Council of the R.G.S., by printing the Rules in Hints to Travellers, and by other means, have endeavoured to ensure that all travellers connected with the Society should be made aware of them; but as it is possible that some bodies and persons interested in the question may still be in ignorance of their existence and general acceptance, they feel that the time has come to again publish them as widely as possible, and to take every means in their power to aid the progress of the reform.

To this end, and with a view to still closer uniformity in geographical nomenclature in revisions of editions of published maps, a gigantic task requiring many years to carry out, the Council have decided to take steps to commence tentatively indexes of a few regions, in which the place-names will be recorded in the accepted form.

RULES.

The Rules referred to are as follows:—

1. No change is made in the orthography of foreign names in countries which use Roman letters: thus Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, &c., names will be spelt as by the respective nations.
2. Neither is change made in the spelling of such names in languages which are not written in Roman character as have become by long usage familiar to English readers: thus Calcutta, Cutch, Celebes, Mecca, &c., will be retained in their present form.

3. The true sound of the word as locally pronounced will be taken as the basis of the spelling.

4. An approximation, however, to the sound is alone aimed at. A system which would attempt to represent the more delicate inflexions of sound and accent would be so complicated as only to defeat itself. Those who desire a more accurate pronunciation of the written name must learn it on the spot by a study of local accent and peculiarities.

5. The broad features of the system are :—

- (a) That vowels are pronounced as in Italian and consonants as in English.
- (b) Every letter is pronounced, and no redundant letters are introduced. When two vowels come together, each one is sounded, though the result, when spoken quickly, is sometimes scarcely to be distinguished from a single sound, as in ai, au, ei.
- (c) One accent only is used, the acute, to denote the syllable on which stress is laid. This is very important, as the sounds of many names are entirely altered by the misplacement of this "stress."

6. Indian names are accepted as spelt in Hunter's Gazetteer of India, 1881.

7. In the case of native names in countries under the dominion of other European Powers in whose maps, charts, &c., the spelling is given according to the system adopted by that Power, such orthography should be as a rule disregarded, and the name spelt according to the British system, in order that the proper pronunciation may be approximately known. Exceptions should be in cases where the spelling has become by custom fixed, and occasionally it may be desirable to give both forms.

8. Generic geographical terms, e.g., those for Island, River, Mountain, &c., should be as a rule given in the native form. In the case of European countries, translation into English, where this has been the custom, should be retained, e.g., Cape Ortegal, not Cabo Ortegal, River Seine, not Fleuve Seine.

N.B.—On any printed map or MS. document, an explanatory table, giving the English equivalents of the generic terms used, should of necessity be inserted.

The following amplification of these rules explains their application :—

Letters	Pronunciation and Remarks.	Examples.
u	ah , a as in father	Java, Banána, Somáli,
o	eh , a as in fate	Bari.
i	English e ; i as in rarine ; the sound of ee in beet . Thus, not Feejee , but	Tel-el-Kebír, Oléleh, Yezo,
o	o as in mote	Medina, Levuka, Peru.
u	long u as in flute ; the sound of oo in boot . oo or ou should never be employed for this sound. Thus, not Zooloo , but	Fiji, Hindi.
	All vowels are shortened in sound by doubling the following consonant	Tokyo.
	Doubling of a vowel is only necessary where there is a distinct repetition of the single sound.	Zulu, Sumatra.
ai	as in aisle , or English i as in ice	Yarra, Tanna, Mecca, au	ow as in how Thus, not Foochow , but	Jidda, Bonny.*
no	is slightly different from above	Nuulúa, Oosima.
aw	when followed by a consonant or at the end of a word, as in law
b	English b .	Beirút, Beilúl.
c	is always soft, but is so nearly the sound of s that it should be seldom used. If Celebes were not already recognised it would be written Selebes .	Celébes.
ch	is always soft as in church
d	English d .	Chingchin.
f	English f . ph should not be used for the sound of f . Thus, not: Haiphong , but
g	is always hard. (Soft g is given by j)	Haifong, Nafa.
h	is always pronounced when inserted.	Galápagos.
hw	as in what ; better rendered by hw than by wh , or h followed by a vowel; thus Hwang ho , not Whang ho , or Hoang ho .	Hwang ho, Ngan hwi.
j	English j . Dj should never be put for this sound .
k	English k . It should always be put for the hard c . Thus, not Corea , but	Japan, Jinchuen.
kh	The Oriental guttural	Korea.
gh	is another guttural, as in the Turkish	Khan.
m	As in English.
n
ng	has two separate sounds, the one hard as in the English word finger , the other as in singer . As these two sounds are rarely employed in the same locality, no attempt is made to distinguish between them.
p	As in English.
ph	As in loophole	Chemulpho, Mokpho.
th	stands both for its sound in thing , and as in this . The former is most common.	Bethlehem.

* The y is retained as a terminal in this word under Rule 2 above. The word is given as a familiar example of the alteration in sound caused by the second consonant.

Letters.	Pronunciation and Remarks.	Examples.
q	should never be employed; qu (in quiver) is given as kw . When qu has the sound of k as in quoit , it should be given by k .	Kwangtung.
r	As in English.	Sawákin.
t
w
x	is always a consonant, as in yarJ , and therefore should never be used as a terminal, i or e being substituted as the sound may require. Thus, not Mikindány, wady , but not Kwaly , but	Kikúyu.
z	English z	Zulu.
zh	The French j , or as s in treasure	Muzhdaba.
	Accents should not generally be used, but where there is a very decided emphatic syllable or stress, which affects the sound of the word, it should be marked by an acute accent.	Tongatábu, Galápagos, Peláwan, Saráwak.

LIBRARY.

HISTORICAL.

THE Library was founded by the gift of books by the original members of the Society, 400 volumes forming the nucleus in 1832; but the growth of the collection was slow and intermittent until the acquisition of rooms in Waterloo Place, in 1841, when an opportunity was for the first time given of properly arranging the books. The wish was then expressed by the Council "that no work relating to Geography, no map or chart extant, should be wanting to the Library." In 1850 the number of volumes was about 4000, and two years later the exchange of publications with other societies was inaugurated, and a special grant was set apart by the Council annually for the purchase of books. Many volumes continued to be presented and bequeathed by Fellows interested in the welfare of the Library, and by 1872, when the books were arranged in the present premises at Savile Row, it had grown to be a collection of very great value. In 1880 the number of volumes was about 20,000; and the steady acquisitions since then have raised it to the rank of the finest geographical library in the world. In 1894 an extensive alteration of the Society's House permitted of a large expansion of the Library, and allowed the crowded shelves to be relieved and the works re-arranged; but the acquisition of fresh accessions goes on at an increasing rate, and before many years space must again be sought for.

PRESENT CONDITION.

A careful estimate of the contents of the Library at the end of December, 1897, gives the total number of volumes, in round numbers, as 31,000: composed of 15,300 volumes of bound books, 6,900 pamphlets or reprints in cardboard covers, and 8,800 volumes of serial publications. The acquisitions number about 750 volumes per annum. By exchange with fifty societies and periodicals in the United Kingdom about 95 volumes are received annually, and by exchange with 150 colonial and foreign societies and periodicals about 160 volumes are received: a total of 200 exchanges yielding 255 volumes per year. The other works are either presented by the authors or by Government Departments, placed in the Library after being noticed in the Geographical Journal, to which they are sent by the publishers, or purchased out of the special grant voted annually by the Council.

It was apparently the intention when the Library was founded to limit its contents to works of a purely geographical character, and at first books of travel preponderated. Later, works on ethnology, geology, history, and other allied subjects were added; but finally the exigencies of space have again demanded the restriction of accessions to strictly geographical works.

The nucleus of the Library consists of descriptions of travel and exploration in all parts of the world, some departments being much more satisfactorily represented than others. Perhaps the most comprehensive is the division dealing with Polar exploration, from which few of the chief works are wanting. The Collections of Travels are also fairly satisfactory, the early English collections of Eden (1577), Hakluyt (1589), and Purchas (1617) being well represented, besides the later collections of Astley, Burney, Callander, Churchill, Dalrymple, Harris, Kerr, Phillips, and Pinkerton. Foreign collections, such as those of Eyriès, Gottfried, Ramusio, and the French, German and Dutch compilations founded on Astley, are also well represented. The chief defect is the absence of a complete set of De Bry's unrivalled "Travels," the market value of which is about £500; but an incomplete set of six volumes in excellent preservation, with the beautiful copper-plates perfectly fresh and unstained, was procured in 1897 at the sale of the Ashburnham Library.

In works of general geography the Library is not so rich as it might be. Many of the early classics are wanting. The earliest "Geographia" of Ptolemy in the possession of the Society is the Latin folio edition published at Strasburg in 1525; but no attempt has been made to secure costly bibliographical curiosities for the Library at the expense of works of practical utility to geographers. The most recent general works in French and German are liberally represented on the shelves, and no English treatises of real importance—they are unfortunately very few—are absent. The curious sixteenth-century "Cosmographia" of Sebastian Munster is a mine of quaint geographical information and illustrations, representing the knowledge of the middle-ages not yet displaced by results of modern discovery. The "Cosmographia" of Apian and Gemma Frisius, on the other hand, is a fitting introduction to the fine works on mathematical geography of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, in which the Library is comparatively rich.

The history of discovery is represented by many valuable works, not only in such collections as the publications of the Hakluyt Society and the "Recueil de Voyages," but also by the original books. The later literature of the discovery of America is fairly complete, among the most remarkable works being the great "Raccolta di Documenti e Studi" of the Italian Commission, and the beautifully illustrated "Christobal Colon" by Asensio.

In physical geography there are still many gaps, and no effort has recently been made to include geological works, which, during the presidency of Sir Roderick Murchison, were acquired in considerable numbers. The Ethnology section also, with the subdivision on languages, has only been partially kept up to date, on account of the great development of these subjects and the existence of societies specially devoted to their study. The preservation of biographies of geographers is viewed as an important purpose of the Library. Hence, biographical dictionaries find a place on the shelves, and in default of more elaborate works, obituary notices, made up in pamphlet form, are preserved.

In a few instances collections of books presented or purchased have been kept apart from the main Library; for example, the unrivalled collection of works on Morocco, made by the late Dr. Robert Brown, and the interesting series of MSS. plans for a history of the Arctic regions made by the late Captain Parker Snow. It is to be hoped that the presentation of rare or inaccessible works by Fellows will continue. Many interesting papers are lost to the Society by being published in periodicals of a non-geographical character. Separate copies of these, presented by the authors, are always welcomed.

The Transactions and Periodicals are of three classes: (1) The official publications of Government Departments or international institutions of a geographical character, such as Sailing Directions, Census Reports, Records of Surveys, etc. (2) Geographical publications, either in the form of journals published weekly, monthly or quarterly, or the transactions of societies wholly or mainly devoted to geography. This department is practically complete for recent years. (3) Publications of a more general kind in which geographical papers are frequently published, including the transactions of Royal Societies and Academies, and high class journals such as the Quarterly Review and the Nineteenth Century. No periodical which does not frequently publish geographical papers is subscribed for.

It is necessary to refer to the languages represented in the Library. While English books predominate, works in French and German are treated on an exactly equal footing so far as selection is concerned. Books in other languages, such as Italian, Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, Swedish and Danish, are purchased only when they are of quite exceptional importance, and books in Russian, the other Slavonic languages, Hungarian, Finnish, Greek, Latin and Oriental languages are practically never bought, although a number have been presented. The result of a careful estimate shows that about 51 per cent. of the books in the Library are in English, 21 per cent. in French, 16 per cent. in German, and 12 per cent. in other languages. Of books dealing with geography as a science in general the greater number are in German.

ARRANGEMENT OF BOOKS.

At the extensive re-arrangement of the Library in 1894 an attempt was made to place the unique resources of the Society more readily at the service of Fellows than had been the case previously. The introduction of the electric light at that time added much to the convenience of reference, and enabled some dark corners to be utilised for storing books. Unfortunately the open fires used throughout the house continue as an element of danger to the Library and much aggravate the plague of dust. The damage done by the long-continued use of gas has recently necessitated the rebinding of several hundred volumes.

The books throughout are arranged according to subject. The main room of the Library is on the first floor, where the Assistant-Librarian is always in attendance. Two sides of the room are occupied by books of reference and the unbound numbers of the current volumes of periodicals kept in separate boxes. A revolving bookcase in one corner contains a set of the last edition of the best English and foreign guide-books; another small case contains a selection of handsomely illustrated books of large quarto size, which it is inconvenient to place on the ordinary shelves. The new books received by the Society, and a selection of the books just ready for borrowing, stand upon the table for inspection. Two cases on the south wall are occupied by Arctic books; and two cases by books relating to the British Islands. The west wall contains books dealing with the different countries of Europe, except Russia, those for each country by itself.

The gallery opening from this room contains the rest of the books capable of topographic arrangement, beginning at the north-west corner with Russia, and going on with Asia, Australia, Africa, North America, and South America. The south-eastern corner of the gallery contains sailing directions and other works under the charge of the Map-Curator, and the Librarian is not responsible for their arrangement, although for convenience they are entered in the Library Catalogue.

The landing on the first floor is fitted with glazed presses containing bound volumes of serials, and the shelves round the Council Room are also occupied by similar works. In the Council Room there are also some very large illustrated works, such as the elephant-folio account of the Temple of Borobodoer in Java, and the atlases of plates of the French circumnavigations of the last century.

The landings on the second floor and the Secretary's ante-room are fully taken up with serial publications, many of them in Russian and Dutch.

The Upper Library is devoted to general works on geography. It is furnished with tables for the convenience of Fellows engaged in geographical literary work, and the work on the Subject Catalogue is also carried on in it. Ancient and historical geography, works of general reference, like the "Encyclopædia Britannica," books on geology, meteorology, oceanography, ethnography, and biography are arranged here, each division by itself. A large section is also devoted to collections of travels, and Dr. Brown's collection of works on Morocco is placed in one of the bays.

The Librarian's Room contains a number of works of reference—bibliographies, catalogues, dictionaries, books on physical and economic geography, and school-books. Here also is the card subject catalogue of acquisitions since 1892, which is always kept up to date.

On the third floor some of the less frequently referred to sets of Transactions are placed in the Instruction Room.

Throughout the Library the bookcases are numbered consecutively, 1 to 102 on the first floor, 103 to 159 on the second floor, and 160 to 176 on the third. Each shelf is lettered alphabetically from above downward, the top shelf in each case being called A. Thus each shelf in the Library is denoted by a number and letter, from 1A to 176G. The total shelf space will accommodate rather less than 40,000 volumes of average size.

All the books are marked in pencil with the number of the shelf on which they are placed, and these press-marks are entered in a copy of the Catalogue, so that any book may be found readily. A "Desideratum Book" is provided, in which Fellows are invited to insert the title of any work they desire to see added to the Library.

WORKING OF THE LIBRARY.

Each book or pamphlet as it is received is entered in the Accession Book, and the title copied for publication in the Journal. The book is then laid on the table for three months, and afterwards placed on the shelf containing other works of a similar kind. The pamphlets are put in boards by the Society's map-mounter, and are thereafter treated exactly like books. Many of the foreign books are published in paper covers, and these have to be bound, a stout cloth binding being in almost all cases preferred to leather, experience having shown that cloth resists the London atmosphere much better than any leather binding. A number of old books formerly bound in calf or morocco have to be rebound in cloth each year. A special colour of cloth is used for binding books belonging to each section of the Library; but new books sent out in publishers' covers are not rebound until they fall to pieces.

The time of the Library staff is largely occupied by the routine of entering and cataloguing the new accessions, and in attending to Fellows who call in order to consult or to borrow books. Frequent demands are also made by Government Offices and by learned Societies for special information or references to geographical literature, all of which are attended to. The number of borrowers per week averaged seventeen in 1895, eighteen in 1896, and nearly twenty-two in 1897; but this gives little clue to the actual amount of work involved; a few minutes suffices in some cases, in others as much as an hour may be necessary in looking for books containing the information which is required.

The use of the Library for purposes of geographical work has greatly extended since a special room was set apart for that purpose. Occasionally one person may come daily for a month or more and consult many hundred volumes; and the room is rarely without at least one worker. As a matter of courtesy the members of foreign geographical societies visiting this country in order to consult the libraries are freely accorded the privileges of Fellows, so far as reference to the books is concerned.

A good deal of work has also to be done by letter; some of the questions asked often involving a great deal of troublesome hunting through works of reference before the correct reply can be found.

THE CATALOGUES.

The first Catalogue of the Library was prepared by the Secretary, Dr. Norton Shaw, in 1852, and was superseded in 1865 by a fresh volume of 542 pages, giving the contents of the Library down to that date. The entries were all arranged in one alphabet under authors' names as far as possible, but with long headings for "Transactions, Voyages," etc.

In 1871 Mr. G. M. Evans, of the British Museum, compiled a supplement of 136 pages, which included the accessions down to 1870. Mr. E. C. Rye, Librarian of the Society, brought out a second supplement coming down to 1880. This forms a volume of 380 pages, and while necessarily conforming to the previous arrangement, it is an admirable piece of work most conscientiously performed. When the time came for the next decade of accessions to be catalogued, the Library Committee decided not to issue it as a third supplement, because the original Catalogue was then out of print. It was accordingly resolved to reprint the old catalogue and supplements together with the new supplement, all carefully re-arranged and revised; and this was done. The volume was prepared by the present Librarian, issued early in 1895, and is a complete list of the contents of the Library down to the end of 1893. It is a volume of nearly 840 pages, printed for the most part in double column. The first 520 pages form an Authors' catalogue, with 18,000 entries arranged alphabetically under authors' names. Of these 3,800 entries are cross-references.

Books are in each case distinguished from pamphlets. Three appendices follow; the first, of 88 pages, gives an analysis of the collections of travels arranged alphabetically, with 3,300 entries. Appendix II., of 149 pages, contains 5,600 entries, dealing with anonymous and official publications arranged geographically; and the 61 pages of Appendix III. contain a list of the serial publications arranged geographically, and requiring 1,600 entries.

This Catalogue is kept up to date by the publication, every month, of the accessions to the Library in the Geographical Journal. The compilation of the "Geographical Literature of the Month" is by no means the least arduous piece of Library routine, for it includes memoirs and articles in journals as well as separate books. Each article is glanced through by the Librarian and a note on the contents added in cases where the recording of the title is insufficient. The entries from two copies of this monthly bibliography are cut out, and one set is pasted on slips arranged alphabetically and kept in the Library for reference, and to form the nucleus of a new supplement.

In 1870 Mr. Evans prepared a Classified Catalogue, which is still useful, although of course much out of date. The arrangement was alphabetic, and the subjects entered were usually the names of places. A new subject catalogue of a complete kind is a most important desideratum. The Council having authorised the compilation of such a work, it was put in hand in 1893, and a good deal of time was occupied in getting over preliminary difficulties as to compilation and classification. Since 1892 the second copy of the notices in the "Literature of the Month" have been pasted on cards and arranged in geographical order by the Librarian, who, as the number of cards increased, was able to experiment on the best methods of classifying them. It was resolved to make these cards a nucleus for the great Subject Catalogue, which should thus commence by being up to date and be extended backwards to embrace the whole contents of the Library. By December, 1897, upwards of 75,000 title-cards had been written out, including the contents of all the most important geographical journals and Transactions. Most of these cards have been classified into large divisions such as the continents, and for Europe and Asia they have been subdivided into countries, and in Europe into sub-divisions of a yet smaller order. The usefulness of this catalogue has already been felt in its embryo state, and it will increase as the work approaches completion. An incident in the preparation of the Subject Catalogue has been the attempt to construct a classification of geography such as will provide a place for recording every separate geographical fact and achievement.

The Library of the Society is being conducted with the view of making it an efficient engine of geographical progress, and not merely a repository for work done long ago. The arrangement of the shelves and catalogues is designed to afford the greatest possible facilities to Fellows desirous of studying any of the branches of geography, or consulting geographical literature, on any subject. During the last ten years the work of the Library has been greatly increased, and it shows no sign of diminution. The regular staff now consists of the Librarian and two assistants. There are two other assistants specially engaged on the subject catalogue.

The following are the Regulations for the Library and Map Room :—

REGULATIONS FOR THE LIBRARY AND MAP ROOM.

1. The Library shall be open to Fellows every day in the week except Sundays, Christmas Day, Good Friday, Bank Holidays, and on such other days as the Council may from time to time determine, from half-past Ten in the morning to half-past Four in the afternoon, except on Saturdays, when it shall close at One P.M. The Map Room shall be open to Fellows and the public on the same days and during the same hours as the Library.

2. Every Fellow of the Society is entitled (subject to the Bye-laws) to borrow as many as four volumes at one time, with the exception of Dictionaries, Encyclopædias, and other works of reference, Minute-Books, Manuscripts, Atlases, Books in loose sheets, unbound Numbers of Periodicals, Drawings and Prints, unless with the special written order of the President or one of the Secretaries. Maps, Charts, and Photographs can only be lent by the special sanction of the President or one of the Secretaries. New Works cannot be lent before the expiration of three months after receipt.

3. The title of every Book, Pamphlet, Map, or Work of any kind lent shall be entered in the Library-register, with the borrower's signature, unless applied for by letter in the borrower's hand.

4. No work of any kind can be retained longer than one month; but at the expiration of that period, or sooner, the same must be returned free of expense, and may then, upon re-entry, be again borrowed, provided that no application for it shall have been made in the meantime by any other Fellow.

5. Any Fellow requiring to consult a volume on the premises shall apply to the Librarian, or his Assistant, who will procure the same; and every such volume when done with shall be at once handed to the Librarian, or his Assistant, to be by him returned to its proper place.

6. In every case of loss or damage to any volume, or other property of the Society, the borrower shall make good the same; and all or any property shall be considered as lost, and recovery of its value be capable of being enforced, which is not returned within four months after application for it.

7. No stranger can be admitted to the Library except by the introduction of a Fellow.

8. Fellows transgressing any of the above Regulations shall be reported by the Secretary to the Council, when such steps will be taken as the case may require.

9. In consideration of the grant of £500 per annum from Her Majesty's Government, the Map Room of the Society shall be open to all persons seeking geographical information.

VII.

MAP ROOM.

THE Map Room receives a Government grant of £500 a year on condition that the Society's collection of maps shall be open to the public.

A book kept in the Map Room, in which the number of visitors is entered, shows that this privilege is appreciated, and that the maps are frequently consulted by Government Departments and the public.

In addition to manuscript maps, the Society's collection includes many valuable ancient atlases and maps, and no opportunity is lost of making up deficiencies. All the principal Government surveys in the British Empire are received from the Imperial, Indian, and Colonial Governments, while those of foreign countries are added to the collection as soon as they are published. All new maps and atlases, published in the United Kingdom or abroad, are submitted to the Map Committee, and, if approved of, are purchased; thus the Map Room collection is kept well up to date, and the most recent and reliable maps can always be consulted by the Fellows of the Society and the public. The number of sheets of maps in the Society's collection now exceeds 100,000.

The series of large maps, which have been constructed at different times to illustrate lectures, are in frequent request, and are lent to societies and to private individuals for a fee of £1 1s.

In 1884, on the suggestion of Mr. Douglas Freshfield, a beginning was made in the collection of photographs illustrative of the various regions of the world and of geographical subjects. The Society's collection of photographs now numbers about 100,000.

Since it was decided to illustrate papers read before the Society with the dioptric light, the number of lantern slides has steadily increased, and as the majority of them have been produced from photographs taken by explorers, they form what is probably the best collection of geographical lantern slides in the world. These slides are lent to the Fellows and the public at a charge of 2s. a dozen.

The Map Room catalogues are all in manuscript, with the exception of one that was printed in 1882. They are arranged geographically, and the date when each map is received, together with its title, scale, size of sheet, author, place and date of publication, and donor, are entered. Each map, atlas, and set of photographs has its proper press mark, which enables it to be readily found.

Among the more important maps published by the Society are: "Map of Eastern Equatorial Africa," by E. G. Ravenstein; "Persia, Afghanistan, and Beluchistan," compiled under the supervision of the Rt. Hon. G. N. Curzon, M.P.; "The Karakoram Himalayas," by Sir Martin Conway; "Tibet and Surrounding Regions," compiled from the latest information.

A complete set of instruments, with other articles necessary for the equipment of an observer in the field, is placed under a glass case in the Map Room, as a guide to intending travellers, and to remind them of useful things which might otherwise be overlooked, and further information can be obtained from the Society's instructor. The staff of the Map Room consists of a Curator and two assistants.

MAP DRAWING.

As far as possible the maps published by the Society are compiled and drawn on the premises. In the Map-Drawing Room on the third floor are a chief draughtsman and two assistants. These are kept busy the whole year round examining and compiling the materials brought back by travellers from all parts of the world, and in executing special maps of particular regions from the best existing materials. The lithographing of the maps is done outside.

Beside the Map-Drawing Room is the Map-Mounter's Room, where all the maps acquired by the Society are mounted on cloth for their better preservation, and where all the pamphlets added to the Library are put into cases.

SCIENTIFIC INSTRUCTION.

PREVIOUS to the year 1879 the only instruction given in practical astronomy and surveying to intending travellers was undertaken privately by the late Map Curator, Staff Commander George, R.N., and his successor, Mr. John Coles.

In the summer of 1879 the Council sanctioned a portion of a scheme proposed by the Secretary, Mr. Clements Markham, for giving instruction to intending travellers in the use of instruments for astronomical observations and surveying. Mr. Coles, the Map Curator, was appointed the instructor, and has held that position to the present day. The lessons are given in the Society's building, and an observatory has been built on the roof to facilitate instruction, surveying being taught in the country. It was arranged that the fees paid by the pupils should be at the rate of 2s. 6d. per hour, and, in the first year, thirteen intending travellers received instruction. Since the commencement the number of students has steadily increased, until, in the present year, it has reached forty-five in the seven months since the last annual report was made.

As some of the results of the instruction given, thirty-five explorers have contributed maps which have been published by the Society, and three—viz., the Right Hon. G. N. Curzon, M.P., Mr. St. G. R. Littledale, and the late Mr Joseph Thomson—have been awarded the Society's gold medal; while eleven others have received minor awards for work done in the field. In addition to this, nearly all the officers who have taken part in the Boundary Commissions in Africa have received instruction from Mr. Coles.

The fees for instruction at the Society have continued to be 2s. 6d. an hour, and the whole course includes observations with the sextant and theodolite, including the adjustments and the computation of latitude by meridian altitudes of sun and stars, by circummeridional altitudes, by Polaris and double altitudes. Observations with sextant and theodolite, and computations for finding local time by sun and stars, and thence the longitude; equal altitudes of sun and stars for finding error and rate of watch. Longitude by occultations of stars by the moon, and the prediction of the circumstances of occultations; by moon culminating stars and the necessary corrections for level error, and placing the instrument in the meridian; eclipses of Jupiter's satellites and Lunnars when required; longitude by meridian distances from the observed error of watch. Observations and computation of the true bearing of an object by its angular distance from the sun. Error of compass from the observed bearing of the sun and its computed true bearing.

In addition to the above, surveying with the prismatic compass, tacheometer, plane-table and theodolite, plotting from the field-book and map projection.

By a resolution of the Council, 4th January, 1897, it was decided to grant diplomas, as originally proposed by Mr. Markham in 1879, to students who had gone through the whole course of instruction, and who could pass an examination on the subjects mentioned before a committee appointed for that purpose. Since that date the following gentlemen have successfully passed the examination and received diplomas:—Capt. E. M. Woodward, Capt. A. H. C. Kenny Herbert, and Mr. C. L. Temple.

During the present year the instruction given at the Society has received considerable impetus owing to the encouragement given by the War Office, and other Government Departments, and at no time since it was commenced has the number of students been so large as at present.

The foregoing has reference only to instruction in surveying and astronomical observations, but in the year 1884 the Council sanctioned the rest of the scheme proposed by Mr. Markham in 1879 for assisting intending travellers, who obtained a certificate of competency in astronomy and surveying from Mr. Coles. They can now receive practical instruction in other subjects on the same plan, as regards fees, as that sanctioned for instruction in practical astronomy, and in 1895 this scheme was further expanded.

The following is a list of the subjects :—

Geology, including practical training in the field. Under the superintendence of Dr. J. W. GREGORY, Natural History Museum, South Kensington.

Botany. Under the superintendence of the Director, Royal Gardens, Kew.

Zoology. By Dr. R. BOWDLER SHARPE, Natural History Museum, South Kensington.

Anthropological Measurements. Under the superintendence of Dr. J. G. GARSON, Anthropological Institute.

Photography. By Mr. JOHN THOMSON, Author of "Photographic Illustrations of China and its People," and other works.

Instructions as to What and How to Observe in the Field, from the general geographical standpoint. By Dr. H. R. MILL, Librarian to the Society.

EDUCATION.

For the last quarter of a century the Council has made very persistent efforts to improve the geographical education of the country, and not without permanent results. In 1884 Mr. Keltie, afterwards Librarian (1885), and now the Secretary to the Society, was commissioned to investigate the position of geographical education in Great Britain and on the Continent. He made a full report; and in 1885-86 there was an exhibition of geographical appliances for teaching. The collection has since been kept at the Teachers' Guild Museum in Gower Street. There can be no doubt that Mr. Keltie's Report was the means of arousing an interest in the teaching of geography, which has since increased, so that its influence has been permanent and useful.

From 1871 to 1887 the Council perseveringly represented to the authorities of the Oxford and Cambridge Universities the urgent importance of giving geography its proper place as a subject for instruction. At length it was arranged, in 1888, that a Reader in Geography should be appointed at Oxford, half his salary being paid by the University and half by the Society, for a period of five years. At the end of that time the Society consented to continue its payments for another five years; and, under the able conduct of Mr. H. J. Mackinder, the Readership became a marked success. The University authorities fully recognised its importance, and at the end of the second five years they resolved to continue it permanently without assistance from the Society. Thus, by an expenditure of £1,500, the Council has had the satisfaction of seeing geography included among the recognised subjects for instruction at the University of Oxford.

At the Cambridge University a lectureship in geography was established in February, 1888, towards which the Society agreed to contribute two-thirds of the salary for a term of five years. As at Oxford, the Council agreed to continue the payment to Cambridge for a second five years. That term has now expired, and geographical instruction is recognised by the University authorities as so useful that a readership in geography has been established, the appointment having been given to Mr. Yule Oldham, the former lecturer. The Council has consented to continue its payments towards the salary for a third five years, in the confident expectation that at the end of that time Cambridge, like Oxford, will be in a position to continue the geographical readership permanently.

The Society has also given liberal assistance to the Oxford University Extension Board; has for several years contributed £100 a year for lectures in geography to the London University Extension Society; granted £75 a year, from 1891 to 1897, for a lectureship at Owens College, Manchester; and prizes to the Training Colleges from 1888 to 1894. At present prizes are given for geography to the training-ships Conway and Worcester, to the Scotch training colleges, and to the Oxford and Cambridge Local Examinations.

MEETINGS.

THERE are on an average fourteen evening meetings during the Session from November to June, besides occasional afternoon technical meetings in the Map Room. The meetings are opened by the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, of the names of newly-elected Fellows, and of candidates for election. The President then refers to any matter of interest to the Society, and briefly introduces the reader of the paper for the evening. The papers are almost invariably illustrated by lantern slides. After the reading of the paper a discussion takes place. The meeting then adjourns to the tea-room, where tea and coffee are served, and where there is an exhibition of photographs and articles bearing on the subject of the paper. The following is a list of papers read at the evening meetings during the last three years, 1895-96-97:—

- Jan. 7.—“A Visit to the Luchu Islands,” by Basil Hall Chamberlain.
 „ 28.—“Journeys in South-Western Siam,” by H. Warington Smyth.

Our Vice-Patron, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, and our Honorary President, H.R.H. the Duke of York, were present. The former presented to Dr. Nansen the special gold medal which had been struck in his honour by the Society. A silver replica of the medal was presented to Lieutenant Scott Hanson, who was present, while others were sent to Captain Sverdrup, Lieutenant Johansen, Dr. Blessing, and Mr. Colin Archer (the builder of the Fram); and bronze replicas to the other members of the expedition.

ANNIVERSARY DINNER AND SOIRÉES.

THE Anniversary Dinner takes place in the evening of the day on which the Anniversary Meeting is held. The dinner and annual soirée have always been useful conclusions to the business of the Session. They have tended to make the affairs of the Society work smoothly, to promote acquaintanceship among the Fellows, and to increase our numbers.

The evening receptions were commenced by Sir Roderick Murchison in his own house, 16, Belgrave Square, in 1852. The Earl of Ellesmere gave them at Bridgewater House from 1854 to 1856; Sir Roderick, at 16, Belgrave Square, from 1857 to 1860; and Lord Ashburton, at his house in Piccadilly, in 1861 and 1862. In 1863 the Fellows had become too numerous to be received in a private house, and Sir Roderick gave receptions at Willis's Rooms from 1863 to 1870. Sir Henry Rawlinson did the same from 1872 to 1875, and in 1876 the reception was at South Kensington. In 1877 Sir Rutherford Alcock's reception was at Willis's Rooms.

From 1878 to 1886 there were no receptions. The want of them was felt, and those who were most experienced in the working of the Society were convinced that it was desirable to resume them.

In 1887 they were resumed, General Strachey and the Council receiving the Fellows at South Kensington in that year, and at Willis's Rooms in 1888. Sir Mountstuart Grant Duff and the Council received the Fellows at Willis's Rooms in 1889 and at South Kensington in 1894. In 1895 Sir Clements Markham and the Council received the Fellows in the Water Colour Gallery in Piccadilly, and again in 1896, when 1000 were present. The Soirée in 1897 was in the Natural History Museum, when 1598 were present.

THE WORKING OF THE SOCIETY.

THE affairs of the Society are carried on by the Council with the aid of the salaried staff, under the direct supervision of the President and the Honorary Secretaries. The Council meets, on an average, once a fortnight, from November to June. Its business is very varied. All correspondence of importance is laid before it for consideration; it has the administration of the Society's finances; requests for grants of money for explorations and geographical research, and for the loan of instruments, have to be considered from time to time; in it is vested the election of Fellows; it has to see to the efficiency of the Society's library and map collection; papers offered to the Society for reading at meetings and for publication have to be considered and referred to specialists for report; it has annually to adjudge the honours awarded by the Society. Such are some of the multifarious duties of the Council. Much of the business brought before it is referred in the first instance to committees, which, after careful consideration of any matter, report to the Council, with which rests the final decision. These Committees are—Finance, Library and Map, Exploration and Education (dealing, among other things, with instruments and special scientific subjects), Orthography. Special committees are occasionally appointed when deemed advisable. The Finance and the Library and Map Committees meet once a month, the other Committees when necessary. The correspondence of the Society, which is heavy, is carried on by the Secretary, who is responsible to the Council for the efficient working of the various departments, and for the execution of the Council's decisions.

The clerical staff consists of a Chief Clerk and two assistants. It is their duty, under the direction of the Secretary, to attend to the business affairs of the Society, the keeping of accounts, the collection of fees, the notification of elections, the preparation of business for Council and Committees, the issue of publications, arrangements for meetings, and much else, involving a good deal of correspondence.

The Society's House is in charge of a housekeeper and his wife, who reside on the premises, and who, with assistance, attend to the daily cleaning. Once a year, during the summer vacation, the whole house is completely overhauled, all the books and bookshelves cleaned, and repairs seen to. So far as books go, the introduction of electric lighting into the house has done much to prevent the deterioration of the bindings. Of course a considerable amount of the work of the Society is necessarily done outside by printers, stationers, bookbinders, lithographers, and others. The Society has its own shorthand writer to report the discussions at the meetings.

1892.—Edward Whymper—Patron's Medal—For the results of his journey in 1879-80 among the Great Andes of the Equator.

ROBERT SWAN—The Murchison Grant—For acting as surveyor and geologist on Mr. Bent's expedition to Mashonaland.

REV. JAMES SIBREE—The Back Grant—For his many years' work on the geography and bibliography of Madagascar.

CHARLES W. CAMPBELL—The Cuthbert Peek Grant—For his important journeys in Korea.

*G. H. GARRETT—The Gill Memorial—For important geographical work done during the past fifteen years in Sierra Leone.

1893.—W. Woodville Rockhill—The Patron's Medal—For his travels and explorations in Western China, Kokonor, Tsaidam and N.E. Tibet.

R. WALLER SENIOR—The Murchison Grant—For his several years' survey work in the higher ranges of Kulu and Lahaul, Punjab Himalayas.

HENRY O. FORBES—The Gill Memorial—For Explorations and Observations in New Guinea, the Malay Archipelago, and Chatham Islands.

CHARLES HOSE—The Cuthbert Peek Grant—For Explorations and Natural History Observations in Sarawak, North Borneo.

1894.—Captain H. Bower—The Founder's Medal—For his journey across Tibet from West to East.

Elisée Reclus—The Patron's Medal—For having devoted his life to the study of Comparative Geography.

CAPTAIN JOSEPH WIGGINS—The Murchison Grant—For his services in opening up the Kara Sea route to Northern Siberia.

CAPTAIN H. J. SNOW—The Back Grant [two years]—For his rectification of the map of the Kurile Islands.

*G. E. FERGUSON—The Gill Memorial—For his excellent Survey work on the West Coast of Africa.

DR. J. W. GREGORY—The Cuthbert Peek Grant—For his journey to Lake Baringo and Mount Kenia, and his series of useful scientific observations.

1895.—Dr. John Murray—The Founder's Medal—For his services to physical geography, and especially to oceanography during the last twenty-three years. For his work on board the Challenger and as Editor of the Challenger Publications.

Hon. George N. Curzon—The Patron's Medal—For his work on the History, Geography, Archaeology and Politics of Persia; for subsequent journeys in French Indo-China; and for an expedition to the Hindu Kush, the Pamirs, and the Oxus.

*EIVIND ASTRUP—The Murchison Grant—For his journey, with Lieut. Peary, across the interior to the northern shores of Greenland; and for his journey along the shores of Melville Bay.

CAPTAIN C. A. LARSEN—The Back Grant—For the observations made by him during his Antarctic voyage in 1894.

CAPTAIN J. W. PRINGLE, R.E.—The Gill Memorial—For his account of the Railway Survey operations in British East Africa.

G. F. SCOTT-ELLIOT—The Cuthbert Peek Grant for 1895—For his explorations of Mount Ruwenzori, and the region to the West of the Victoria Nyanza.

1896.—Sir William Macgregor, K.C.M.G.—The Founder's Medal—
For his long-continued services to geography in British New Guinea.

St. George R. Littledale—The Patron's Medal—For his three important journeys in the Pamirs and Central Asia.

YUSUF SHARIF KHAN BAHADUR—The Murchison Grant for 1896—
For important surveying work in Baluchistan and South Arabia.

J. BORR TYRRELL—The Back Grant for 1896—For his two expeditions in the Barren Grounds of North-East Canada.

A. P. Low—The Gill Memorial for 1896—For his five explorations in Labrador, a report of which, with map, he communicated to the Society's Journal.

ALFRED SHARPE—The Cuthbert Peek Grant for 1896—For his journeys during several years in Central Africa.

1897.—Dr. Fridtjof Nansen—Special Gold Medal—For his expedition across the North Polar area.

Silver medals were presented to the following members of the expedition:—Lieut. Scott-Hansen, Capt. Otto Sverdrup, Lieut. Hjalmar Johansen, Dr. Henrik Blessing, and Colin Archer.

Bronze medals to the undermentioned:—C. T. Jacobsen, Peder Henriksen, Antin Amundsen, Lars Pettersen, Bernhard Nordahl, Ivar Mogstad, Adolf Juell, and Bernt Bentsen.

M. Semenov—The Founder's Medal—Vice-President of the Russian Geographical Society, who for a quarter of a century has been the inspirer of all the Russian expeditions into Central Asia.

Dr. George M. Dawson, C.M.G.—The Patron's Medal—
Director of the Geological Survey of Canada. For many years an active worker in connection with the Dominion Survey, during which much of the work he carried out, in the North-West Territories, in the Yukon district, and in other parts of Canada, was largely of a geographical as well as geological character. Under him geographical exploration has been greatly encouraged among the survey officers, not only in Alaska, but in the regions to the west and south of Hudson's Bay.

LIEUT. SEYMOUR VANDELEUR, D.S.O.—The Murchison Grant for 1897
—For his journey of 900 miles in Somali-land in 1893-94, during which he made an excellent route survey. For making surveys of 2073 miles of routes in Uganda, Unyoro, and on the Upper Nile in 1894-96. For astronomically surveying 200 miles of practically unknown country in the Niger region during Sir George Goldie's first expedition, surveying the new road to Bida in the second, and Illorin from Jebba in the third, expedition in 1897.

LIEUT. RYDER (of the Danish Navy)—The Back Grant for 1897—For his explorations in East Greenland in 1891 and subsequent years, during which he made important rectifications on the coast, discovered a new series of fjürds, and made important meteorological observations.

THE NANSEN MEDAL.

1897. C. E. DOUGLAS—The Gill Memorial for 1897—For persistent explorations on the western slopes of the New Zealand Alps, extending over twenty-one years (1874–95).
- DR. THORVALD THORODDSEN—The Cuthbert Peek Grant for 1897—Since 1882 Dr. Thoroddsen has been continuously exploring Iceland, having at various times covered nearly the whole island. His contributions to the physical geography and geology of the island are of the first rank.

PREFACE.

It has been thought desirable that a Year-Book should be published in future, together with the list of Fellows, containing full information respecting the constitution and working of the Royal Geographical Society, and the arrangements for the utilisation of its property and the furtherance of its objects. It is hoped that the Fellows will thus become better acquainted with the uses to which their premises are put, as well as with the labours of their Society since its foundation. This, I trust, will lead to more frequent visits to their rooms, and to a largely increased use of the geographical treasures they contain. Another object of the Year-Book will be the more general dissemination of knowledge respecting the work and uses of the Society.

The Year-Book, published last year for the first time, has been greatly appreciated by the Fellows, and has been found useful in many ways. The list of Fellows has been brought up to date, and several other important alterations made. A portrait of the First President, Lord Goderich, is given, and will be followed by portraits of his successors. There is also a portrait of the present President.

FOUNDATION OF THE SOCIETY.

THE Royal Geographical Society was founded in 1830. Previously, and since the dawn of British exploration and discovery, geographical work had been done without regular organization. It was commenced in 1555, when Richard Eden published his "Decades of the New World." It was continued by a succession of collectors of Voyages and Travels—Blaeu, Purchas, Harris, Astley, Churchill, Pinkerton, Dalrymple, Kerr, and Burney. The Royal Society, from its foundation, published occasional geographical papers, and promoted the invention and improvement of instruments useful to travellers. Sir Joseph Banks was the constant and very active patron of geography from the time that he became president of the Royal Society in 1778 until his death in 1820. His mantle fell upon Major Rennell, while from 1818 Sir John Barrow, the secretary to the Admiralty, was the great promoter of voyages of discovery. In 1788 the African Association was founded for the promotion of discovery in the interior of that continent, and the labours of its members culminated in the discoveries of Mungo Park, of Denham and Clapperton, and of Lander.

The Raleigh Dining Club was founded in February, 1827. The world was mapped out into so many divisions corresponding with the number of members, each division being represented by at least one member, so that the Club collectively should have visited nearly every part of the known world. The principal object of the Club dinners, which took place at the "Thatched House," was announced to be the attainment of an agreeable and rational society composed of persons who had visited all parts of the globe. At the dinners the feeling that the creation of a more completely organized institution for the advancement of geography was necessary, gradually took definite shape. After the foundation of the Society the Raleigh Club continued to flourish, becoming more and more closely connected with the Society, until, in 1854, the affiliation became complete. With new rules the name of Raleigh was then dropped, and it became the Geographical Club, whose history has since been part of the history of the Society.

Early in 1830 Admiral Smyth sketched out a well-conceived scheme for a Geographical Society, and enrolled many names. Independently of his efforts, there was subsequently a numerously attended meeting of the Raleigh Club, with Sir John Barrow in the chair, on May 24th. 1830, when it was resolved that a Society was needed whose sole object should be the promotion and diffusion of geographical knowledge. The meeting nominated a provisional committee consisting of six members of the Raleigh Club, Sir John Barrow, Mr. Robert Brown (Princeps Botanicorum), Sir John Hobhouse (afterwards Lord Broughton), Sir Roderick Murchison, Mr. Mountstuart Elphinstone, and Mr. Bartle Frere. The meetings of this Committee took place in Sir John Barrow's room at the Admiralty. They there settled the preliminary business, and drew up rules. Admiral Smyth's zealous exertions, commenced at an earlier date, were now heartily given to the Committee. He materially furthered the successful progress of its efforts.

On July 16th, 1830, at a meeting in the rooms of the Horticultural Society in Regent Street, resolutions were adopted relating to the government and constitution of the Society, and the Geographical Society of London was founded. President, Vice-Presidents, Council, Treasurer, and Secretaries were elected.

Our first President was Viscount Goderich, afterwards Earl of Ripon. The Vice-Presidents were Sir John Barrow, Sir John Franklin, Colonel Leake, and Mr. Greenough. Four hundred and sixty names were enrolled on the list of Fellows, forty-three being naval officers, including the King, fifty officers in the army, all the leading statesmen of both parties, including the Duke of Wellington (then Prime Minister), and men eminent in all branches of science. King William IV. became patron of the Society, granted an annual donation of fifty guineas (which has been graciously continued by her present Majesty) to constitute a premium for the encouragement and promotion of geographical science and discovery, and ordered that our title should be the "Royal Geographical Society."

The African and Palestine Associations were merged in the Society.

The objects of the Royal Geographical Society are the accumulation of new geographical knowledge, the maintenance of a library and a collection of maps for the use of its members, granting assistance to travellers and to research, the training of explorers, the raising of the standard of geographical education, and the dissemination of geographical knowledge. It has actively and successfully pursued these objects during the last sixty-nine years.

The Society's Royal Charter of Incorporation was granted to Sir Roderick Murchison on the 8th of February, 1859.

The following table shows the progress of the Society, so far as the number of Fellows is concerned :—

CHARTER AND BYE-LAWS.

GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY, 1839.

Victoria, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith, To all to whom these Presents shall come, Greeting.

AND WHEREAS it has been represented to us that the same Society has since its establishment sedulously pursued such its proposed object, by collecting, registering, digesting, and, from time to time, publishing an annual Journal of Transactions, which have contributed to the progress of geographical knowledge; by carrying out, at its own expense, various important Expeditions in every quarter of the Globe, and by assisting other Expeditions with grants of money and otherwise; and whereas, distinguished individuals in foreign countries, as well as British subjects, have availed themselves of the facilities offered by the same Society for communicating important discoveries, greatly extending geographical knowledge :

AND WHEREAS the same Society has, in aid of its objects, collected a large and valuable Library of Scientific Works, Atlases, Maps, Charts, Plans, Views, and Instruments, to which fresh accessions are constantly being made; and the said Society has hitherto been supported by Donations, and annual and other Subscriptions and Contributions to its Funds :

AND WHEREAS, in order to secure the property of the said Society, to extend its operations, and to give it a more permanent establishment among the scientific Institutions of our Kingdom, we have been besought to grant to the said Sir Roderick Impey Murchison, Knight, and to those who now are, or shall hereafter become, Members of the said Society, our Royal Charter of Incorporation for the purposes aforesaid.

Now KNOW YE, that We, being desirous of encouraging a design so laudable and salutary, of our especial Grace, certain knowledge, and mere motion, have willed, granted and declared, and Do, by these Presents for us, our heirs, and successors, will, grant and declare, that the said Sir Roderick Impey Murchison, Knight, and such other of our loving subjects as now are Members of the said Society, or shall from time to time be elected Fellows thereof, according to such Regulations, or Bye Laws, as shall be hereafter framed or enacted, and their successors, shall for ever hereafter be, by virtue of these Presents, one body politic and corporate, by the name of "The Royal Geographical Society;" and for the purposes aforesaid, and by the name aforesaid, shall have perpetual succession and a Common Seal, with full power and authority to alter, vary, break, and renew the same at their discretion, and by the same name, to sue and be sued, implead and be impleaded, answer and be answered unto, in every court of us, our heirs and successors, and be for ever able and capable in the law, to purchase, receive, possess, hold and enjoy, to them and their successors, any goods and chattels whatsoever; and also to be able and capable in the law (notwithstanding the Statutes of Mortmain), to take, purchase, hold and enjoy, to them and their successors, a Hall or House, and any such messuages, lands, tenements, or hereditaments whatsoever, as may be necessary for carrying out the purposes of the Society, the yearly value of which, including the site of the said Hall or House, shall not exceed in the whole the sum of eight thousand pounds, computing the same respectively at the rack rent which might have been had or gotten for the same respectively at the time of the purchase or acquisition thereof; and to act in all the concerns of the said body politic and corporate, as effectually, to all intents and purposes, as any other of our liege subjects, or any other body politic or corporate, in our said Kingdom, not being under any disability, might do in their respective concerns.

AND we do hereby grant our especial licence and authority, unto all and every person and persons, bodies politic and corporate, otherwise competent to grant, sell, alien, and convey in Mortmain, unto and to the use of the said body politic and corporate, and their successors, any messuages, lands, tenements, or hereditaments, not exceeding such annual value as aforesaid.

AND our will and pleasure is, and we further grant and declare, that there shall be a General Meeting, or General Meetings of the Fellows of the said Society, to be held from time to time as hereinafter mentioned; and that there shall be a Council to direct and manage the concerns of the said body politic and corporate, and that the General Meetings and the Council shall have the entire direction and management of the same, in the manner and subject to the regulations hereafter mentioned.

AND we do hereby also will, grant and declare, that there shall be a President, Vice-Presidents, a Treasurer, and Secretaries of the said body politic and corporate; and that the Council shall consist of the President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, Trustees, Secretaries, and not more than twenty-one, nor less than twelve, other Fellows of the said Society.

AND we do hereby further will and declare, that the said Sir Roderick Impey Murchison, Knight, shall be the first President of the said body politic and corporate; and the other persons now being the Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, Trustees, Secretaries, together with twenty-one Members of the Council, shall be the first Members of the Council, and shall continue such until the election of Officers shall be made in pursuance of these presents.

AND we do hereby further will and declare, that it shall be lawful for the Fellows of the said body politic and corporate hereby established, to hold a General Meeting once in the year, or oftener, for the purposes hereinafter mentioned, namely, that the President, Vice-Presidents, the Treasurer, the Secretaries, and other members of the Council, shall be chosen at such General Meeting, and that the General Meetings shall from time to time make and establish such Bye Laws, and vary and alter, or revoke the same, as they shall deem to be useful and necessary for the regulation of the said body politic and corporate, for the admission of Fellows and of Honorary and Foreign Members, and for the fixing the number of the Presidents, Officers, and for the management of the proceedings, and the estates, goods, and business of the said body politic and corporate, so that such Bye Laws be not repugnant to these presents, or to the Laws and Statutes of this our realm, and shall and may also enter into any resolution and make any regulation respecting the affairs of the said body politic and corporate that may be necessary and proper.

AND we do further will and declare that the General Meetings shall take place at such time as may be fixed by the said Council, and that the present regulations of the said Society, so far as they are not inconsistent with these presents, shall continue in force until the same shall be altered by a General Meeting.

AND we further will, grant and declare, that the Council shall have the sole management of the income and funds of the said body politic and corporate, and the appointment of Secretary, Librarian, Curator, and such other officers, attendants, and servants, as the Council shall think necessary or useful, as also the entire management and superintendence of all the other affairs of the said Society, and shall and may, but not inconsistently with or contrary to the provisions of this our Charter, or any existing Bye Law, or Laws and Statutes of this our realm, do all such acts and deeds as shall appear to them necessary for carrying into effect the objects and views of the said body politic and corporate.

PROVIDED always, and we do will and declare that the Council shall from time to time render to a General Meeting a full account of their proceedings, and that every Fellow of the Society may, at all reasonable times, to be fixed by the said Council, see and examine the accounts of the receipts and payments of the said body politic and corporate.

AND we further will, grant and declare, that the whole property of the said body politic and corporate shall be vested, and we do hereby vest the same solely and absolutely in the Fellows thereof, and that they shall have full power and authority to sell, alienate, charge, and otherwise dispose of the same as they shall think proper; but that no sale, mortgage, incumbrance, or other disposition of any messuages, lands, tenements, or hereditaments belonging to the said body politic and corporate shall be made, except with the approbation and concurrence of a General Meeting.

AND we lastly declare it to be our Royal Will and Pleasure, that no Resolution or Bye Law shall on any account or pretence whatsoever be made by the said body politic and corporate in opposition to the general scope, true intent, and meaning of this our Charter, or the Laws or Statutes of our realm, and that if any such Rule or Bye Law shall be made, the same shall be absolutely null and void to all intents, effects, constructions, and purposes whatsoever.

IN witness whereof we have caused these our Letters to be made Patent.

WITNESS Ourselves, at our Palace at Westminster, this eighth day of February, in the twenty-second year of our reign.

By Her Majesty's command.

(Signed)

EDMUNDS.

BYE-LAWS OF THE ROYAL GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY.

As amended by a Special General Meeting held on June 22, 1896.

CHAPTER I.

CONSTITUTION.

1. THE ROYAL GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY is instituted for the Advancement of Geographical Science.

2. The Society consists of Fellows, and of Honorary and Honorary Corresponding Members.

3. A Council shall be chosen annually from the Fellows to conduct the affairs of the Society, and shall consist of a President, six Vice-Presidents—two of whom shall be ex-Presidents, if available—a Treasurer and two other Trustees, three Honorary Secretaries, and twenty-one other Councillors.

4. Every Fellow shall be eligible to fill any of the offices in the Council. One of the Vice-Presidents, and seven of the other Councillors shall be changed every year, and shall not be eligible for re-election to the same office till after the expiration of one year.

5. In the case of the death or resignation of the President, of one of the Honorary Secretaries, or of the Treasurer, in the interval between any two successive annual meetings, the Council shall have power to appoint one of their number to perform the duties of the vacant office provisionally, until the next General Meeting.

6. The Society shall not make or distribute any dividend, division, or bonus in money, unto or between its Fellows.

CHAPTER II.

PUBLICATIONS AND COLLECTIONS.

1. THE Society shall, from time to time, under the superintendence of the Council, publish Transactions, and accompany them with Maps and other Illustrations, as occasion may require.

2. Each Fellow is entitled to a copy of the Society's monthly publication, which will be forwarded, free of expense, to all Fellows whose addresses are known.

3. The monthly publication shall include a Report of the Proceedings of meetings, papers read or abstracts thereof, donations made to the Society, and such additional matter as may seem appropriate.

4. The Society shall maintain a Library and a collection of Maps, Charts, Photographs and Instruments connected with Geographical Science to which Fellows and Strangers by free orders shall have access, under such restrictions as may appear advisable to the Council.

CHAPTER III.

ELECTION AND ADMISSION OF FELLOWS.

1. EVERY Candidate for admission into the Society as a Fellow must be proposed and seconded agreeably to the Form No. 1 in the Appendix II.; and such proposal must be subscribed by one Fellow at least, who must certify his personal knowledge of the Candidate.

2. The Form, thus filled up, shall be delivered to the Secretary, and shall be read out at the next Ordinary Meeting of Fellows; after which it shall be suspended in a conspicuous place in the Society's House till the next Meeting.

3. The Election of Fellows is entrusted to the Council; and the names of those so elected shall be regularly announced at each Ordinary Meeting.

4. The Secretary shall send to every newly elected Fellow notice of his election within three days; together with a copy of the Bye-Laws of the Society, corrected to the date of issue, a List of the Fellows, and a Card announcing the days on which the Ordinary Meetings will be held during the current Session. But no election of a Fellow shall be complete, neither shall his name be printed in any List of the Fellows, nor shall he be entitled to exercise any of the privileges of a Fellow, until he shall have paid his entrance-fee and annual subscription; compounded for the same, as hereafter to be explained; or been exempted therefrom under paragraph 6 of this Chapter; and unless these payments be made within three calendar months from the date of election, such election shall be void; but this period may be extended by the Council in special cases.

5. Honorary and Honorary Corresponding Members shall be selected by the Council, and shall enjoy such privileges as the Council may from time to time determine.

6. The Council are empowered to remit the entrance fees and subscriptions in a limited number of cases, where it may be found desirable to elect gentlemen to the Fellowship who are distinguished for their services to Geographical Science.

CHAPTER IV.

WITHDRAWAL AND REMOVAL OF FELLOWS.

1. ANY Fellow may withdraw from the Society by signifying his wish to do so, by letter addressed to the Secretary, at the House of the Society; he shall nevertheless continue to be liable for his annual subscription for the year in which he signifies his wish to withdraw; and he shall further continue liable for such annual subscription until he shall have discharged all sums due by him to the Society, and shall have returned all books or other property borrowed by him of the Society; or shall have made full compensation of the same, if lost, or not forthcoming.

2. Any Fellow may be removed from the Society, by the Vote, taken by ballot, of a Special General Meeting of the Fellows.

CHAPTER V.

PAYMENTS TO THE SOCIETY.

1. EVERY Fellow shall, on election, be required to pay £5 as entrance fee, and £2 as annual subscription for the current year, and thereafter a yearly subscription of £2, due on the 1st January of each year; or he may compound either at entrance by one payment of £35, or at any subsequent period on the following scale, provided that there shall be at the time no arrears due by him to the Society :—

Fellows of 10 years' standing and under 15 . . .	£20
„ 15 „ „ „ 20 . . .	£16
„ 20 „ „ and over . . .	£12 10s.

No Fellow shall be entitled to vote or to enjoy any privilege of the Society while in arrear. Honorary and Honorary Corresponding

Members and Fellows elected under Chapter II., paragraph 6, are not required to make any payments.

2. The first Annual payment of Fellows elected in November and December shall nevertheless be considered to extend to the 31st December of the following year.

3. So soon in every year as the Auditors shall have completed their financial investigation, the name of every Fellow in arrear to the Society, together with a statement of the amount in arrear, shall be reported to the Council; and notice of the same, with an account of such arrear, shall be forwarded to every Fellow whose name shall have been so reported; and if the arrear be not paid within one calendar month from the date of such notice, or within such further time as the Council may grant upon special cause to them shown, the Council shall direct that the name of the Fellow so reported, together with a statement of the arrear, shall be suspended in the House of the Society; and if the arrear shall not have been discharged before the second Ordinary Meeting after such suspension, the Council shall be empowered to remove his name from the Society's List; and the name of any one so suspended shall not be taken down until the arrear shall have been paid, or the Fellow shall have been removed from the Society.

CHAPTER VI.

MEETINGS OF THE SOCIETY.

Sect. 1.—Anniversary Meetings.

1. THE Anniversary General Meeting of the Fellows shall be held on the fourth Monday in May, or as near that date as may be found convenient.

2. Notice of this Meeting shall be sent to every Fellow residing in the United Kingdom, whose address is known; and shall be inserted in two or more newspapers, one week at least before the day of Meeting.

3. The following shall be the Agenda for the Anniversary General Meeting:

- (1) The Presentation of the Gold Medals and other awards of the Society.
- (2) The Presidential Address.
- (3) An interval for the withdrawal of visitors, prior to which no discussion shall be allowed.
- (4) The presentation of the Annual Report of the Council.
- (5) The election of the Council and Officers for the ensuing year.

No other business shall be transacted.

No resolution shall be passed at the Anniversary General Meeting. But in the event of any Fellow being desirous of bringing forward a Motion on any point in the Report of the Council, such Motion shall be handed in, read and referred to a Special General Meeting; provided that such Motion is supported by not less than forty Fellows present.

4. In order to give effect to the provisions in Chap. I., paragraph 4, which require certain annual changes, as before specified, in the Council, a sufficient number of printed balloting lists, according to the form in the Appendix, shall be prepared previous to the Meeting; one column of which shall contain a list of the existing Council, a second the names of Fellows changing office or retiring, a third the list proposed for election by the Council, and a fourth left vacant to receive names which any Fellow may wish to substitute for those proposed for election by the Council. One of the balloting lists shall be available for every Fellow present at the Meeting.

5. The chair shall be taken at the time named in the notice, or as soon after as twenty-five Fellows shall be present; whereupon the Chairman shall appoint two or more Scrutineers from among the Fellows present, to superintend the ballot during its progress, and, when it is closed, to examine the lists, and report the result to the Meeting.

6. Each Fellow voting shall deliver his balloting list, folded up, to one of the Scrutineers, who shall immediately put it into the balloting-box.

7. The Scrutineers shall report the number of votes for each person to the Chairman, who shall declare the persons on whom the election has fallen.

8. If the name of any Candidate is found to be simply erased in the majority of the balloting papers, without any name being substituted, as provided in paragraph 4 of this section, such Candidate shall not be elected. The vacancy thus created may either be left open till the next Annual Meeting, or be filled up at an adjourned General Meeting of the Fellows, as the Chairman may think best.

Sect. 2.—Special General Meetings.

1. The Council may at any time call a Special General Meeting of the Society, whenever it shall be considered necessary.

2. Any six Fellows may propose to the Council, by letter addressed to the Secretary, any new Bye-Law, or the alteration or repeal of any existing Bye-Law, or any resolution respecting the affairs of the Society, and if dissatisfied with the answer of the Council, may, if supported by the written requisition of not less than forty Fellows, require that the proposition be referred to a Special General Meeting, which the Council shall convene during the Session for that purpose within sixty days after receiving such requisition; the days in the months of August, September, and October not being included in the reckoning.

3. Thirty days' notice at least of the time when, and the object for which, every Special Meeting is to be holden, shall be sent to every Fellow residing in the United Kingdom. And no other business than that of which notice has been thus given shall be entered upon or discussed at such meeting.

4. Not fewer than one hundred Fellows must be present to pass any resolution at a Special General Meeting; and no such resolution shall be carried unless supported by two-thirds of the Fellows voting.

Sect. 3.—Ordinary Meetings of the Society.

1. The Ordinary Meetings shall be held on the evenings of the second and fourth Monday of every month during the Session; or otherwise as judged expedient by the Council.

2. Fellows will be admitted to the Meetings, on showing their "Fellow's Ticket," which will be sent to all whose Subscriptions are not in arrear, at the commencement of each Session.

3. One Visitor may be introduced personally by each Fellow present, or by a Fellow's Ticket transferred for the occasion. Visitors may also be admitted by invitation of the Council.

4. At the Ordinary Meetings, the order of proceeding shall be as follows:—

A. The Minutes of the last Meeting shall be read, and, if their accuracy be not questioned, signed by the President or Chairman.

B. Result of Ballot of Candidates and names of Proposed Candidates shall be announced.

C. Papers and communications shall then be read and discussed.

5. At the Ordinary Meetings of the Society nothing relating to its regulations or management shall be brought forward. But the Minute-Book of the Council shall be on the table at each Meeting; and extracts therefrom may be read to the Meeting on the requisition of any Fellow.

6. On occasions which the President shall decide to be of exceptional interest, and which shall be duly advertised in the Daily Newspapers, ordinary Tickets will not be available; but written or personal applications from Fellows will be received at the Office of the Society for Orders of Admission for themselves (single tickets), or for themselves and one friend (double tickets), up to a date to be notified by Circular; and on that date such seats as may remain after seating all Fellows who have applied shall be allotted to the guests of Fellows in the order of application.

7. On such occasions as described in Rule 6, Eighty Seats shall be reserved for Members of Council and their friends; and Fifty Reserved Seats for Visitors of distinction shall be at the disposal of the President.

CHAPTER VII.

COUNCIL AND OFFICERS OF THE SOCIETY.

Sect. 1.—Council.

1. THE government of the Society, and the management of all its concerns, are entrusted to the Council, subject to the provisions of the Charter and the Bye-Laws of the Society.

2. The President, any one of the Vice-Presidents, or any three other Members of the Council, may at any time call a Meeting of the Council; and when such Meeting is to be held, every Member of the Council residing in the United Kingdom shall be summoned by letter.

3. In all Meetings of the Council, five shall be a quorum; and all questions shall be decided by vote, unless a ballot be demanded. Any determination of the Council, whether by vote or ballot, shall, at the desire of any two Fellows present, be deferred to the succeeding Meeting; but no question shall be more than once so deferred.

4. Minutes of the Proceedings of every Meeting of the Council shall be taken in a rough book by one of the Secretaries, or, in case of their absence, by some Member of Council whom the President or Chairman shall appoint for the occasion. The Minutes shall be printed and transferred to a Minute-Book to be kept for that purpose, and read at the next Meeting of the Council, and signed by the President or Chairman.

5. The Accounts of the Society shall be examined by the Council from time to time; and at the Anniversary General Meeting the Council shall present a complete statement thereof, together with a Report on the general affairs of the Society during the preceding year.

6. The Council may refer particular subjects to Committees, to be named by the President or Chairman; and such Committees shall report to the Council the result of their proceedings.

7. There shall also be permanent working Committees of Council nominated by the President, the number, designation, and purposes of which shall be arranged by the Council as, from time to time, may seem necessary.

8. The Council may appoint persons, not being Members of the Council, to be salaried Officers, Clerks, or Servants, for carrying on the necessary concerns of the Society; and may define the duties to be performed by them respectively; and may allow to them respectively such salaries, gratuities, and privileges, as to them, the Council, may seem proper; and may suspend or discharge any Officer, Clerk, or Servant from office, whenever there shall seem to them occasion for so doing.

Sect. 2.—President.

1. The President when present is Chairman of the Council, of all Committees, and of all Meetings of the Fellows whether Ordinary or Special.

2. He shall execute, and cause to be executed, the Bye-Laws of the Society; shall see that all the Officers of the Society perform the duties assigned to them; shall call for Reports and Accounts from Committees and persons; shall cause of his own authority Special Meetings of the Council and of Committees to be summoned; and shall propose, from time to time, to the Council such measures as shall appear to him conducive to the welfare of the Society.

3. As Chairman of the Council he shall appoint Referees to examine and report on original Papers communicated to the Society, previous to their publication.

4. It is his duty, conjointly with the Council, to consider and resolve on the names of Fellows who are to go out of the Council, and of those to be recommended to the Anniversary Meeting to fill up the vacancies.

5. When prevented from being present at the meetings of the Fellows or Council, or from otherwise attending to the current business of the Society, he will be expected to give timely notice thereof to one of the Vice-Presidents, or, in their absence, to some other Member of the Council, who may exercise his authority until the next meeting of the Council.

6. In all Meetings of the Society and Council, except in the cases otherwise provided for, the decision of a majority of the Fellows voting shall be considered as the decision of the Meeting, the President or Chairman having only a casting vote.

Sect. 3.—Vice-Presidents.

1. One of the Vice-Presidents to be nominated by the Council shall exercise the authority of the President when absent.

2. The Vice-Presidents, by virtue of their office, shall be Members of all the permanent Working Committees of the Council.

Sect. 4.—Treasurer.

1. The Treasurer is ex-officio one of the Trustees of the Society; and the Funds of the Society shall be vested in his name, and in those of the two other Trustees.

2. The Treasurer has special charge of all Accounts; and shall see to the collecting of all sums of money due to the Society.

3. He shall, of his own authority, appoint a Collector, for whom he shall be responsible, and who shall receive a reasonable remuneration; and the money collected shall immediately be paid to the Bankers of the Society.

4. The Treasurer, in concert with the Secretary, shall keep a complete List of the Fellows of the Society, with the name and address of each accurately set forth; which List, with the other Books of Account, shall be laid on the table at every Ordinary Meeting of the Council.

5. The Accounts of the Treasurer shall be annually audited at the discretion of the Council either by a Chartered Accountant or by four Fellows, two selected from the general body of the Fellows, and two from the Council, proposed by the President or Chairman, and approved by the first Ordinary Meeting held in the month of February. No drafts on the Society's Bankers shall be paid unless signed by two of the Council and the Secretary.

Sect. 5.—Honorary Secretaries.

Of the three Members of the Council who are elected as Honorary Secretaries by the Society, two shall be General Secretaries and one the Foreign Secretary. The Honorary Secretaries shall assist the President in the performance of his duties, and shall exercise such other powers as the Council shall delegate to them from time to time. The Honorary Secretaries, by virtue of their office, shall be Members of all the permanent Working Committees of the Council.

Sect. 6.—Secretary.

The Secretary shall be a salaried officer, appointed by and responsible to the Council, and shall be the Editor of the Society's publications. His further duties shall be such as are from time to time determined by the Council.

III.

THE HOUSE.

FROM 1830 to 1840 the Society met in the rooms of the Horticultural Society in Regent Street, by arrangement with Dr. Robert Brown, the great botanist and one of the founders of our Society.

From 1840 to 1854 the Society's rooms were at 3, Waterloo Place, and meetings were latterly held at King's College.

From 1854 to 1870 the Society had a lease of 15, Whitehall Place, and the meetings were held in our library, which had been built for a ball-room. The theatre of the United Service Institution was lent to us for large meetings. From 1858 to 1870 the meetings were in the Royal Society's Hall, in the wing of Burlington House, since pulled down.

In 1870 the freehold of 1, Savile Row was purchased for £14,257. The alterations cost £3,798, removal £1,074, dilapidations at 15, Whitehall Place, £334—total, £19,733. Our funded capital was then £19,250. A sum of £18,250 was sold out. Since 1870 our meetings have been held in the hall of the University of London, but on exceptional occasions, such as the return of Mr. Stanley and Dr. Nansen, the Albert Hall, or some other large hall, has been hired.

In 1894 there was an expenditure of £1,478 to improve the accommodation at 1, Savile Row, and on December 12th of that year the President gave a reception to the Fellows and their families to afford them an opportunity of becoming acquainted with their improved premises. Further improvements were carried out in 1897.

In the entrance hall there are marble busts of Sir Roderick Murchison and Mr. Greenough in niches, and between them there is a board with the names of our Medallists in gold letters. Above the board there is a medallion of Sir John Franklin. Facing the entrance is a fine portrait in oil of Sir James Ross. Busts of Livingstone and Joseph Thomson, the latter in marble, are placed on either side of the map-room door. A table with a glass case, and another glass case against the wall—in the hall—contain some relics belonging to the Society, as will be seen in the following list. On the left-hand side of the hall is the office, and opening out of the hall behind is the Map-room. On the first floor on the left is the Council Room, used by Fellows as a reading-room when the Council is not sitting; on the right is the central room of the Library, behind which is the Gallery in which the bulk of the books are arranged. On the second floor is the Secretary's room, and opposite is the Upper Library and Librarian's room, with two other rooms, both filled with books. On the third floor the Map Drawing Rooms and the Map Mounting Room are on the left, and on the right is a room, also well filled with books, intended as a Smoking Room, but at present used as an Instruction Room, while in

PUBLICATIONS.

THE JOURNAL.

ACCORDING to the Bye-Laws of the Society, Chapter II., Section I., "The Society shall from time to time, under the superintendence of the Council, publish Transactions, and accompany them with Maps and Illustrations, as occasion may require."

The Society has carried out this bye-law from the beginning. The first volume of the "Journal of the Royal Geographical Society of London" was issued in 1832; it contained 284 pages, and included the papers read at the Meetings from November, 1830, to June, 1831, the last paper being an account of the discovery of the lower course of the Niger by Richard and John Lander. There were in all thirteen such papers. But from the first it was recognised as part of the duty of the Society to publish not only the papers read at its meetings, but also to take cognisance of matters of geographical interest in general. Under the head of "Analyses," the volume contains ten reviews, and under that of "Miscellaneous" a series of eight notices on various geographical topics. It also contains a report of the proceedings at the opening meeting of the Society on July 16th, 1830, with Sir John Barrow in the chair; and it is of interest to note the wide conception even then entertained as to the Society's functions. Sir John Barrow in his address pointed out that among the most important matters that would engage the attention of the Society would be "the composition of maps illustrative of particular branches of geographical knowledge, more especially those relating to orology, hydrology, and geology;" the establishment of more scientific divisions of the earth's surface; "a more uniform and systematic orthography than has hitherto been observed....and a more precise and copious vocabulary; the preparation and improvement of road-books for different countries, of gazetteers, of geographical and statistical tables, and of such matters as are of general utility."

The Society, it will be admitted, has through its publications done a vast amount of good work since its foundation, but much yet remains to be done before the objects referred to in the above regulations are fulfilled. The second volume of the Journal contained 350 pages, and the tenth volume nearly double that number. Lists of the additions to the library were given and of other publications, giving in a less systematic way, and in a more elementary form, the bibliographies which now form so important a feature of The Geographical Journal. It must be said, however, that in succeeding years the size of the Journal varied between 400 and 700 pages, and although always the head of "Monthly Record" many pages each month are devoted to notes and news, classified under different heads. One of the most valuable features is the exhaustive bibliography of new books and papers and articles in the publications of societies and in periodicals relating to the various departments of geography, and also the list of new maps issued each month. Notes are appended in many cases to the titles of books and maps, while the more important publications are dealt with at greater length. The new Journal circulates to a considerable extent beyond the limit of the Society's Fellows.

SPECIAL PUBLICATIONS.

In the announcement prefixed to the last volume of the old Journal it was stated that papers of more than ordinary length and great value would be issued as supplements to the Proceedings. As a matter of fact supplementary volumes were occasionally issued from the beginning. Thus in 1836 were issued Howse's "Grammar of the Cree Language" and Graah's "Narrative of an Expedition to the East Coast of Greenland," translated from the Danish by G. Gordon M'Dougall. In 1873 Burton's "The Land of Cazembe" was issued by the Society, and in 1875 the volume of "Arctic Papers" for the use of the Nares Arctic Expedition. The "Hints to Travellers" is referred to specially below.

As "Supplementary Papers" to the new series of "Proceedings" thirty-two separate publications, memoirs and records of travel were issued between 1882 and 1893. These are collected into four large volumes. Some of the memoirs contained in these volumes are of great value; such as the late Colborne Baber's "Travels and Researches in Western China" (200 pages); "Progress of Discovery on the Coasts of New Guinea," by Sir Clements Markham; "Bibliographies of the Barbary States," by Sir Lambert Playfair; "On the Measurement of Heights by Barometer," by the late John Ball; "Journey of Carey and Dalglish in Chinese Turkestan;" "Modern and Ancient Roads in Eastern Asia Minor," by D. G. Hogarth and J. A. R. Munro; "The Historical Geography of Asia Minor," by Professor W. M. Ramsay, which occupies the whole of Volume IV. Mr. Keltie's "Report on Geographical Education," which appeared originally as a supplementary paper, was also issued as a separate volume.

The issue of Extra Volumes has been continued along with the new Geographical Journal; they are in a different and more attractive form than the former Supplementary Papers. The following volumes have been issued:—

"The Pamirs and the Source of the Oxus," by the Right Hon. George N. Curzon, M.P. "Map of Persia, with a Memorandum and Index," by the Right Hon. George N. Curzon, M.P. "The Topography of the Battlefield of Platea," by G. B. Grundy, B.A. "Notes on the Kuril Islands,"

by Captain H. J. Snow. "Eastern Persian Irak," by General A. Houtum-Schindler. "A Journey on the Upper Mekong, Siam," by H. Warington Smyth. "British New Guinea: Country and People," by Sir William Macgregor, K.C.M.G., C.B. "Supplement to the Bibliography of Algeria," by Sir R. Lambert Playfair, K.C.M.G. "Historical Atlas of the Chinese Empire," by E. L. Oxenham.

A large volume containing the account of Sarat Chandra Das's visit to Lhasa is in course of preparation; and another on Siam, with a new map, by James McCarthy, Government Surveyor of Siam. The special maps which have been published are referred to elsewhere.

"HINTS TO TRAVELLERS."

In consequence of the frequent applications made to the Council of the Royal Geographical Society by travellers about to set out for imperfectly-known countries, for instructions by which they might make their labours useful to geography, Colonel Jackson, the Secretary from 1840 to 1847, prepared a pamphlet entitled "What to Observe; or, the Traveller's Remembrancer," which went through four editions. In 1854 the Council requested the late Admiral Fitzroy and Lieut. Raper, R.N., to consider what instrumental outfit might best be recommended to explorers. Their report, together with suggestions submitted to them by Admirals Smyth and Beechey, Col. Sykes, and Mr. Francis Galton, was published first in the Journal for 1854, and afterwards issued in pamphlet form under the title of "Hints to Travellers."

The exhaustion of the first edition led, in 1864, to the revision and enlargement of the original work by a Committee of the Council, consisting of Sir George Back, Admiral Collinson, and Mr. Francis Galton, which was published as the second edition. In 1871 a third edition, under the same editorship, was published, and this was followed in 1878 by the fourth, under the sole editorship of Mr. Francis Galton, and in a new form convenient for pocket use.

In 1883 the Council, anxious to increase the usefulness of the volume, and to make it meet the higher requirements of a new generation of young travellers, many of whom had received scientific training from the Society's instructor, appointed an Editorial Sub-Committee, consisting of Col. H. H. Godwin Austen, Mr. J. K. Laughton, and Mr. Douglas W. Freshfield, to remodel the "Hints."

The "Hints on Practical Astronomy and Surveying"—the principal portion of the work—were placed in the hands of Mr. Coles, the Society's Map Curator, and Instructor in Practical Astronomy and Surveying. The "Hints on Collections in Natural History" were expanded by Mr. H. W. Bates, and "Hints on How and What to Observe in other Sciences—Geology and Anthropology," were added by Mr. W. T. Blanford and Mr. E. B. Tylor. The section on "Photography" was re-written by Mr. W. F. Donkin, "Meteorology" by Mr. R. Strachan, "Medical Hints" by Mr. G. E. Dobson, and "General Hints on Outfit" by Messrs. E. Whympere, Col. J. A. Grant, C.B., and Mr. J. Thomson.

The fifth edition was exhausted in 1889, and the production of the sixth was commenced under the editorship of Capt. (now Adm. Sir) W. J. L. Wharton, R.N., the Hydrographer to the Admiralty, and Mr. Douglas Freshfield. No material alterations were made in the character of the book, but it received such corrections and additions as were considered necessary to increase its usefulness. All the sections were carefully revised. The "Hints on Meteorology" were re-written by Mr. H. F. Blanford, those on "Photography" were brought up to date by Capt. Abney, "Hints on Industry and Commerce" were furnished by Mr. J. S. Keltie, and an index was added.

In 1893 all the sixth edition had been sold, and the seventh edition was brought out under the same editorship as the sixth. Preliminary Hints were added by Mr. D. W. Freshfield, the Astronomical and Surveying section was revised and considerably expanded by Mr. Coles, the "Medical Hints" were re-written by Surgeon-Major T. H. Parke, "Hints on Photography" were revised and brought up to date by Mr. J. Thomson, the "Natural History" notes were revised by Mr. P. L. Sclater.

The fact that 2500 copies of the seventh edition of "Hints to Travellers" have been sold to Fellows, officers, travellers, and explorers is sufficient evidence of the estimation in which it is held by the class for whose use it was prepared. A new edition is in preparation.

ORTHOGRAPHY OF GEOGRAPHICAL NAMES.

THE following Memorandum, with Rules on the Orthography of Geographical Names, was drawn up in 1891 and revised in 1893 and 1894:—

In 1878 the Council of the R.G.S., impressed with the necessity of endeavouring to reduce the confusion existing in British maps with regard to the spelling of geographical names, in consequence of the variety of systems of orthography used by travellers and others to represent the sound of native place-names in different parts of the world, formally adopting the general principle which had been long used by many, and the recognition of which had been steadily gaining ground, viz., that in writing geographical native names vowels should have their Italian significance and consonants that which they have in the English language.

This broad principle required elucidation in its details, and a system based upon it was consequently drawn up with the intention of representing the principal syllabic sounds.

It will be evident to all who consider the subject, that to ensure a fairly correct pronunciation of geographical names by an English-speaking person an arbitrary system of orthography is a necessity. It is hardly too much to say that in the English language every possible combination of letters has more than one possible pronunciation. A strange word or name, even in our own language, is frequently mispronounced. How much more with words of languages utterly unknown to the reader.

The same necessity does not arise in most continental languages. In them a definite combination of letters indicates a definite sound, and each nation consequently has spelt foreign words in accordance with the orthographic rules of its own language.

It was therefore not anticipated that foreign nations would effect any change in the form of orthography used in their maps, and the needs of the English-speaking communities were alone considered.

The object aimed at was to provide a system which should be simple enough for any educated person to master with the minimum of trouble, and which at the same time would afford an approximation to the sound of a place-name such as a native might recognise. No attempt was made to represent the numberless delicate inflexions of sound and tone which belong to every language, often to different dialects of the same language. For it was felt not only that such a task would be impossible, but that an attempt to provide for such niceties would defeat the object.

The adoption by others of the system thus settled has been more general than the Council ventured to hope.

The charts and maps issued by the Admiralty and War Office have been, since 1885, compiled and extensively revised in accordance with it. The Foreign and Colonial Offices have accepted it, and the latter has communicated with the Colonies requesting them to carry it out in respect to names of native origin.

Even more important, however, than these adhesions is the recent action of the Government of the United States of America, which, after an exhaustive inquiry, has adopted a system in close conformity with that of the R.G.S., and has directed that the spelling of all names in their vast territories should, in cases where the orthography is at present doubtful, be settled authoritatively by a Committee appointed for the purpose.

The two great English-speaking nations are thus working in harmony.

Contrary to expectation, but highly satisfactory, is the news that France and Germany have both formulated systems of orthography for foreign words, which in many details agree with the English system.

The Council of the R.G.S., by printing the Rules in Hints to Travellers, and by other means, have endeavoured to ensure that all travellers connected with the Society should be made aware of them; but as it is possible that some bodies and persons interested in the question may still be in ignorance of their existence and general acceptance, they feel that the time has come to again publish them as widely as possible, and to take every means in their power to aid the progress of the reform.

To this end, and with a view to still closer uniformity in geographical nomenclature in revisions of editions of published maps, a gigantic task requiring many years to carry out, the Council have decided to take steps to commence tentatively indexes of a few regions, in which the place-names will be recorded in the accepted form.

RULES.

The Rules referred to are as follows:—

1. No change is made in the orthography of foreign names in countries which use Roman letters: thus Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, &c., names will be spelt as by the respective nations.
2. Neither is change made in the spelling of such names in languages which are not written in Roman character as have become by long usage familiar to English readers: thus Calcutta, Cutch, Celebes, Mecca, &c., will be retained in their present form.

3. The true sound of the word as locally pronounced will be taken as the basis of the spelling.

4. An approximation, however, to the sound is alone aimed at. A system which would attempt to represent the more delicate inflexions of sound and accent would be so complicated as only to defeat itself. Those who desire a more accurate pronunciation of the written name must learn it on the spot by a study of local accent and peculiarities.

5. The broad features of the system are:—

- (a) That vowels are pronounced as in Italian and consonants as in English.
- (b) Every letter is pronounced, and no redundant letters are introduced. When two vowels come together, each one is sounded, though the result, when spoken quickly, is sometimes scarcely to be distinguished from a single sound, as in ai, au, ei.
- (c) One accent only is used, the acute, to denote the syllable on which stress is laid. This is very important, as the sounds of many names are entirely altered by the misplacement of this “stress.”

6. Indian names are accepted as spelt in Hunter's Gazetteer of India, 1881.

7. In the case of native names in countries under the dominion of other European Powers in whose maps, charts, &c., the spelling is given according to the system adopted by that Power, such orthography should be as a rule disregarded, and the name spelt according to the British system, in order that the proper pronunciation may be approximately known. Exceptions should be in cases where the spelling has become by custom fixed, and occasionally it may be desirable to give both forms.

8. Generic geographical terms, e.g., those for Island, River, Mountain, &c., should be as a rule given in the native form. In the case of European countries, translation into English, where this has been the custom, should be retained, e.g., Cape Ortegal, not Cabo Ortegal, River Seine, not Fleuve Seine.

N.B.—On any printed map or MS. document, an explanatory table, giving the English equivalents of the generic terms used, should of necessity be inserted.

The following amplification of these rules explains their application:—

Letters	Pronunciation and Remarks.	Examples.
a	ah, a as in father	Java, Banána, Somáli.
e	eh, a as in fate	Bari.
i	English e ; i as in rarine ; the sound of ee in beet . Thus, not Ferjee , but	Tel-el-Kebír, Oléleh, Ym.
o	o as in mote	Medína, Levúka, Peru.
u	long u as in flute ; the sound of oo in boot . oo or ou should never be employed for this sound. Thus, not Zooloo , but	Fiji, Hindi.
	All vowels are shortened in sound by doubling the following consonant	Tokyo.
	Doubling of a vowel is only necessary where there is a distinct repetition of the single sound.	Zulu, Sumatra.
ni	as in aíle , or English i as in ice	Yarra, Tanna, Mecca.
au	ow as in how	Jidda, Bonny.*
ao	is slightly different from above	Nuulúá, Oosima.
aw	when followed by a consonant or at the end of a word, as in law
b	English b .
c	is always soft, but is so nearly the sound of s that it should be seldom used. If Celébes were not already recognised it would be written Selébes .	Celébes.
ch	is always soft as in church
d	English d .	Chingchin.
f	English f . ph should not be used for the sound of f . Thus, not Haiphong , but
g	is always hard. (Soft g is given by j)	Haifong, Nafa.
h	is always pronounced when inserted.	Galápagos.
hw	as in what ; better rendered by hw than by wh , or h followed by a vowel; thus Hwang ho , not Whang ho , or Hoang ho .	Hwang ho, Ngan hwi.
j	English j . Dj should never be put for this sound .
k	English k . It should always be put for the hard c . Thus, not Corea , but	Japan, Jinchuen.
kh	The Oriental guttural	Korea.
gh	is another guttural, as in the Turkish	Khan.
m	As in English.
n
ng	has two separate sounds, the one hard as in the English word finger , the other as in singer . As these two sounds are rarely employed in the same locality, no attempt is made to distinguish between them.
p	As in English.
ph	As in loophole	Chemulpho, Mokpho.
th	stands both for its sound in thing , and as in this . The former is most common.	Bethlehem.

* The y is retained as a terminal in this word under Rule 2 above. The word is given as a familiar example of the alteration in sound caused by the second consonant.

Letters.	Pronunciation and Remarks.	Examples.
q	should never be employed; qu (in quiver) is given as kw When qu has the sound of k as in quoit , it should be given by k .	Kwangtung.
r	} As in English.	Sawákin.
w
x	is always a consonant, as in yarl , and therefore should never be used as a terminal, i or e being substituted as the sound may require. Thus, not Mikindány, wady , but not Kwaly , but	Kikúyu.
z	English z	Mikindáni, wadi.
zh	The French j , or as s in treasure Accents should not generally be used, but where there is a very decided emphatic syllable or stress, which affects the sound of the word, it should be marked by an acute accent.	Kwale. Zulu. Muzhdaha. Tongatábu, Galápagos. Paláwan, Saráwak.

LIBRARY.

HISTORICAL.

THE Library was founded by the gift of books by the original members of the Society, 400 volumes forming the nucleus in 1832; but the growth of the collection was slow and intermittent until the acquisition of rooms in Waterloo Place, in 1841, when an opportunity was for the first time given of properly arranging the books. The wish was then expressed by the Council "that no work relating to Geography, no map or chart extant, should be wanting to the Library." In 1850 the number of volumes was about 4000, and two years later the exchange of publications with other societies was inaugurated, and a special grant was set apart by the Council annually for the purchase of books. Many volumes continued to be presented and bequeathed by Fellows interested in the welfare of the Library, and by 1872, when the books were arranged in the present premises at Savile Row, it had grown to be a collection of very great value. In 1880 the number of volumes was about 20,000; and the steady acquisitions since then have raised it to the rank of the finest geographical library in the world. In 1894 an extensive alteration of the Society's House permitted of a large expansion of the Library, and allowed the crowded shelves to be relieved and the works re-arranged; but the acquisition of fresh accessions goes on at an increasing rate, and before many years space must again be sought for.

PRESENT CONDITION.

A careful estimate of the contents of the Library at the end of December, 1897, gave the total number of volumes, in round numbers, as 31,000: composed of 15,300 volumes of bound books, 6,900 pamphlets or reprints in cardboard covers, and 8,800 volumes of serial publications. The acquisitions number about 750 volumes per annum. By exchange with fifty societies and periodicals in the United Kingdom about 95 volumes are received annually, and by exchange with 150 colonial and foreign societies and periodicals about 160 volumes are received: a total of 200 exchanges yielding 255 volumes per year. The other works are either presented by the authors or by Government Departments, placed in the Library after being noticed in the Geographical Journal, to which they are sent by the publishers, or purchased out of the special grant voted annually by the Council.

It was apparently the intention when the Library was founded to limit its contents to works of a purely geographical character, and at first books of travel preponderated. Later, works on ethnology, geology, history, and other allied subjects were added; but finally the exigencies of space have again demanded the restriction of accessions to strictly geographical works.

The nucleus of the Library consists of descriptions of travel and exploration in all parts of the world, some departments being much more satisfactorily represented than others. Perhaps the most comprehensive is the division dealing with Polar exploration, from which few of the chief works are wanting. The Collections of Travels are also fairly satisfactory, the early English collections of Eden (1577), Hakluyt (1589), and Purchas (1617) being well represented, besides the later collections of Astley, Burney, Callander, Churchill, Dalrymple, Harris, Kerr, Phillips, and Pinkerton. Foreign collections, such as those of Eyriès, Gottfried, Ramusio, and the French, German and Dutch compilations founded on Astley, are also well represented. The chief defect is the absence of a complete set of De Bry's unrivalled "Travels," the market value of which is about £500; but an incomplete set of six volumes in excellent preservation, with the beautiful copper-plates perfectly fresh and unstained, was procured in 1897 at the sale of the Ashburnham Library.

In works of general geography the Library is not so rich as it might be. Many of the early classics are wanting. The earliest "Geographia" of Ptolemy in the possession of the Society is the Latin folio edition published at Strasburg in 1525; but no attempt has been made to secure costly bibliographical curiosities for the Library at the expense of works of practical utility to geographers. The most recent general works in French and German are liberally represented on the shelves, and no English treatises of real importance—they are unfortunately very few—are absent. The curious sixteenth-century "Cosmographia" of Sebastian Munster is a mine of quaint geographical information and illustrations, representing the knowledge of the middle-ages not yet displaced by results of modern discovery. The "Cosmographia" of Apian and Gemma Frisius, on the other hand, is a fitting introduction to the fine works on mathematical geography of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, in which the Library is comparatively rich.

The history of discovery is represented by many valuable works, not only in such collections as the publications of the Hakluyt Society and the "Recueil de Voyages," but also by the original books. The later literature of the discovery of America is fairly complete, among the most remarkable works being the great "Raccolta di Documenti e Studi" of the Italian Commission, and the beautifully illustrated "Christobal Colon" by Asensio.

In physical geography there are still many gaps, and no effort has recently been made to include geological works, which, during the presidency of Sir Roderick Murchison, were acquired in considerable numbers. The Ethnology section also, with the subdivision on languages, has only been partially kept up to date, on account of the great development of these subjects and the existence of societies specially devoted to their study. The preservation of biographies of geographers is viewed as an important purpose of the Library. Hence, biographical dictionaries find a place on the shelves, and in default of more elaborate works, obituary notices, made up in pamphlet form, are preserved.

In a few instances collections of books presented or purchased have been kept apart from the main Library; for example, the unrivalled collection of works on Morocco, made by the late Dr. Robert Brown, and the interesting series of MSS. plans for a history of the Arctic regions made by the late Captain Parker Snow. It is to be hoped that the presentation of rare or inaccessible works by Fellows will continue. Many interesting papers are lost to the Society by being published in periodicals of a non-geographical character. Separate copies of these, presented by the authors, are always welcomed.

The Transactions and Periodicals are of three classes: (1) The official publications of Government Departments or international institutions of a geographical character, such as Sailing Directions, Census Reports, Records of Surveys, etc. (2) Geographical publications, either in the form of journals published weekly, monthly or quarterly, or the transactions of societies wholly or mainly devoted to geography. This department is practically complete for recent years. (3) Publications of a more general kind in which geographical papers are frequently published, including the transactions of Royal Societies and Academies, and high class journals such as the Quarterly Review, the Nineteenth Century, the Fortnightly Review, the Contemporary Review, Blackwood's Magazine, and the leading weekly illustrated papers. No periodical which does not frequently publish geographical papers is subscribed for.

It is necessary to refer to the languages represented in the Library. While English books predominate, works in French and German are treated on an exactly equal footing so far as selection is concerned. Books in other languages, such as Italian, Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, Swedish and Danish, are purchased only when they are of quite exceptional importance, and books in Russian, the other Slavonic languages, Hungarian, Finnish, Greek, Latin and Oriental languages are practically never bought, although a number have been presented. The result of a careful estimate shows that about 51 per cent. of the books in the Library are in English, 21 per cent. in French, 16 per cent. in German, and 12 per cent. in other languages. Of books dealing with geography as a science in general the greater number are in German.

ARRANGEMENT OF BOOKS.

At the extensive re-arrangement of the Library in 1894 an attempt was made to place the unique resources of the Society more readily at the service of Fellows than had been the case previously. The introduction of the electric light at that time added much to the convenience of reference, and enabled some dark corners to be utilised for storing books. Unfortunately the open fires used throughout the house continue as an element of danger to the Library and much aggravate the plague of dust. The damage done by the long-continued use of gas has recently necessitated the rebinding of several hundred volumes.

The books throughout are arranged according to subject. The main room of the Library is on the first floor, where the Assistant-Librarian is always in attendance. Two sides of the room are occupied by books of reference and the unbound numbers of the current volumes of periodicals kept in separate boxes. A revolving bookcase in one corner contains a set of the last edition of the best English and foreign guide-books; another small case contains a selection of handsomely illustrated books of large quarto size, which it is inconvenient to place on the ordinary shelves. The new books received by the Society, and a selection of the books just ready for borrowing, stand upon the table for inspection. Two cases on the south wall are occupied by Arctic books; and two cases by books relating to the British Islands. The west wall contains books dealing with the different countries of Europe, except Russia, those for each country by itself.

The gallery opening from this room contains the rest of the books capable of topographic arrangement, beginning at the north-west corner with Russia, and going on with Asia, Australia, Africa, North America, and South America. The south-eastern corner of the gallery contains sailing directions and other works under the charge of the Map-Curator, and the Librarian is not responsible for their arrangement, although for convenience they are entered in the Library Catalogue.

The landing on the first floor is fitted with glazed presses containing bound volumes of serials, and the shelves round the Council Room are also occupied by similar works. In the Council Room there are also some very large illustrated works, such as the elephant-folio account of the Temple of Borobodoer in Java, and the atlases of plates of the French circumnavigations of the last century.

The landings on the second floor and the Secretary's ante-room are fully taken up with serial publications, many of them in Russian and Dutch.

The Upper Library is devoted to general works on geography. It is furnished with tables for the convenience of Fellows engaged in geographical literary work, and the work on the Subject Catalogue is also carried on in it. Ancient and historical geography, works of general reference, like the "Encyclopædia Britannica," books on geology, meteorology, oceanography, ethnography, and biography are arranged here, each division by itself. A large section is also devoted to collections of travels, and Dr. Brown's collection of works on Morocco is placed in one of the bays.

The Librarian's Room contains a number of works of reference—bibliographies, catalogues, dictionaries, books on physical and economic geography, and school-books. Here also is the card subject catalogue of acquisitions since 1892, which is always kept up to date.

On the third floor some of the less frequently referred to sets of Transactions are placed in the Instruction Room.

Throughout the Library the bookcases are numbered consecutively, 1 to 102 on the first floor, 103 to 159 on the second floor, and 160 to 176 on the third. Each shelf is lettered alphabetically from above downward, the top shelf in each case being called A. Thus each shelf in the Library is denoted by a number and letter from 1A to 176G. The total shelf space will accommodate rather less than 40,000 volumes of average size.

All the books are marked in pencil with the number of the shelf on which they are placed, and these press-marks are entered in a copy of the Catalogue, so that any book may be found readily. A "Desiderata Book" is provided, in which Fellows are invited to insert the title of any work they desire to see added to the Library.

WORKING OF THE LIBRARY.

Each book or pamphlet as it is received is entered in the Accession Book, and the title copied for publication in the Journal. The book is then laid on the table for three months, and afterwards placed on the shelf containing other works of a similar kind. The pamphlets are put in boards by the Society's map-mounter, and are thereafter treated exactly like books. Many of the foreign books are published in paper covers, and these have to be bound, a stout cloth binding being in almost all cases preferred to leather, experience having shown that cloth resists the London atmosphere much better than any leather binding. A number of old books formerly bound in calf or morocco have to be rebound in cloth each year. A special colour of cloth is used for binding books belonging to each section of the Library; but new books sent out in publishers' covers are not rebound until they fall to pieces.

The time of the Library staff is largely occupied by the routine of entering and cataloguing the new accessions, and in attending to Fellows who call in order to consult or to borrow books. Frequent demands are also made by Government Offices and by learned Societies for special information or references to geographical literature, all of which are attended to. The number of borrowers per week averaged seventeen in 1895, eighteen in 1896, nearly twenty-two in 1897, and over twenty-one in 1898; but this gives little clue to the actual amount of work involved; a few minutes suffices in some cases, in others as much as an hour may be necessary in looking for books containing the information which is required.

The use of the Library for purposes of geographical work has greatly extended since a special room was set apart for that purpose. Occasionally one person may come daily for a month or more and consult many hundred volumes; and the room is rarely without at least one worker. As a matter of courtesy the members of foreign geographical societies visiting this country in order to consult the libraries are freely accorded the privileges of Fellows, so far as reference to the books is concerned.

A good deal of work has also to be done by letter, some of the questions asked often involving a great deal of troublesome hunting through works of reference before the correct reply can be found.

THE CATALOGUES.

The first Catalogue of the Library was prepared by the Secretary, Dr. Norton Shaw, in 1852, and was superseded in 1865 by a fresh volume of 542 pages, giving the contents of the Library down to that date. The entries were all arranged in one alphabet under authors' names as far as possible, but with long headings for "Transactions, Voyages," etc.

In 1871 Mr. G. M. Evans, of the British Museum, compiled a supplement of 136 pages, which included the accessions down to 1870. Mr. E. C. Rye, Librarian of the Society, brought out a second supplement coming down to 1880. This forms a volume of 380 pages, and while necessarily conforming to the previous arrangement, it is an admirable piece of work most conscientiously performed. When the time came for the next decade of accessions to be catalogued, the Library Committee decided not to issue it as a third supplement, because the original Catalogue was then out of print. It was accordingly resolved to reprint the old catalogue and supplements together with the new supplement, all carefully re-arranged and revised; and this was done. The volume was prepared by the present Librarian, issued early in 1895, and is a complete list of the contents of the Library down to the end of 1893. It is a volume of nearly 840 pages, printed for the most part in double column. The first 520 pages form an Authors' catalogue, with 18,000 entries arranged alphabetically under authors' names. Of these 3,800 entries are cross-references.

Books are in each case distinguished from pamphlets. Three appendices follow; the first, of 88 pages, gives an analysis of the collections of travels arranged alphabetically, with 3,300 entries. Appendix II., of 149 pages, contains 5,600 entries, dealing with anonymous and official publications arranged geographically; and the 61 pages of Appendix III. contain a list of the serial publications arranged geographically, and requiring 1,600 entries.

This Catalogue is kept up to date by the publication, every month, of the accessions to the Library in the Geographical Journal. The compilation of the "Geographical Literature of the Month" is by no means the least arduous piece of Library routine, for it includes memoirs and articles in journals as well as separate books. Each article is glanced through by the Librarian and a note on the contents added in cases where the recording of the title is insufficient. The entries from two copies of this monthly bibliography are cut out, and one set is pasted on slips arranged alphabetically and kept in the Library for reference, and to form the nucleus of a new supplement.

In 1870 Mr. Evans prepared a Classified Catalogue, which is still useful, although of course much out of date. The arrangement was alphabetic, and the subjects entered were usually the names of places. A new subject catalogue of a complete kind is a most important desideratum. The Council having authorised the compilation of such a work, it was put in hand in 1893, and a good deal of time was occupied in getting over preliminary difficulties as to compilation and classification. Since 1892 the second copy of the notices in the "Literature of the Month" have been pasted on cards and arranged in geographical order by the Librarian, who, as the number of cards increased, was able to experiment on the best methods of classifying them. It was resolved to make these cards a nucleus for the great Subject Catalogue, which should thus commence by being up to date and be extended backwards to embrace the whole contents of the Library. The collection of title cards for this work was completed in January 1899, and numbers upwards of 100,000, including the contents of all the most important geographical journals and Transactions. In the selection of titles very important services were rendered by Mr. Edward Heawood, M.A. The cards have been classified into large divisions such as the continents, and the various departments of general geography, the sections being subdivided in accordance with the plan experimentally adopted. The usefulness of this catalogue has already been felt in its embryo state, and it will increase as the classification of the work approaches completion, and the necessary duplicate entries and cross-references have been prepared and arranged in their places. An incident in the preparation of the Subject Catalogue has been the attempt to construct a classification of geography such as will provide a place for recording every separate geographical fact and achievement.

The Library of the Society is being conducted with the view of making it an efficient engine of geographical progress, and not merely a repository for work done long ago. The arrangement of the shelves and catalogues is designed to afford the greatest possible facilities to Fellows desirous of studying any of the branches of geography, or consulting geographical literature, on any subject. During the last ten years the work of the Library has been greatly increased, and it shows no sign of diminution. The staff consists of the Librarian and two assistants.

REGULATIONS FOR THE LIBRARY AND MAP ROOM.

1. The Library shall be open to Fellows every day in the week except Sundays, Christmas Day, Good Friday, Bank Holidays, and on such other days as the Council may from time to time determine, from half-past Ten in the morning to half-past Four in the afternoon, except on Saturdays, when it shall close at One P.M. The Map Room shall be open to Fellows and the public on the same days and during the same hours as the Library.

2. Every Fellow of the Society is entitled (subject to the Bye-laws) to borrow as many as four volumes at one time, with the exception of Dictionaries, Encyclopædias, and other works of reference, Minute-Books, Manuscripts, Atlases, Books in loose sheets, unbound Numbers of Periodicals, Drawings and Prints, unless with the special written order of the President or one of the Secretaries. Maps, Charts, and Photographs can only be lent by the special sanction of the President or one of the Secretaries. New Works cannot be lent before the expiration of three months after receipt.

3. The title of every Book, Pamphlet, Map, or Work of any kind lent shall be entered in the Library-register, with the borrower's signature, unless applied for by letter in the borrower's hand.

4. No work of any kind can be retained longer than one month; but at the expiration of that period, or sooner, the same must be returned free of expense, and may then, upon re-entry, be again borrowed, provided that no application for it shall have been made in the meantime by any other Fellow.

5. Any Fellow requiring to consult a volume on the premises shall apply to the Librarian, or his Assistant, who will procure the same; and every such volume when done with shall be at once handed to the Librarian, or his Assistant, to be by him returned to its proper place.

6. In every case of loss or damage to any volume, or other property of the Society, the borrower shall make good the same; and all or any property shall be considered as lost, and recovery of its value be capable of being enforced, which is not returned within four months after application for it.

7. No stranger can be admitted to the Library except by the introduction of a Fellow.

8. Fellows transgressing any of the above Regulations shall be reported by the Secretary to the Council, when such steps will be taken as the case may require.

9. In consideration of the grant of £500 per annum from Her Majesty's Government, the Map Room of the Society shall be open to all persons seeking geographical information.

VII.

MAP ROOM.

THE Map Room receives a Government grant of £500 a year on condition that the Society's collection of maps shall be open to the public.

A book kept in the Map Room, in which the number of visitors is entered, shows that this privilege is appreciated, and that the maps are frequently consulted by Government Departments and the public. During the last three years there has been a great increase in the numbers making use of the Map Room.

In addition to manuscript maps, the Society's collection includes many valuable ancient atlases and maps, and no opportunity is lost of making up deficiencies. All the principal Government surveys in the British Empire are received from the Imperial, Indian, and Colonial Governments, while those of foreign countries are added to the collection as soon as they are published. All new maps and atlases, published in the United Kingdom or abroad, are submitted to the Map Committee, and, if approved of, are purchased; thus the Map Room collection is kept well up to date, and the most recent and reliable maps can always be consulted by the Fellows of the Society and the public. The number of sheets of maps in the Society's collection now exceeds 100,000.

The series of large maps, which have been constructed at different times to illustrate lectures, are in frequent request, and are lent to societies and to private individuals for a fee of £1 1s.

In 1884, on the suggestion of Mr. Douglas Freshfield, a beginning was made in the collection of photographs illustrative of the various regions of the world and of geographical subjects. The Society's collection of photographs and slides now exceeds 16,000.

Since it was decided to illustrate papers read before the Society with the dioptric light, the number of lantern slides has steadily increased, and as the majority of them have been produced from photographs taken by explorers, they form what is probably the best collection of geographical lantern slides in the world. These slides are lent to the Fellows and the public at a charge of 2s. a dozen.

The Map Room catalogues are all in manuscript, with the exception of one that was printed in 1882. They are arranged geographically, and the date when each map is received, together with its title, scale, size of sheet, author, place and date of publication, and donor, are entered. Each map, atlas, and set of photographs has its proper press mark, which enables it to be readily found.

Among the more important maps published by the Society are:—
 "Map of Eastern Equatorial Africa," by E. G. Ravenstein; "Persia, Afghanistan, and Beluchistan," compiled under the supervision of Lord Curzon of Kedleston; "The Karakoram Himalayas," by Sir Martin Conway; "Tibet and Surrounding Regions," compiled from the latest information.

A complete set of instruments, with other articles necessary for the equipment of an observer in the field, is placed under a glass case in the Map Room, as a guide to intending travellers, and to remind them of useful things which might otherwise be overlooked, and further information can be obtained from the Society's instructor. The staff of the Map Room consists of a Curator and two assistants.

MAP DRAWING.

As far as possible the maps published by the Society are compiled and drawn on the premises. In the Map-Drawing Room on the third floor are a chief draughtsman and two assistants. These are kept busy the whole year round examining and compiling the materials brought back by travellers from all parts of the world, and in executing special maps of particular regions from the best existing materials. The lithographing of the maps is done outside.

Beside the Map-Drawing Room is the Map-Mounter's Room, where all the maps acquired by the Society are mounted on cloth for their better preservation, and where all the pamphlets added to the Library are put into cases.

PART OF MAP ROOM.

SCIENTIFIC INSTRUCTION.

PREVIOUS to the year 1879 the only instruction given in practical astronomy and surveying to intending travellers was undertaken privately by the late Map Curator, Staff Commander George, R.N., and his successor, Mr. John Coles.

In the summer of 1879 the Council sanctioned a portion of a scheme proposed by the Secretary, Mr. Clements Markham, for giving instruction to intending travellers in the use of instruments for astronomical observations and surveying. Mr. Coles, the Map Curator, was appointed the instructor, and has held that position to the present day. The lessons are given in the Society's building, and an observatory has been built on the roof to facilitate instruction, surveying being taught in the country. It was arranged that the fees paid by the pupils should be at the rate of 2s. 6d. per hour, and, in the first year, thirteen intending travellers received instruction. During the seven months that have elapsed since the last annual report, forty-two gentlemen have received instruction.

As some of the results of the instruction given, forty-one explorers have contributed maps which have been published by the Society, and three—viz., Lord Curzon of Kedleston, Mr. St. G. R. Littledale, and the late Mr. Joseph Thomson—have been awarded the Society's gold medal; while eleven others have received minor awards for work done in the field. In addition to this, nearly all the officers who have taken part in the Boundary Commissions in Africa have received instruction from Mr. Coles.

The fees for instruction at the Society have continued to be 2s. 6d. an hour, and the whole course includes observations with the sextant and theodolite, including the adjustments and the computation of latitude by meridian altitudes of sun and stars, by circummeridional altitudes, by Polaris and double altitudes. Observations with sextant and theodolite, and computations for finding local time by sun and stars, and thence the longitude; equal altitudes of sun and stars for finding error and rate of watch. Longitude by occultations of stars by the moon, and the prediction of the circumstances of occultations; by moon culminating stars and the necessary corrections for level error, and placing the instrument in the meridian; eclipses of Jupiter's satellites and Lunars when required; longitude by meridian distances from the observed error of watch. Observations and computation of the true bearing of an object by its angular distance from the sun. Error of compass from the observed bearing of the sun and its computed true bearing.

In addition to the above, surveying with the prismatic compass, tacheometer, plane-table and theodolite, determination of altitudes by barometer and boiling-point thermometer, plotting from the field-book and map projection.

By a resolution of the Council, 4th January, 1897, it was decided to grant diplomas, as originally proposed by Mr. Markham in 1879, to students who had gone through the whole course of instruction, and who could pass an examination on the subjects mentioned before a committee appointed for that purpose. Since that date the following gentlemen have successfully passed the examination and received diplomas:—Capt. E. M. Woodward, Capt. A. H. C. Kenny Herbert, Mr. C. L. Temple, Mr. R. J. Money, Lieut. F. B. Henderson, R.N., Lieut.-Col. J. J. Swinton, R.A., Lieut. C. J. R. L. Learmouth, R.N., A. E. S. Laughton, Capt. W. C. G. Heneker, Major W. D. Bird, Capt. W. F. T. Corrie, R.A., Capt. A. J. Richardson, and W. F. Wilkinson.

During the present year the instruction given at the Society has received considerable impetus owing to the encouragement given by the War Office, and other Government Departments, and at no time since it was commenced has the number of students been so large as at present.

The foregoing has reference only to instruction in surveying and astronomical observations, but in the year 1884 the Council sanctioned the rest of the scheme proposed by Mr. Markham in 1879 for assisting intending travellers, who obtained a certificate of competency in astronomy and surveying from Mr. Coles. They can now receive practical instruction in other subjects on the same plan, as regards fees, as that sanctioned for instruction in practical astronomy, and in 1895 this scheme was further expanded.

The following is a list of the subjects:—

Geology, including practical training in the field. Under the superintendence of Dr. J. W. GREGORY, Natural History Museum, South Kensington.

Botany. Under the superintendence of the Director, Royal Gardens, Kew.

Zoology. By Dr. R. BOWDLER SHARPE, Natural History Museum, South Kensington.

Anthropological Measurements. Under the superintendence of Dr. J. G. GARSON, Anthropological Institute.

Photography. By Mr. JOHN THOMSON, Author of "Photographic Illustrations of China and its People," and other works.

Instructions as to What and How to Observe in the Field, from the general geographical standpoint. By Dr. H. R. MILL, Librarian to the Society.

EDUCATION.

For the last quarter of a century the Council has made very persistent efforts to improve the geographical education of the country, and not without permanent results. In 1884 Mr. Keltie, afterwards Librarian (1885), and now the Secretary to the Society, was commissioned to investigate the position of geographical education in Great Britain and on the Continent. He made a full report; and in 1885-86 there was an exhibition of geographical appliances for teaching. The collection has since been kept at the Teachers' Guild Museum in Gower Street. There can be no doubt that Mr. Keltie's Report was the means of arousing an interest in the teaching of geography, which has since increased, so that its influence has been permanent and useful.

From 1871 to 1887 the Council perseveringly represented to the authorities of the Oxford and Cambridge Universities the urgent importance of giving geography its proper place as a subject for instruction. At length it was arranged, in 1888, that a Reader in Geography should be appointed at Oxford, half his salary being paid by the University and half by the Society, for a period of five years. At the end of that time the Society consented to continue its payments for another five years; and, under the able conduct of Mr. H. J. Mackinder, the Readership became a marked success. The University authorities fully recognised its importance, and at the end of the second five years they resolved to continue it permanently without assistance from the Society. Thus, by an expenditure of £1,500, the Council has had the satisfaction of seeing geography included among the recognised subjects for instruction at the University of Oxford.

At the Cambridge University a lectureship in geography was established in February, 1888, towards which the Society agreed to contribute two-thirds of the salary for a term of five years. As at Oxford, the Council agreed to continue the payment to Cambridge for a second five years. That term has now expired, and geographical instruction is recognised by the University authorities as so useful that a readership in geography has been established, the appointment having been given to Mr. Yule Oldham, the former lecturer. The Council has consented to continue its payments towards the salary for a third five years, in the confident expectation that at the end of that time Cambridge, like Oxford, will be in a position to continue the geographical readership permanently.

The Society has also given liberal assistance to the Oxford University Extension Board ; for several years contributed £100 a year for lectures in geography to the London University Extension Society ; granted £75 a year, from 1891 to 1897, for a lectureship at Owens College, Manchester ; and prizes to the Training Colleges from 1888 to 1894. At present prizes are given for geography to the training-ships Conway and Worcester, to the Scotch training colleges, and to the Oxford and Cambridge Local Examinations.

XI.

MEETINGS.

ERE are on an average fourteen evening meetings during the season from November to June, besides occasional afternoon technical meetings in the Map Room. The meetings are opened by the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, of the names of newly-elected fellows, and of candidates for election. The President then refers to any matter of interest to the Society, and briefly introduces the reader of the paper for the evening. The papers are almost invariably illustrated by lantern slides. After the reading of the paper a discussion takes place. The meeting then adjourns to the tea-room, where tea and coffee are served, and where there is an exhibition of photographs and lantern slides bearing on the subject of the paper. The following is a list of papers read at the evening meetings during last year, 1898:—

- n. 17.—“Journeys in the East Coast Provinces in Siam,” by H. Warrington Smyth.
- , 31.—“Through Somaliland to Lake Rudolf,” by H. S. H. Cavendish.
- b. 14.—“A recent Journey in Western Australia,” by the Hon. David Carnegie.
- „ 28.—“The Annual Range of Temperature in Surface Waters of the Ocean, and its Bearing on Oceanographical Problems,” by Dr. John Murray, F.R.S.
- ar. 1.—“Exploration in Spitzbergen, 1897,” by Sir W. M. Conway.
- „ 23.—“The Geography and Resources of the Klondike Region,” by William Ogilvie.
- „ 28.—“Exploration on and around Mount Aconcagua,” by E. A. Fitzgerald.
- pr. 25.—“Investigations in the Atlantic,” by H.S.H. The Prince of Monaco.
- ay 9.—“Journey across Tibet from West to East,” by Capt. M. S. Wellby.
- „ 16.—“Special Meeting in commemoration of the 400th Anniversary of the discovery of the Cape route to India by Vasco da Gama.” The Paper on the subject was read by the President.
- „ 23.—Anniversary Meeting. Address by the President.
- ine 6.—“Circumnavigation of Lake Bangweulu,” by Poulett Weatherley.
- „ 20.—“Tirah; the Geographical Results of the recent Afridi Campaign,” by Col. Sir T. Hungerford Holdich, R.E., K.C.I.E., &c.

Nov. 14.—“A British Antarctic Expedition.” Addresses by the President and others.

„ 28.—“A Year on Christmas Island,” by Charles W. Andrews.

Dec. 12.—“Exploration in the Caroline Islands,” by F. W. Christian.

During the past year special efforts have been made by the Society to obtain the funds for an Antarctic expedition. As the Government finally declined to undertake to send out an expedition, a joint Committee was formed by the Royal Society and our own, for the purpose of obtaining the funds necessary for the equipment of an expedition worthy of the country. The Council offered to contribute 5000*l.* out of the Society's funds, and Mr. Alfred Harmsworth promised a like sum. An appeal was made, on behalf of the Joint Committee, by the President to the Fellows of the Society and to the public. The appeal was warmly supported by the press, but up to date the response has not been very liberal. An appeal has been also made to the Governments and the Scientific Societies of Australasia, and it is hoped that a sum may be subscribed adequate to the equipment of at least a modest expedition in 1900, to co-operate with the well-equipped German expedition to be sent out in that year.

The subject formed the burden of the President's Address at the opening of the Session in November 1898, when his appeal was warmly supported by Dr. M. Foster and Prof. Rücker, Secretaries of the Royal Society, Sir Joseph Hooker, and other influential authorities.

XII.

ANNIVERSARY DINNER AND SOIRÉES.

THE Anniversary Dinner takes place in the evening of the day on which the Anniversary Meeting is held. The dinner and annual soirée have always been useful conclusions to the business of the Session. They have tended to make the affairs of the Society work smoothly, to promote acquaintanceship among the Fellows, and to increase our numbers.

The evening receptions were commenced by Sir Roderick Murchison in his own house, 16, Belgrave Square, in 1852. The Earl of Ellesmere gave them at Bridgewater House from 1854 to 1856; Sir Roderick, at 16, Belgrave Square, from 1857 to 1860; and Lord Ashburton, at his house in Piccadilly, in 1861 and 1862. In 1863 the Fellows had become too numerous to be received in a private house, and Sir Roderick gave receptions at Willis's Rooms from 1863 to 1870. Sir Henry Rawlinson did the same from 1872 to 1875, and in 1876 the reception was at South Kensington. In 1877 Sir Rutherford Alcock's reception was at Willis's Rooms.

From 1878 to 1886 there were no receptions. The want of them was felt, and those who were most experienced in the working of the Society were convinced that it was desirable to resume them.

In 1887 they were resumed, General Strachey and the Council receiving the Fellows at South Kensington in that year, and at Willis's Rooms in 1888. Sir Mountstuart Grant Duff and the Council received the Fellows at Willis's Rooms in 1889 and at South Kensington in 1894. In 1895 Sir Clements Markham and the Council received the Fellows in the Water Colour Gallery in Piccadilly, and again in 1896, when 1000 were present. The Soirée in 1898 was in the Natural History Museum, when 1500 were present.

XIV.

THE WORKING OF THE SOCIETY

THE affairs of the Society are carried on by the Council with the aid of the salaried staff, under the direct supervision of the President and the Honorary Secretaries.

The Council meets, on an average, once a fortnight, from November to June. Its business is very varied. All correspondence of importance is laid before it for consideration; it has the administration of the Society's finances; requests for grants of money for explorations and geographical research, and for the loan of instruments, have to be considered from time to time; in it is vested the election of Fellows; it has to see to the efficiency of the Society's library and map collection; papers offered to the Society for reading at meetings and for publication have to be considered and referred to specialists for report; it has annually to adjudge the honours awarded by the Society.

Such are some of the multifarious duties of the Council. Much of the business brought before it is referred in the first instance to committees, which, after careful consideration of any matter, report to the Council, with which rests the final decision.

These Committees are—Finance, Library and Map, Exploration dealing, among other things, with instruments and special scientific subjects), Education and Orthography. Special committees are occasionally appointed when deemed advisable. The Finance and the Library and Map Committees meet once a month, the other Committees when necessary.

The correspondence of the Society, which is heavy, is carried on by the Secretary, who is responsible to the Council for the efficient working of the various departments, and for the execution of the Council's decisions.

The clerical staff consists of a Chief Clerk and two assistants. It is their duty, under the direction of the Secretary, to attend to the business affairs of the Society, the keeping of accounts, the collection of fees, the notification of elections, the preparation of business for Council and Committees, the issue of publications, arrangements for meetings, and much else, involving a good deal of correspondence.

The Society's House is in charge of a housekeeper and his wife, who reside on the premises, and who, with assistance, attend to the daily cleaning. Once a year, during the summer vacation, the whole house is completely overhauled, all the books and bookshelves cleaned, and repairs seen to. So far as books go, the introduction of electric lighting into the house has done much to prevent the deterioration of the bindings.

Of course a considerable amount of the work of the Society is necessarily done outside by printers, stationers, bookbinders, lithographers, and others. The Society has its own shorthand writer to report the discussions at the meetings.

Russian Geographical Society, who for a quarter of a century has been the inspirer of all the Russian expeditions into Central Asia.

Dr. George M. Dawson, C.M.G.—The Patron's Medal—
Director of the Geological Survey of Canada. For many years an active worker in connection with the Dominion Survey, during which much of the work he carried out, in the North-West Territories, in the Yukon district, and in other parts of Canada, was largely of a geographical as well as geological character. Under him geographical exploration has been greatly encouraged among the survey officers, not only in Alaska, but in the regions to the west and south of Hudson's Bay.

LIEUT. SEYMOUR VANDELEUR, D.S.O.—The Murchison Grant for 1897
—For his journey of 900 miles in Somaliland in 1893-94, during which he made an excellent route survey. For making surveys of 2073 miles of routes in Uganda, Unyoro, and on the Upper Nile in 1894-96. For astronomically surveying 200 miles of practically unknown country in the Niger region during Sir George Goldie's first expedition, surveying the new road to Bida in the second, and Illorin from Jebba in the third, expedition in 1897.

LIEUT. RYDER (of the Danish Navy)—The Back Grant for 1897—For his explorations in East Greenland in 1891 and subsequent years, during which he made important rectifications on the coast, discovered a new series of fjürds, and made important meteorological observations.

1897. C. E. DOUGLAS—The Gill Memorial for 1897—For persistent explorations on the western slopes of the New Zealand Alps, extending over twenty-one years (1874-95).
- DR. THORVALD THORODDSEN—The Cuthbert Peek Grant for 1897—Since 1882 Dr. Thoroddsen has been continuously exploring Iceland, having at various times covered nearly the whole island. His contributions to the physical geography and geology of the island are of the first rank.
- 1898.—Dr. Sven Hedin—Founder's Medal—For his important exploring work in Central Asia, and especially for his survey of the glaciers of Mustagata, for being the first explorer to cross the Takla-Makan desert, for his discovery of a new route south of the Kuen-lun range, and for his investigation of the physical geography of the Lob region.
- Lieut. E. A. Peary, U.S.N.—Patron's Medal—For his explorations in Northern Greenland, dating from twelve years ago, and especially for his memorable sledge journey across the Greenland ice, and for his discovery of its northern termination.
- MR. H. WARINGTON SMYTH—The Murchison Grant for 1898—For his several important journeys in Siam.
- MR. GEORGE P. TATE—The Back Grant for 1898—For his survey work in Afghanistan, Baluchistan, especially Makran, Aden, and on the Indus.
- MR. EDMUND J. GARWOOD—The Gill Memorial for 1898—For his valuable geographical work in Spitsbergen during two seasons, in company with Sir Martin Conway.
- MR. POULETT WEATHERLEY—The Cuthbert Peek Grant for 1898—For his exploration of the region between Lakes Mweru and Bangweolo, and for the excellent work he did while circumnavigating the latter lake in his steel boat Vigilant.

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL.

READ AT THE ANNIVERSARY MEETING OF THE 23RD OF MAY, 1898.

THE COUNCIL have the pleasure of submitting to the Fellows the following Report on the general and financial condition of the Society:—

Membership.—The number of Fellows elected during the year ending March 9th, 1898, was 305, and 3 Honorary Corresponding Members. In the previous year, 1896–97, the total elections amounted to 270, and in 1895–96 the number was 239. Our losses have been, by death 83, by resignation 31, and by removal on account of arrears of subscription 50; making a total increase of membership for the year of 141. In the year 1896–97 there was an increase of 97, in 1895–96 an increase of 47. The total number of Fellows on the list (which does not include those 67 who have been elected but have not yet paid the fees, and is exclusive of Honorary and Honorary Corresponding Members) on the 9th of May was 3996.*

Finance.—As will be seen by the annexed Statement of Receipts and Payments for the year, the total net income for the Financial year ending Dec. 31st, 1897 (i.e. exclusive of balance in hand) was 11,029*l.* 19*s.* 6*d.*, of which 7719*l.* consisted of entrance fees and subscriptions of Fellows. In the previous year, 1896, the total net income was 11,023*l.* 1*s.* 8*d.*, and the amount of subscriptions, &c., 7379*l.* 8*s.*; in 1895 the two totals were 10,209*l.* 11*s.* 8*d.* and 7458*l.* respectively.

The net expenditure for the past year (i.e. exclusive of balance in hand) was 11,518*l.* 19*s.* 11*d.* The net expenditure in 1896 was 10,820*l.* 15*s.* 1*d.*; in 1895, 10,057*l.* 10*s.* 6*d.*

The Finance Committee of the Council have held, as usual, Meetings during the year, supervising the accounts of the Society. The Annual Audit was held in April last, the accounts being audited by a chartered accountant and duly certified as correct. The following is the Auditor's Report.

* It will be observed that the elections are given for the year ending May 9th, the accounts for the year ending December 31st. The total number of Fellows elected during the Financial year, January to December, 1897, was 294, including 3 Honorary Corresponding members.

Auditor's Report.—"I beg to report that I have examined the account of Receipts and Payments of your Society for the year ended 31st December last, with the books and vouchers relating thereto, and find it to be correct.

"I have also verified the balance at the bankers and the securities held for investments of the Society, as follows:—

Securities held by Bankers:—

1000*l.* Norwegian 3½% Bonds.
1000*l.* India 3½% Debentures.
1800*l.* Great Western Railway 4½% Debenture Stock.
4850*l.* Great Indian Peninsula Railway 5% Guaranteed Stock.
1334*l.* London and North-Western Railway 3% Debenture Stock.
1333*l.* North-Eastern Railway 3% Debenture Stock. 1
2000*l.* Caledonian Railway 4% Consolidated Preference Stock No. 1.

Inscribed at Bank of England:—

3135*l.* 14*s.* 11*d.* 2¾% Consols "A."
440*l.* 2¾% Consols "B."
1028*l.* 5*s.* 6*d.* New South Wales 3½% Stock, 1924.
1000*l.* New Zealand 4% Stock.
1000*l.* Metropolitan 3½% Consolidated Stock.
400*l.* " 2½% Stock.
1000*l.* India 3½% Stock.

"The receipts for the year have amounted to 11,029*l.* 19*s.* 6*d.*, including 50*l.* donation from Mr. Horniman and 79*l.* 15*s.* 5*d.* income tax recovered in respect of dividends upon the Society's investments for a period of three years.

"The expenditure has amounted to 11,518*l.* 19*s.* 11*d.*, being an excess of 489*l.* 0*s.* 5*d.* over receipts. On a comparison of the expenditure with that of the previous year, the principal items of increase appear to be payments connected with the Nausen Meeting and Medals, amounting to 451*l.* 9*s.* 10*d.*, and connected with Expeditions, the grants for which exceeded those of the previous year by 380*l.* 3*s.* 9*d.* Publications also show an increase of 313*l.* 7*s.*

"The arrears of subscriptions amount to 1279*l.*, being 10*l.* less than at 31st December, 1896.

"The market value of the Society's investments at 31st December, 1897, as certified by the bankers, was 28,638*l.* 8*s.* 5*d.*

"No sales or purchases of Stock have been made during the year, and the increase of 255*l.* 7*s.* 9*d.* in value is due to variations in the prices.

"(Signed) W. B. KEEN,
"Chartered Accountant."

Publications.—The monthly 'Journal' has been issued with regularity throughout the year; the twelve numbers for 1897 forming two volumes of 1449 pages, illustrated by 43 maps and 217 illustrations and diagrams. The total cost of the edition of 5500 copies (including 568L. 16s. 6d. for free delivery to Fellows and Institutions) was 3535L. 15s. 7d. From this is to be deducted the amount of 1139L. 11s. received from sale of copies to the public and from advertisements. The sum of 215L. 19s. was expended on Extra Publications: 'British New Guinea,' by Sir Wm. MacGregor; 'Eastern Persian Irak,' by General A. Houtum-Schindler; 'Notes on the Kuril Islands,' by Captain H. J. Snow.

Year-Book and Record, 1898.—For the first time in the history of the Society a Year-Book has been published, together with the List of Fellows, containing full information respecting the constitution and working of the Royal Geographical Society, and the arrangements for the utilisation of its property and the furtherance of its objects. It is hoped that the Fellows will thus become better acquainted with the uses to which their premises are put, as well as with the labours of their Society since its foundation. This, the Council trust, will lead to more frequent visits to their rooms and to a largely increased use of the geographical treasures they contain. Another object of the Year-Book will be the more general dissemination of knowledge respecting the work and uses of the Society.

Library.—During the past year, in addition to serial publications, 930 books and pamphlets have been added to the Library. Of these 786 were presented, and 144 purchased. The titles of all accessions and of the more important papers in geographical publications have been printed monthly in the 'Geographical Journal.' Amongst purchases of special interest there may be noted an edition of De Bry's famous 'Voyages' (1500-1697) in six volumes, secured at the sale of the Ashburnham Library; Vespucci's 'Paesi Novamente Retrovati,' 1507; and Fernandez's 'Historia del Peru,' 1571. Amongst the books presented were 39 volumes from the executors of the late Mr. Ney Elias, and 32 volumes from Dr. R. N. Cust. The Society's map mounter has put 465 pamphlets in covers. During the year 335 new volumes have been bound; and 427 have been rebound or had their binding repaired.

The sum of 182*l.* 7*s.* 6*d.* has been expended on books, and 68*l.* 19*s.* 9*d.* on binding, for the year ending December 31st, 1897.

The Subject Catalogue has been steadily pushed forward. During the year 18,340 articles in back volumes of periodicals have been selected, and title-cards prepared for them; the total number of title-cards amounting to 82,820 (on 27th April). These have all been roughly classified, and the cards for Europe and Asia classified sufficiently thoroughly to be available for reference. A complete system of classification has been worked out and practically tested. The work of Fellows using the Library for purposes of research has been greatly facilitated by the card catalogue.

Scientific Instruction.—During the past year 65 intending travellers have received instructions from Mr. Coles, in Practical Astronomy, in the Society's Observatory, and in surveying with the theodolite, prismatic compass, and plane-table, in the country. Five of these gentlemen have successfully passed an examination before the Committee, and have received the Society's diploma.

Instruments to the value of 545*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.* have been lent during the past year to the following travellers:—Mr. J. Benet Stanford (Somaliland), 39*l.* 6*s.*; Capt. H. H. P. Deasy (Central Asia), 76*l.* 10*s.*; Capt. R. T. Kirkpatrick (Uganda), 80*l.* 18*s.*; Sir W. Martin Conway (Spitsbergen), 54*l.* 1*s.* 6*d.*; Dr. A. Neve (Kashmir), 11*l.* 10*s.*; Capt. F. R. Maunsell, R.A. (Asia Minor), 54*l.*; Dr. J. Bach (Brazil), 36*l.* 4*s.*; Prof. A. H. Haddon (New Guinea), 13*l.* 3*s.*; Mr. W. A. L. Fletcher (Siberia), 36*l.* 18*s.*; Major St. H. Gibbons (Central Africa), 141*l.* 2*s.*

The instruments lent to the following gentlemen have been returned during the past year, with the exception of those which have been lost:—Major A. St. H. Gibbons (South Central Africa), 1895; Mr. B. V. Darbishire (for plotting work in England), 1896; Mr. W. S. Bruce (for practice in Scotland), 1896; Mr. F. S. A. Bourne (China), 1896; Mr. J. T. Dent (Socotra Island), 1896; Col. A. Le Messurier, R.E. (New Zealand, &c.), 1897; Capt. Count Gleichen (Abyssinia), 1897; Capt. W. Capper (Central Africa), 1897; Mr. J. Benett Stanford (Somaliland), 1897; Sir W. Martin Conway (Spitsbergen), 1897.

The following is a list of travellers who still have instruments lent to them in their possession:—Mr. E. Douglas Archibald (for cloud observations in England), 1885; Rev. A. Hetherwick (South-East Africa), 1891; Mr. C. W. Campbell (Korea), 1893; Mr. J. C. White (Sikkim), 1893; Mr. R. M. W. Swan (South-East Africa), 1893; Mr. R. T. Coryndon (Mashonaland), 1894; Mr. C. M. Woodford (Pacific Islands), 1894; Sir William MacGregor (British New Guinea), 1895; Capt. L. R. Arthur (Congo Free State), 1895; Col. F. D. Lugard, C.B. D.S.O. (South Central Africa), 1896; Mr. R. T. Turley (China), 1896; Mr. A. H. Savage Lendor (Central Asia), 1897; Dr. G. E. Morrison (China), 1897; Mr. C. W. Andrews (Christmas Island), 1897; Capt. H. H. P. Deasy (Central Asia), 1897; Capt. R. T. Kirkpatrick (Uganda), 1897; Dr. A. Neve (Kashmir), 1897; Capt. F. R. Maunsell, R.A. (Asia Minor), 1897; Dr. J. Bach (Brazil), 1898; Prof. A. C. Haddon (New Guinea), 1898.

The instruments lent to Sir H. H. Johnston for use in British Central Africa have been purchased by the Government.

Map Room.—The accessions to the Map Room Collection during the past year comprise 852 Maps on 1131 sheets; 40 Atlases (including continuations) containing 842 sheets of Maps, 975 Photographs, 82 Sketches and 529 Lantern Slides. Of these, 41 Maps on 177 sheets, 11 Atlases, 35 Photographs, and 520 Lantern Slides, have been purchased.

The important donations to the Map Room Collection during the past year have been mentioned in the 'Geographical Journal.'

I.

FOUNDATION OF THE SOCIETY.

THE Royal Geographical Society was founded in 1830. Previously, and since the dawn of British exploration and discovery, geographical work had been done without regular organization. It was commenced in 1555, when Richard Eden published his "Decades of the New World." It was continued by a succession of collectors of Voyages and Travels—Hakluyt, Purchas, Harris, Astley, Churchill, Pinkerton, Dalrymple, Kerr, and Burney. The Royal Society, from its foundation, published occasional geographical papers, and promoted the invention and improvement of instruments useful to travellers. Sir Joseph Banks was the constant and very active patron of geography from the time that he became President of the Royal Society in 1778 until his death in 1820. His mantle fell upon Major Rennell, while from 1818 Sir John Barrow, the Secretary to the Admiralty, was the great promoter of voyages of discovery. In 1788 the African Association was founded for the promotion of discovery in the interior of that continent, and the labours of its members culminated in the discoveries of Mungo Park, of Denham and Clapperton, and of Lander.

The Raleigh Dining Club was founded in February, 1827. The world was mapped out into so many divisions corresponding with the number of members, each division being represented by at least one member, so that the Club collectively should have visited nearly every part of the known world. The principal object of the Club dinners, which took place at the "Thatched House," was announced to be the attainment of an agreeable and rational society composed of persons who had visited all parts of the globe. At the dinners the feeling that the creation of a more completely organized institution for the advancement of geography was necessary, gradually took definite shape. After the foundation of the Society the Raleigh Club continued to flourish, becoming more and more closely connected with the Society, until, in 1854, the affiliation became complete. With new rules the name of Raleigh was then dropped, and it became the Geographical Club, whose history has since been part of the history of the Society.

Early in 1830 Admiral Smyth sketched out a well-conceived scheme for a Geographical Society, and enrolled many names. Independently of his efforts, there was subsequently a numerously attended meeting of the Raleigh Club, with Sir John Barrow in the chair, on May 24th, 1830, when it was resolved that a Society was needed whose sole object should be the promotion and diffusion of geographical knowledge. The meeting nominated a provisional committee consisting of six members of the Raleigh Club, Sir John Barrow, Mr. Robert Brown (Princeps Botanicorum), Sir John Hobhouse (afterwards Lord Broughton), Sir Roderick Murchison, Mr. Mountstuart Elphinstone, and Mr. Bartle Frere. The meetings of this Committee took place in Sir John Barrow's room at the Admiralty. They there settled the preliminary business, and drew up rules. Admiral Smyth's zealous exertions, commenced at an earlier date, were now heartily given to the Committee. He materially furthered the successful progress of its efforts.

On July 16th, 1830, at a meeting in the rooms of the Horticultural Society in Regent Street, resolutions were adopted relating to the government and constitution of the Society, and the Geographical Society of London was founded. President, Vice-Presidents, Council, Treasurer, and Secretaries were elected.

Our first President was Viscount Goderich, afterwards Earl of Ripon. The Vice-Presidents were Sir John Barrow, Sir John Franklin, Colonel Leake, and Mr. Greenough. Four hundred and sixty names were enrolled on the list of Fellows, forty-three being naval officers, including the King, fifty officers in the army, all the leading statesmen of both parties, including the Duke of Wellington (then Prime Minister), and men eminent in all branches of science. King William IV. became patron of the Society, granted an annual donation of fifty guineas (which has been graciously continued by her present Majesty) to constitute a premium for the encouragement and promotion of geographical science and discovery, and ordered that our title should be the "Royal Geographical Society."

The African and Palestine Associations were merged in the Society.

The objects of the Royal Geographical Society are the accumulation of new geographical knowledge, the maintenance of a library and a collection of maps for the use of its members, granting assistance to travellers and to research, the training of explorers, the raising of the standard of geographical education, and the dissemination of geographical knowledge. It has actively and successfully pursued these objects during the last sixty-nine years.

The Society's Royal Charter of Incorporation was granted to Sir Roderick Murchison on the 8th of February, 1859.

The following table shows the progress of the Society, so far as the number of Fellows is concerned :—

Year.	No. of Fellows.
1830	460
1840	697
1850	607
1860	1354
1870	2387
1880	3371

dents, Treasurer, Trustees, Secretaries, together with twenty-one Members of the Council, shall be the first Members of the Council, and shall continue such until the election of Officers shall be made in pursuance of these presents.

AND we do hereby further will and declare, that it shall be lawful for the Fellows of the said body politic and corporate hereby established, to hold a General Meeting once in the year, or oftener, for the purposes hereinafter mentioned, namely, that the President, Vice-Presidents, the Treasurer, the Secretaries, and other members of the Council, shall be chosen at such General Meeting, and that the General Meetings shall from time to time make and establish such Bye Laws, and vary and alter, or revoke the same, as they shall deem to be useful and necessary for the regulation of the said body politic and corporate, for the admission of Fellows and of Honorary and Foreign Members, and for the fixing the number of the Presidents, Officers, and for the management of the proceedings, and the estates, goods, and business of the said body politic and corporate, so that such Bye Laws be not repugnant to these presents, or to the Laws and Statutes of this our realm, and shall and may also enter into any resolution and make any regulation respecting the affairs of the said body politic and corporate that may be necessary and proper.

AND we do further will and declare that the General Meetings shall take place at such time as may be fixed by the said Council, and that the present regulations of the said Society, so far as they are not inconsistent with these presents, shall continue in force until the same shall be altered by a General Meeting.

AND we further will, grant and declare, that the Council shall have the sole management of the income and funds of the said body politic and corporate, and the appointment of Secretary, Librarian, Curator, and such other officers, attendants, and servants, as the Council shall think necessary or useful, as also the entire management and superintendence of all the other affairs of the said Society, and shall and may, but not inconsistently with or contrary to the provisions of this our Charter, or any existing Bye Law, or Laws and Statutes of this our realm, do all such acts and deeds as shall appear to them necessary for carrying into effect the objects and views of the said body politic and corporate.

PROVIDED always, and we do will and declare that the Council shall from time to time render to a General Meeting a full account of their proceedings, and that every Fellow of the Society may, at all reasonable times, to be fixed by the said Council, see and examine the accounts of the receipts and payments of the said body politic and corporate.

AND we further will, grant and declare, that the whole property of the said body politic and corporate shall be vested, and we do hereby vest the same solely and absolutely in the Fellows thereof, and that they shall have full power and authority to sell, alienate, charge, and otherwise dispose of the same as they shall think proper; but that no sale, mortgage, incumbrance, or other disposition of any messuages, lands, tenements, or hereditaments belonging to the said body politic and corporate shall be made, except with the approbation and concurrence of a General Meeting.

AND we lastly declare it to be our Royal Will and Pleasure, that no Resolution or Bye Law shall on any account or pretence whatsoever be made by the said body politic and corporate in opposition to the general scope, true intent, and meaning of this our Charter, or the Laws or Statutes of our realm, and that if any such Rule or Bye Law shall be made, the same shall be absolutely null and void to all intents, effects, constructions, and purposes whatsoever.

IN witness whereof we have caused these our Letters to be made Patent.

WITNESS Ourselves, at our Palace at Westminster, this eighth day of February, in the twenty-second year of our reign.

By Her Majesty's command.

(Signed)

EDMUNDS.

BYE-LAWS OF THE ROYAL GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY.

As amended by a Special General Meeting held on June 22, 1896.

CHAPTER I.

CONSTITUTION.

1. THE ROYAL GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY is instituted for the Advancement of Geographical Science.
2. The Society consists of Fellows, and of Honorary and Honorary Corresponding Members.
3. A Council shall be chosen annually from the Fellows to conduct the affairs of the Society, and shall consist of a President, six Vice-Presidents—two of whom shall be ex-Presidents, if available—a Treasurer and two other Trustees, three Honorary Secretaries, and twenty-one other Councillors.
4. Every Fellow shall be eligible to fill any of the offices in the Council. One of the Vice-Presidents, and seven of the other Councillors shall be changed every year, and shall not be eligible for re-election to the same office till after the expiration of one year.
5. In the case of the death or resignation of the President, of one of the Honorary Secretaries, or of the Treasurer, in the interval between any two successive annual meetings, the Council shall have power to appoint one of their number to perform the duties of the vacant office provisionally, until the next General Meeting.

6. The Society shall not make or distribute any dividend, division, or bonus in money, unto or between its Fellows.

CHAPTER II.

PUBLICATIONS AND COLLECTIONS.

1. THE Society shall, from time to time, under the superintendence of the Council, publish Transactions, and accompany them with Maps and other Illustrations, as occasion may require.

2. Each Fellow is entitled to a copy of the Society's monthly publication, which will be forwarded, free of expense, to all Fellows whose addresses are known.

3. The monthly publication shall include a Report of the Proceedings of meetings, papers read or abstracts thereof, donations made to the Society, and such additional matter as may seem appropriate.

4. The Society shall maintain a Library and a collection of Maps, Charts, Photographs and Instruments connected with Geographical Science to which Fellows and Strangers by free orders shall have access, under such restrictions as may appear advisable to the Council.

CHAPTER III.

ELECTION AND ADMISSION OF FELLOWS.

1. EVERY Candidate for admission into the Society as a Fellow must be proposed and seconded agreeably to the Form No. 1 in the Appendix II.; and such proposal must be subscribed by one Fellow at least, who must certify his personal knowledge of the Candidate.

2. The Form, thus filled up, shall be delivered to the Secretary, and shall be read out at the next Ordinary Meeting of Fellows; after which it shall be suspended in a conspicuous place in the Society's House till the next Meeting.

3. The Election of Fellows is entrusted to the Council; and the names of those so elected shall be regularly announced at each Ordinary Meeting.

4. The Secretary shall send to every newly elected Fellow notice of his election within three days; together with a copy of the Bye-Laws of the Society, corrected to the date of issue, a List of the Fellows, and a Card announcing the days on which the Ordinary Meetings will be held during the current Session. But no election of a Fellow shall be complete, neither shall his name be printed in any List of the Fellows, nor shall he be entitled to exercise any of the privileges of a Fellow, until he shall have paid his entrance-fee and annual subscription; compounded for the same, as hereafter to be explained; or been exempted therefrom under paragraph 6 of this Chapter; and unless these payments be made within three calendar months from the date of election, such election shall be void; but this period may be extended by the Council in special cases.

5. Honorary and Honorary Corresponding Members shall be selected by the Council, and shall enjoy such privileges as the Council may from time to time determine.

6. The Council are empowered to remit the entrance fees and subscriptions in a limited number of cases, where it may be found desirable to elect gentlemen to the Fellowship who are distinguished for their services to Geographical Science.

CHAPTER IV.

WITHDRAWAL AND REMOVAL OF FELLOWS.

1. ANY Fellow may withdraw from the Society by signifying his wish to do so, by letter addressed to the Secretary, at the House of the Society; he shall nevertheless continue to be liable for his annual subscription for the year in which he signifies his wish to withdraw; and he shall further continue liable for such annual subscription until he shall have discharged all sums due by him to the Society, and shall have returned all books or other property borrowed by him of the Society; or shall have made full compensation of the same, if lost, or not forthcoming.

2. Any Fellow may be removed from the Society, by the Vote, taken by ballot, of a Special General Meeting of the Fellows.

CHAPTER V.

PAYMENTS TO THE SOCIETY.

1. EVERY Fellow shall, on election, be required to pay £5 as entrance fee, and £2 as annual subscription for the current year, and thereafter yearly subscription of £2, due on the 1st January of each year; or he may compound either at entrance by one payment of £35, or at any subsequent period on the following scale, provided that there shall be at the time no arrears due by him to the Society :—

Fellows of 10 years' standing and under 15 . . .	£20
„ 15 „ „ „ 20 . . .	£16
„ 20 „ „ and over . . .	£12 10s.

No Fellow shall be entitled to vote or to enjoy any privilege of the Society while in arrear. Honorary and Honorary Corresponding

Members and Fellows elected under Chapter II., paragraph 6, are not required to make any payments.

2. The first Annual payment of Fellows elected in November and December shall nevertheless be considered to extend to the 31st December of the following year.

3. So soon in every year as the Auditors shall have completed their financial investigation, the name of every Fellow in arrear to the Society, together with a statement of the amount in arrear, shall be reported to the Council; and notice of the same, with an account of such arrear, shall be forwarded to every Fellow whose name shall have been so reported; and if the arrear be not paid within one calendar month from the date of such notice, or within such further time as the Council may grant upon special cause to them shown, the Council shall direct that the name of the Fellow so reported, together with a statement of the arrear, shall be suspended in the House of the Society; and if the arrear shall not have been discharged before the second Ordinary Meeting after such suspension, the Council shall be empowered to remove his name from the Society's List; and the name of any one so suspended shall not be taken down until the arrear shall have been paid, or the Fellow shall have been removed from the Society.

CHAPTER VI.

MEETINGS OF THE SOCIETY.

Sect. 1.—Anniversary Meetings.

1. THE Anniversary General Meeting of the Fellows shall be held on the fourth Monday in May, or as near that date as may be found convenient.

2. Notice of this Meeting shall be sent to every Fellow residing in the United Kingdom, whose address is known; and shall be inserted in two or more newspapers, one week at least before the day of Meeting.

3. The following shall be the Agenda for the Anniversary General Meeting:

- (1) The Presentation of the Gold Medals and other awards of the Society.
- (2) The Presidential Address.
- (3) An interval for the withdrawal of visitors, prior to which no discussion shall be allowed.
- (4) The presentation of the Annual Report of the Council.
- (5) The election of the Council and Officers for the ensuing year.

No other business shall be transacted.

No resolution shall be passed at the Anniversary General Meeting. But in the event of any Fellow being desirous of bringing forward a Motion on any point in the Report of the Council, such Motion shall be handed in, read and referred to a Special General Meeting; provided that such Motion is supported by not less than forty Fellows present.

4. In order to give effect to the provisions in Chap. I., paragraph 4, which require certain annual changes, as before specified, in the Council, a sufficient number of printed balloting lists, according to the form in the Appendix, shall be prepared previous to the Meeting; one column of which shall contain a list of the existing Council, a second the names of Fellows changing office or retiring, a third the list proposed for election by the Council, and a fourth left vacant to receive names which any Fellow may wish to substitute for those proposed for election by the Council. One of the balloting lists shall be available for every Fellow present at the Meeting.

5. The chair shall be taken at the time named in the notice, or as soon after as twenty-five Fellows shall be present; whereupon the Chairman shall appoint two or more Scrutineers from among the Fellows present, to superintend the ballot during its progress, and, when it is closed, to examine the lists, and report the result to the Meeting.

6. Each Fellow voting shall deliver his balloting list, folded up, to one of the Scrutineers, who shall immediately put it into the balloting-box.

7. The Scrutineers shall report the number of votes for each person to the Chairman, who shall declare the persons on whom the election has fallen.

8. If the name of any Candidate is found to be simply erased in the majority of the balloting papers, without any name being substituted, as provided in paragraph 4 of this section, such Candidate shall not be elected. The vacancy thus created may either be left open till the next Annual Meeting, or be filled up at an adjourned General Meeting of the Fellows, as the Chairman may think best.

Sect. 2.—Special General Meetings.

1. The Council may at any time call a Special General Meeting of the Society, whenever it shall be considered necessary.

2. Any six Fellows may propose to the Council, by letter addressed to the Secretary, any new Bye-Law, or the alteration or repeal of any existing Bye-Law, or any resolution respecting the affairs of the Society, and if dissatisfied with the answer of the Council, may, if supported by the written requisition of not less than forty Fellows, require that the proposition be referred to a Special General Meeting, which the Council shall convene during the Session for that purpose within sixty days after receiving such requisition; the days in the months of August, September, and October not being included in the reckoning.

3. Thirty days' notice at least of the time when, and the object for which, every Special Meeting is to be holden, shall be sent to every Fellow residing in the United Kingdom. And no other business than that of which notice has been thus given shall be entered upon or discussed at such meeting.

4. Not fewer than one hundred Fellows must be present to pass any resolution at a Special General Meeting; and no such resolution shall be carried unless supported by two-thirds of the Fellows voting.

Sect. 3.—Ordinary Meetings of the Society.

1. The Ordinary Meetings shall be held on the evenings of the second and fourth Monday of every month during the Session; or otherwise as judged expedient by the Council.

2. Fellows will be admitted to the Meetings, on showing their "Fellow's Ticket," which will be sent to all whose Subscriptions are not in arrear, at the commencement of each Session.

3. One Visitor may be introduced personally by each Fellow present, or by a Fellow's Ticket transferred for the occasion. Visitors may also be admitted by invitation of the Council.

4. At the Ordinary Meetings, the order of proceeding shall be as follows:—

A. The Minutes of the last Meeting shall be read, and, if their accuracy be not questioned, signed by the President or Chairman.

B. Result of Ballot of Candidates and names of Proposed Candidates shall be announced.

C. Papers and communications shall then be read and discussed.

5. At the Ordinary Meetings of the Society nothing relating to its regulations or management shall be brought forward. But the Minute-Book of the Council shall be on the table at each Meeting; and extracts therefrom may be read to the Meeting on the requisition of any Fellow.

6. On occasions which the President shall decide to be of exceptional interest, and which shall be duly advertised in the Daily Newspapers, ordinary Tickets will not be available; but written or personal applications from Fellows will be received at the Office of the Society for Orders of Admission for themselves (single tickets), or for themselves and one friend (double tickets), up to a date to be notified by Circular; and on that date such seats as may remain after seating all Fellows who have applied shall be allotted to the guests of Fellows in the order of application.

7. On such occasions as described in Rule 6, Eighty Seats shall be reserved for Members of Council and their friends; and Fifty Reserved Seats for Visitors of distinction shall be at the disposal of the President.

CHAPTER VII.

COUNCIL AND OFFICERS OF THE SOCIETY.

Sect. 1.—Council.

1. THE government of the Society, and the management of all its concerns, are entrusted to the Council, subject to the provisions of the Charter and the Bye-Laws of the Society.

2. The President, any one of the Vice-Presidents, or any three other Members of the Council, may at any time call a Meeting of the Council; and when such Meeting is to be held, every Member of the Council residing in the United Kingdom shall be summoned by letter.

3. In all Meetings of the Council, five shall be a quorum; and all questions shall be decided by vote, unless a ballot be demanded. Any determination of the Council, whether by vote or ballot, shall, at the desire of any two Fellows present, be deferred to the succeeding Meeting; but no question shall be more than once so deferred.

4. Minutes of the Proceedings of every Meeting of the Council shall be taken in a rough book by one of the Secretaries, or, in case of their absence, by some Member of Council whom the President or Chairman shall appoint for the occasion. The Minutes shall be printed and transferred to a Minute-Book to be kept for that purpose, and read at the next Meeting of the Council, and signed by the President or Chairman.

5. The Accounts of the Society shall be examined by the Council from time to time; and at the Anniversary General Meeting the Council shall present a complete statement thereof, together with a Report on the general affairs of the Society during the preceding year.

6. The Council may refer particular subjects to Committees, to be named by the President or Chairman; and such Committees shall report to the Council the result of their proceedings.

7. There shall also be permanent working Committees of Council nominated by the President, the number, designation, and purposes of which shall be arranged by the Council as, from time to time, may seem necessary.

8. The Council may appoint persons, not being Members of the Council, to be salaried Officers, Clerks, or Servants, for carrying on the necessary concerns of the Society; and may define the duties to be performed by them respectively; and may allow to them respectively such salaries, gratuities, and privileges, as to them, the Council, may seem proper; and may suspend or discharge any Officer, Clerk, or Servant from office, whenever there shall seem to them occasion for so doing.

Sect. 2.—President.

1. The President when present is Chairman of the Council, of all Committees, and of all Meetings of the Fellows whether Ordinary or Special.

2. He shall execute, and cause to be executed, the Bye-Laws of the Society; shall see that all the Officers of the Society perform the duties assigned to them; shall call for Reports and Accounts from Committees and persons; shall cause of his own authority Special Meetings of the Council and of Committees to be summoned; and shall propose, from time to time, to the Council such measures as shall appear to him conducive to the welfare of the Society.

3. As Chairman of the Council he shall appoint Referees to examine and report on original Papers communicated to the Society, previous to their publication.

4. It is his duty, conjointly with the Council, to consider and resolve on the names of Fellows who are to go out of the Council, and of those to be recommended to the Anniversary Meeting to fill up the vacancies.

5. When prevented from being present at the meetings of the Fellows or Council, or from otherwise attending to the current business of the Society, he will be expected to give timely notice thereof to one of the Vice-Presidents, or, in their absence, to some other Member of the Council, who may exercise his authority until the next meeting of the Council.

6. In all Meetings of the Society and Council, except in the cases otherwise provided for, the decision of a majority of the Fellows voting shall be considered as the decision of the Meeting, the President or Chairman having only a casting vote.

Sect. 3.—Vice-Presidents.

1. One of the Vice-Presidents to be nominated by the Council shall exercise the authority of the President when absent.

2. The Vice-Presidents, by virtue of their office, shall be Members of all the permanent Working Committees of the Council.

Sect. 4.—Treasurer.

1. The Treasurer is ex-officio one of the Trustees of the Society; and the Funds of the Society shall be vested in his name, and in those of the two other Trustees.

2. The Treasurer has special charge of all Accounts; and shall see to the collecting of all sums of money due to the Society.

3. He shall, of his own authority, appoint a Collector, for whom he shall be responsible, and who shall receive a reasonable remuneration; and the money collected shall immediately be paid to the Bankers of the Society.

4. The Treasurer, in concert with the Secretary, shall keep a complete List of the Fellows of the Society, with the name and address of each accurately set forth; which List, with the other Books of Account, shall be laid on the table at every Ordinary Meeting of the Council.

5. The Accounts of the Treasurer shall be annually audited at the discretion of the Council either by a Chartered Accountant or by four Fellows, two selected from the general body of the Fellows, and two from the Council, proposed by the President or Chairman, and approved by the first Ordinary Meeting held in the month of February. No drafts on the Society's Bankers shall be paid unless signed by two of the Council and the Secretary.

Sect. 5.—Honorary Secretaries.

Of the three Members of the Council who are elected as Honorary Secretaries by the Society, two shall be General Secretaries and one the Foreign Secretary. The Honorary Secretaries shall assist the President in the performance of his duties, and shall exercise such other powers as the Council shall delegate to them from time to time. The Honorary Secretaries, by virtue of their office, shall be Members of all the permanent Working Committees of the Council.

Sect. 6.—Secretary.

The Secretary shall be a salaried officer, appointed by and responsible to the Council, and shall be the Editor of the Society's publications. His further duties shall be such as are from time to time determined by the Council.

III.

THE HOUSE.

FROM 1830 to 1840 the Society met in the rooms of the Horticultural Society in Regent Street, by arrangement with Dr. Robert Brown, the great botanist and one of the founders of our Society.

From 1840 to 1854 the Society's rooms were at 3, Waterloo Place, and meetings were latterly held at King's College.

From 1854 to 1870 the Society had a lease of 15, Whitehall Place, and the meetings were held in our library, which had been built for a ball-room. The theatre of the United Service Institution was lent to us for large meetings. From 1858 to 1870 the meetings were in the Royal Society's Hall, in the wing of Burlington House, since pulled down.

In 1870 the freehold of 1, Savile Row was purchased for £14,257. The alterations cost £3,798, removal £1,074, dilapidations at 15, Whitehall Place, £334—total, £19,733. Our funded capital was then £19,250. A sum of £18,250 was sold out. Since 1870 our meetings have been held in the hall of the University of London, but on exceptional occasions, such as the return of Mr. Stanley and Dr. Nansen, the Albert Hall, or some other large hall, has been hired.

In 1894 there was an expenditure of £1,478 to improve the accommodation at 1, Savile Row, and on December 12th of that year the President gave a reception to the Fellows and their families to afford them an opportunity of becoming acquainted with their improved premises. Further improvements were carried out in 1897.

In the entrance hall there are marble busts of Sir Roderick Murchison and Mr. Greenough in niches, and between them there is a board with the names of our Medallists in gold letters. Above the board there is a medallion of Sir John Franklin. Facing the entrance is a fine portrait in oil of Sir James Ross. Busts of Livingstone and Joseph Thomson, the latter in marble, are placed on either side of the map-room door. A table with a glass case, and another glass case against the wall—in the hall—contain some relics belonging to the Society, as will be seen in the following list. On the left-hand side of the hall is the office, and opening out of the hall behind is the Map-room. On the first floor on the left is the Council Room, used by Fellows as a reading-room when the Council is not sitting; on the right is the central room of the Library, behind which is the Gallery in which the bulk of the books are arranged. On the second floor is the Secretary's room, and opposite is the Upper Library and Librarian's room, with two other rooms, both filled with books. On the third floor the Map Drawing Rooms and the Map Mounting Room are on the left, and on the right is a room, also well filled with books, intended as a Smoking Room, but at present used as an Instruction Room, while in

IV.

PUBLICATIONS.

THE JOURNAL.

ACCORDING to the Bye-Laws of the Society, Chapter II., Section I., "The Society shall from time to time, under the superintendence of the Council, publish Transactions, and accompany them with Maps and Illustrations, as occasion may require."

The Society has carried out this bye-law from the beginning. The first volume of the "Journal of the Royal Geographical Society of London" was issued in 1832; it contained 284 pages, and included the papers read at the Meetings from November, 1830, to June, 1831, the last paper being an account of the discovery of the lower course of the Niger by Richard and John Lander. There were in all thirteen such papers. But from the first it was recognised as part of the duty of the Society to publish not only the papers read at its meetings, but also to take cognisance of matters of geographical interest in general. Under the head of "Analyses," the volume contains ten reviews, and under that of "Miscellaneous" a series of eight notices on various geographical topics. It also contains a report of the proceedings at the opening meeting of the Society on July 16th, 1830, with Sir John Barrow in the chair; and it is of interest to note the wide conception even then entertained as to the Society's functions. Sir John Barrow in his address pointed out that among the most important matters that would engage the attention of the Society would be "the composition of maps illustrative of particular branches of geographical knowledge, more especially those relating to orology, hydrology, and geology;" the establishment of more scientific divisions of the earth's surface; "a more uniform and systematic orthography than has hitherto been observed....and a more precise and copious vocabulary; the preparation and improvement of road-books for different countries, of gazetteers, of geographical and statistical tables, and of such matters as are of general utility."

The Society, it will be admitted, has through its publications done a vast amount of good work since its foundation, but much yet remains to be done before the objects referred to in the above regulations are fulfilled. The second volume of the Journal contained 350 pages, and the tenth volume nearly double that number. Lists of the additions to the library were given and of other publications, giving in a less systematic way, and in a more elementary form, the bibliographies which now form so important a feature of The Geographical Journal. It must be said, however, that in succeeding years the size of the Journal varied between 400 and 700 pages, and although always copiously supplied with maps, the illustrations were not so lavish as in the earlier volumes. The Journal continued to be published to the year 1880, making fifty volumes in all, containing a record of all the most important geographical work that had been accomplished during that period.

The practical utility of the Journal was greatly facilitated by the publication of a series of decennial indexes. The first of these, dealing with the first ten volumes, was published in 1834, and was compiled by Col. J. R. Jackson, the Hon. Secretary. It covered 216 pages in double columns. The General Index to the second ten volumes was compiled by Mr. George Smith Brent and edited by Dr. Norton Shaw; it contains only about half the number of pages of the previous and the succeeding volumes. The task of compiling the General Index to the third ten volumes of the Journal was generously undertaken by the late Sir Henry Yule. The fourth and fifth decennial indexes were done in part by the late Mr. Jones, Chief Clerk, and partly under the superintendence of the late Mr. Bates.

PROCEEDINGS.

In 1855 the work of the Society had so increased, and there was so much in its proceedings of present interest, that it was decided to issue an additional publication, to be entitled Proceedings. This was issued at frequent intervals during the year, and contained reports of the proceedings at the Meetings, abstracts of papers read, short notices on matters of interest, correspondence, the Annual Presidential Addresses, and other items not quite suitable for the annual Journal, which was reserved for full reports of the longer and more important papers. The first volume, for Sessions 1855-6 and 1856-7, was published in 1857, and contained 540 pages. The succeeding volumes, including only one Session, contain from 300 to 650 pages, increasing in size as the work of the Society and geographical activity grew. These Proceedings extended to twenty-two volumes in all, the last volume, including Session 1877-78, having been published in 1878, and covering the same period as the last twenty-five volumes of the Journal. A general index to the old Proceedings is now in course of preparation.

HISTORY OF THE SOCIETY.

In 1881, when the Society had completed its fiftieth year, the Council published in the last volume of the old Journal, and also as a separate volume, "The Fifty Years' Work of the Royal Geographical Society," by Mr. Clements R. Markham, C.B., F.R.S., Secretary.

PROCEEDINGS, NEW SERIES.

With the publication of the 50th volume of the Journal and the 22nd of the old Proceedings, the Council decided to combine the two into one monthly publication, to be entitled "The Proceedings of the Royal Geographical Society (new series) and Monthly Record of Geography." For some years previous to this, under the editorship of Mr. (now Sir) Clements Markham, a monthly Geographical Magazine had been published independent of the Society. The new series of Proceedings covered the ground both of the old Proceedings and Journal and of the Geographical Magazine, so that the last ceased to be published. The new Proceedings, indeed, aimed at being a Monthly Geographical Magazine, containing not only the proceedings and papers of the Society, but also by articles and notes, lists and notices of all new books and maps, original maps and illustrations, covering the whole field of geography. The first part was issued in January 1879. The parts averaged from sixty-four to eighty pages each, and the volumes averaged about 800 pages. The periodical publication of the Society continued to be published in this form to 1892, when fourteen volumes of the new Proceedings were completed. To these fourteen volumes a General Index was published in 1896, containing 270 pages, double columns.

THE GEOGRAPHICAL JOURNAL.

In the year 1892 the Council were convinced that the time was ripe for a new departure in the periodical publications of the Society. The title "Proceedings," it was felt, was somewhat misleading as indicating the nature of the contents of the Monthly Journal issued by the Society. After careful consideration it was decided to change the title to that of The Geographical Journal, to increase its size, to cover still more completely the whole field of geography, to greatly increase the number of illustrations, and to introduce maps wherever it was possible to illustrate any point in this manner. The first number of the new Journal was published in January, 1893, and up to date fourteen volumes have been issued. Owing to the increased size of the monthly parts, these volumes are half-yearly, each averaging from 700 to 750 pages, or over 1400 pages annually, as compared with the 800 pages of the monthly Proceedings, of which the new Journal is the successor. Each volume contains from twenty to twenty-five large maps, besides smaller ones, and from fifty to a hundred illustrations. The Journal contains the papers read at the Society's meetings, reports of the proceedings, articles—varying in length—on exploring expeditions, and on matters of interest in all departments of geography, as well as on matters of public interest on which geography can throw light. Under the head of "Monthly Record" many pages each month are devoted to notes and news, classified under different heads. One of the most valuable features is the exhaustive bibliography of new books and papers and articles in the publications of societies and in periodicals relating to the various departments of geography, and also the list of new maps issued each month. Notes are appended in many cases to the titles of books and maps, while the more important publications are dealt with at greater length. The new Journal circulates to a considerable extent beyond the limit of the Society's Fellows.

SPECIAL PUBLICATIONS.

In the announcement prefixed to the last volume of the old Journal it was stated that papers of more than ordinary length and great value would be issued as supplements to the Proceedings. As a matter of fact supplementary volumes were occasionally issued from the beginning. Thus in 1836 were issued Howse's "Grammar of the Cree Language" and Graah's "Narrative of an Expedition to the East Coast of Greenland," translated from the Danish by G. Gordon M'Dougall. In 1873 Burton's "The Land of Cazembe" was issued by the Society, and in 1875 the volume of "Arctic Papers" for the use of the Nares Arctic Expedition. The "Hints to Travellers" is referred to specially below.

As "Supplementary Papers" to the new series of "Proceedings" thirty-two separate publications, memoirs and records of travel were issued between 1882 and 1893. These are collected into four large volumes. Some of the memoirs contained in these volumes are of great value; such as the late Colborne Baber's "Travels and Researches in Western China" (200 pages); "Progress of Discovery on the Coasts of New Guinea," by Sir Clements Markham; "Bibliographies of the Barbary States," by Sir Lambert Playfair; "On the Measurement of Heights by Barometer," by the late John Ball; "Journey of Carey and Dalglish in Chinese Turkestan;" "Modern and Ancient Roads in Eastern Asia Minor," by D. G. Hogarth and J. A. R. Munro; "The Historical Geography of Asia Minor," by Professor W. M. Ramsay, which occupies the whole of Volume IV. Mr. Keltie's "Report on Geographical Education," which appeared originally as a supplementary paper, was also issued as a separate volume.

The issue of Extra Volumes has been continued along with the new Geographical Journal; they are in a different and more attractive form than the former Supplementary Papers. The following volumes have been issued:—

"The Pamirs and the Source of the Oxus," by the Right Hon. George N. Curzon, M.P. "Map of Persia, with a Memorandum and Index," by the Right Hon. George N. Curzon, M.P. "The Topography of the Battlefield of Platæa," by G. B. Grundy, B.A. "Notes on the Kuril Islands," by Captain H. J. Snow. "Eastern Persian Irak," by General A. Houtum-Schindler. "A Journey on the Upper Mekong, Siam," by H. Warington Smyth. "British New Guinea: Country and People," by Sir William Macgregor, K.C.M.G., C.B. "Supplement to the Bibliography of Algeria," by Sir R. Lambert Playfair, K.C.M.G. "Historical Atlas of the Chinese Empire," by E. L. Oxenham.

A large volume containing the account of Sarat Chandra Das's visit to Lhasa is about to be issued; and another on Siam, with a new map, by James McCarthy, Government Surveyor of Siam. The special maps which have been published are referred to elsewhere.

"HINTS TO TRAVELLERS."

In consequence of the frequent applications made to the Council of the Royal Geographical Society by travellers about to set out for imperfectly-known countries, for instructions by which they might make their labours useful to geography, Colonel Jackson, the Secretary from 1840 to 1847, prepared a pamphlet entitled "What to Observe; or, the Traveller's Remembrancer," which went through four editions. In 1854 the Council requested the late Admiral Fitzroy and Lieut. Raper, R.N., to consider what instrumental outfit might best be recommended to explorers. Their report, together with suggestions submitted to them by Admirals Smyth and Beechey, Col. Sykes, and Mr. Francis Galton, was published first in the Journal for 1854, and afterwards issued in pamphlet form under the title of "Hints to Travellers."

The exhaustion of the first edition led, in 1864, to the revision and enlargement of the original work by a Committee of the Council, consisting of Sir George Back, Admiral Collinson, and Mr. Francis Galton, which was published as the second edition. In 1871 a third edition, under the same editorship, was published, and this was followed in 1878 by the fourth, under the sole editorship of Mr. Francis Galton, and in a new form convenient for pocket use.

In 1883 the Council, anxious to increase the usefulness of the volume, and to make it meet the higher requirements of a new generation of young travellers, many of whom had received scientific training from the Society's instructor, appointed an Editorial Sub-Committee, consisting of Col. H. H. Godwin Austen, Mr. J. K. Laughton, and Mr. Douglas W. Freshfield, to remodel the "Hints."

The "Hints on Practical Astronomy and Surveying"—the principal portion of the work—were placed in the hands of Mr. Coles, the Society's Map Curator, and Instructor in Practical Astronomy and Surveying. The "Hints on Collections in Natural History" were expanded by Mr. H. W. Bates, and "Hints on How and What to Observe in other Sciences—Geology and Anthropology," were added by Mr. W. T. Blanford and Mr. E. B. Tylor. The section on "Photography" was re-written by Mr. W. F. Donkin, "Meteorology" by Mr. R. Strachan, "Medical Hints" by Mr. G. E. Dobson, and "General Hints on Outfit" by Messrs. E. Whymper, Col. J. A. Grant, C.B., and Mr. J. Thomson.

The fifth edition was exhausted in 1889, and the production of the sixth was commenced under the editorship of Capt. (now Adm. Sir) W. J. L. Wharton, R.N., the Hydrographer to the Admiralty, and Mr. Douglas Freshfield. No material alterations were made in the character of the book, but it received such corrections and additions as were considered necessary to increase its usefulness. All the sections were carefully revised. The "Hints on Meteorology" were re-written by Mr. H. F. Blanford, those on "Photography" were brought up to date by Capt. Abney, "Hints on Industry and Commerce" were furnished by Mr. J. S. Keltie, and an index was added.

In 1893 all the sixth edition had been sold, and the seventh edition was brought out under the same editorship as the sixth. Preliminary Hints were added by Mr. D. W. Freshfield, the Astronomical and Surveying section was revised and considerably expanded by Mr. Coles, the "Medical Hints" were re-written by Surgeon-Major T. H. Parke, "Hints on Photography" were revised and brought up to date by Mr. J. Thomson, the "Natural History" notes were revised by Mr. P. L. Sclater.

The fact that 2000 copies of the seventh edition of "Hints to Travellers" have been sold to Fellows, officers, travellers, and explorers is sufficient evidence of the estimation in which it is held by the class for whose use it was prepared. A new edition is in preparation.

V.

ORTHOGRAPHY OF GEOGRAPHICAL NAMES.

THE following Memorandum, with Rules on the Orthography of Geographical Names, was drawn up in 1891 and revised in 1893, 1894 and 1899:—

In 1878 the Council of the R.G.S., impressed with the necessity of endeavouring to reduce the confusion existing in British maps with regard to the spelling of geographical names, in consequence of the variety of systems of orthography used by travellers and others to represent the sound of native place-names in different parts of the world, formally adopting the general principle which had been long used by many, and the recognition of which had been steadily gaining ground, viz., that in writing geographical native names vowels should have their Italian significance and consonants that which they have in the English language.

This broad principle required elucidation in its details, and a system based upon it was consequently drawn up with the intention of representing the principal syllabic sounds.

It will be evident to all who consider the subject, that to ensure a fairly correct pronunciation of geographical names by an English-speaking person an arbitrary system of orthography is a necessity. It is hardly too much to say that in the English language every possible combination of letters has more than one possible pronunciation. A strange word or name, even in our own language, is frequently mispronounced. How much more with words of languages utterly unknown to the reader.

The same necessity does not arise in most Continental languages. In them a definite combination of letters indicates a definite sound, and each nation consequently has spelt foreign words in accordance with the orthographic rules of its own language.

It was therefore not anticipated that foreign nations would effect any change in the form of orthography used in their maps, and the needs of the English-speaking communities were alone considered.

The object aimed at was to provide a system which should be simple enough for any educated person to master with the minimum of trouble, and which at the same time would afford an approximation to the sound of a place-name such as a native might recognise. No attempt was made to represent the numberless delicate inflexions of sound and tone which belong to every language, often to different dialects of the same language. For it was felt not only that such a task would be impossible, but that an attempt to provide for such niceties would defeat the object.

The adoption by others of the system thus settled has been more general than the Council ventured to hope.

The charts and maps issued by the Admiralty and War Office have been, since 1885, compiled and extensively revised in accordance with it. The Foreign and Colonial Offices have accepted it, and the latter has communicated with the Colonies requesting them to carry it out in respect to names of native origin.

Even more important, however, than these adhesions is the recent action of the Government of the United States of America, which, after an exhaustive inquiry, has adopted a system in close conformity with that of the R.G.S., and has directed that the spelling of all names in their vast territories should, in cases where the orthography is at present doubtful, be settled authoritatively by a Committee appointed for the purpose.

The two great English-speaking nations are thus working in harmony.

Contrary to expectation, but highly satisfactory, is the news that France and Germany have both formulated systems of orthography for foreign words, which in many details agree with the English system.

The Council of the R.G.S., by printing the Rules in Hints to Travellers, and by other means, have endeavoured to ensure that all travellers connected with the Society should be made aware of them; but as it is possible that some bodies and persons interested in the question may still be in ignorance of their existence and general acceptance, they feel that the time has come to again publish them as widely as possible, and to take every means in their power to aid the progress of the reform.

To this end, and with a view to still closer uniformity in geographical nomenclature in revisions of editions of published maps, a gigantic task requiring many years to carry out, the Council have decided to take steps to commence tentatively indexes of a few regions, in which the place-names will be recorded in the accepted form.

RULES.

The Rules referred to are as follows:—

1. No change is made in the orthography of foreign names in countries which use Roman letters: thus Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, &c., names will be spelt as by the respective nations.
2. Neither is change made in the spelling of such names in languages which are not written in Roman character as have become by long usage familiar to English readers: thus Calcutta, Cutch, Celebes, Mecca, &c., will be retained in their present form.

3. The true sound of the word as locally pronounced will be taken as the basis of the spelling.

4. An approximation, however, to the sound is alone aimed at. A system which would attempt to represent the more delicate inflexions of sound and accent would be so complicated as only to defeat itself. Those who desire a more accurate pronunciation of the written name must learn it on the spot by a study of local accent and peculiarities.

5. The broad features of the system are:—

- (a) That vowels are pronounced as in Italian and consonants as in English.
- (b) Every letter is pronounced, and no redundant letters are introduced. When two vowels come together, each one is sounded, though the result, when spoken quickly, is sometimes scarcely to be distinguished from a single sound, as in ai, au, ei.
- (c) One accent only is used, the acute, to denote the syllable on which stress is laid. This is very important, as the sounds of many names are entirely altered by the misplacement of this "stress."

6. Indian names are accepted as spelt in Hunter's Gazetteer of India, 1881.

7. In the case of native names in countries under the dominion of other European Powers in whose maps, charts, &c., the spelling is given according to the system adopted by that Power, such orthography should be as a rule disregarded, and the name spelt according to the British system, in order that the proper pronunciation may be approximately known. Exceptions should be in cases where the spelling has become by custom fixed, and occasionally it may be desirable to give both forms.

8. Generic geographical terms, e.g., those for Island, River, Mountain, &c., should be as a rule given in the native form. In the case of European countries, translation into English, where this has been the custom, should be retained, e.g., Cape Ortegal, not Cabo Ortegal, River Seine, not Fleuve Seine.

N.B.—On any printed map or MS. document, an explanatory table, giving the English equivalents of the generic terms used, should of necessity be inserted.

The following amplification of these rules explains their application:—

Letters	Pronunciation and Remarks.	Examples.
a	ah, a as in father	Java, Banána, Somáli, Bari.
e	eh, a as in fate	Tel-el-Kebír, Olélah, Yemo, Medina, Levúka, Peru.
i	English e ; i as in ravine ; the sound of ee in beet . Thus, not Feejee , but	Fiji, Hindi.
o	o as in mote	Tokyo.
u	long u as in flute ; the sound of oo in boot . oo or ou should never be employed for this sound. Thus, not Zooloo , but	Zulu, Sumatra.
	All vowels are shortened in sound by doubling the following consonant	Yarra, Tanna, Mecca, Jidda, Bonny.*
	Doubling of a vowel is only necessary where there is a distinct repetition of the single sound.	Nuulda, Oosima.
ai	as in aíle , or English i as in ice	Shanghai.
au	ow as in how	Fuchau.
ao	is slightly different from above	Macao.
aw	when followed by a consonant or at the end of a word, as in law	Cawnpore.
ei	is the sound of the two Italian vowels, but is frequently slurred over, when it is scarcely to be distinguished from ei in the English eight or ey in the English they .	Beirút, Beirúli.
b	English b .
ch	is always soft as in church	Ohingchin.
d	English d .
f	English f . ph should not be used for the sound of f . Thus, not Haiphong , but	Haifong, Nafa.
g	is always hard. (Soft g is given by j)	Galápagos.
h	is always pronounced when inserted.
hw	as in what ; better rendered by hwo than by wh , or h followed by a vowel; thus Hwang ho , not Whang ho , or Hoang ho .	Hwang ho, Ngan hwi.
j	English j . Dj should never be put for this sound .	Japan, Jinchuen.
k	English k . It should always be put for the hard c . Thus, not Corea , but	Korea.
kh	The Oriental guttural	Khan.
gh	is another guttural, as in the Turkish	Dagh, Ghazi.
l
m	As in English.
n
ng	has two separate sounds, the one hard as in the English word finger , the other as in singer . As these two sounds are rarely employed in the same locality, no attempt is made to distinguish between them.
p	As in English.
ph	As in loophole	Chemulpho, Mokpho.
th	stands both for its sound in thing , and as in this . The former is most common.	Bethlehem.

* The y is retained as a terminal in this word under Rule 2 above. The word is given as a familiar example of the alteration in sound caused by the second consonant.

Letters.	Pronunciation and Remarks.	Examples.
q	should never be employed; qu (in quiver) is given as kw . When qu has the sound of k as in quoit , it should be given by k .	Kwangtung.
r	As in English.
v
w		Sawákin.
x
y	is always a consonant, as in yard , and therefore should never be used as a terminal, i or e being substituted as the sound may require. Thus, not Mikindány , wady , but not Kwaly , but	Kikúyu.
z	English z	Mikindáni, wadi.
zh	The French j , or as s in treasure . Accents should not generally be used, but where there is a very decided emphatic syllable or stress, which affects the sound of the word, it should be marked by an acute accent.	Kwale. Zulu. Muzhdaha. Tongatábu, Galápagos, Paláwan, Saráwak.

ADDENDUM.

METHOD OF TRANSLITERATING CHINESE AND RUSSIAN GEOGRAPHICAL NAMES IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE R.G.S. SYSTEM.

I. CHINESE NAMES.

For Chinese names, the Wade system of spelling, as modified in Playfair's "Cities and Towns of China," to be adopted as a basis being transliterated into the R.G.S. system in the following manner:—

For Ê if pronounced short as in CHÊN, FÊN, &c., write Ü, or U followed by a double consonant.	For K', CH', T', TS', TZ', write K, CH, T, TS and TZ.
„ Ê terminal, as in CHÊ, LÊ, &c., write AW.	„ P' write PH.
„ ÊI write EI.	„ HUA write HWA.
„ ÊRH write URR.	„ HUI write HWEI.
„ Ü write U.	„ HUO write HWAU.
„ Ü write E.	„ J write ZH.
„ SSÜ write SE.	„ KUA write KWA.
„ O write AW.	„ K'UA write KWA.
„ OU write O.	„ KUEI write KWEI.
	„ K'UEI write KWEI.
	„ KUO write KWAU.

In this system the Manchurian dialect is adopted as the basis; but with regard to names in the provinces of FU KIEN, KWANG TUNG and KWANGSI, the local pronunciation should be followed as a guide for the spelling. CHIH and SHIH, pronounced somewhat as the chi in chirp and the shi in shirt, have been retained, as the sounds are difficult to express according to the Society's rules. Canton and Peiho are to be spelt in this, the customary way.

II. RUSSIAN NAMES.

The following table gives the equivalents of the Russian letters in the transliteration of Russian names :

Printed Characters.	Curative Characters.	Equivalents in E.G.A. System.	Remarks.	Printed Characters.	Curative Characters.	Equivalents in E.G.A. System.	Remarks.
А а	А а	a		Т т	Т т	t
Б б	В в	b		У у	У у	u
В в	В в	v		Ф ф	Ф ф	f
Г г	Г г	g(h)	If g, always hard. If h, as in English.	Х х	Х х	kh
Д д	Д д	d		Ц ц	Ц ц	ts
Е е	Е е	e	e in benefit (ye, when initial).	Ч ч	Ч ч	ch
Ж ж	Ж ж	zh	Sound of French j, or z in azure.	Ш ш	Ш ш	sh
З з	З з	z		Щ щ	Щ щ	shch	shch in Parish church. Omit in transliteration.
И и	И и	i		Ъ ъ	Ъ ъ	mute	In middle of a word. At end of a word.
І і	І і	i		Ы ы	Ы ы	yi	Omit in transliteration.
К к	К к	k		Ь ь	Ь ь	mute
Л л	Л л	l		Ѣ ѣ	Ѣ Ѣ ѣ	ye
М м	М м	m		Э э	Э э	e	a in fate.
Н н	Н н	n		Ю ю	Ю ю	yu
О о	О о	o	o in Look.	Я я	Я я	ya
П п	П п	p		Ѧ ѧ	Ѧ ѧ	f
Р р	Р р	r		Ѩ ѩ	Ѩ ѩ	ae	Seldom used. Omit in transliteration.
С с	С с	s	Invariably sharp as a double ss.	Ѫ ѫ	Ѫ Ѫ ѫ	mute

Note.—The termination ѪѪ and ѩѩ (adjective) should be transliterated i.

LIBRARY.

HISTORICAL.

THE Library was founded by the gift of books by the original members of the Society, 400 volumes forming the nucleus in 1832; but the growth of the collection was slow and intermittent until the acquisition of rooms in Waterloo Place, in 1841, when an opportunity was for the first time given of properly arranging the books. The wish was then expressed by the Council "that no work relating to Geography, no map or chart extant, should be wanting to the Library." In 1850 the number of volumes was about 4000, and two years later the exchange of publications with other societies was inaugurated, and a special grant was set apart by the Council annually for the purchase of books. Many volumes continued to be presented and bequeathed by Fellows interested in the welfare of the Library, and by 1872, when the books were arranged in the present premises at Savile Row, it had grown to be a collection of very great value. In 1880 the number of volumes was about 20,000; and the steady acquisitions since then have raised it to the rank of the finest geographical library in the world. In 1894 an extensive alteration of the Society's House permitted of a large expansion of the Library, and allowed the crowded shelves to be relieved and the works re-arranged; but the acquisition of fresh accessions goes on at an increasing rate, and additional space must now again be sought for.

PRESENT CONDITION.

A careful estimate of the contents of the Library at the end of December, 1897, gave the total number of volumes, in round numbers, as 31,000: composed of 15,300 volumes of bound books, 6,900 pamphlets or reprints in cardboard covers, and 8,800 volumes of serial publications. The acquisitions number about 750 volumes per annum. By exchange with fifty societies and periodicals in the United Kingdom about 95 volumes are received annually, and by exchange with 150 colonial and foreign societies and periodicals about 160 volumes are received: a total of 200 exchanges yielding 255 volumes per year. The other works are either presented by the authors or by Government Departments, placed in the Library after being noticed in the Geographical Journal, to which they are sent by the publishers, or purchased out of the special grant voted annually by the Council.

It was apparently the intention when the Library was founded to limit its contents to works of a purely geographical character, and at first books of travel preponderated. Later, works on ethnology, geology, history, and other allied subjects were added; but finally the exigencies of space have again demanded the restriction of accessions to strictly geographical works.

The nucleus of the Library consists of descriptions of travel and exploration in all parts of the world, some departments being much more satisfactorily represented than others. Perhaps the most comprehensive is the division dealing with Polar exploration, from which few of the chief works are wanting. The Collections of Travels are also fairly satisfactory, the early English collections of Eden (1577), Hakluyt (1589), and Purchas (1617) being well represented, besides the later collections of Astley, Burney, Callander, Churchill, Dalrymple, Harris, Kerr, Phillips, and Pinkerton. Foreign collections, such as those of Eyriès, Gottfried, Ramusio, and the French, German and Dutch compilations founded on Astley, are also well represented. The chief defect is the absence of a complete set of De Bry's unrivalled "Travels," the market value of which is about £500; but an incomplete set of six volumes in excellent preservation, with the beautiful copper-plates perfectly fresh and unstained, was procured in 1897 at the sale of the Ashburnham Library.

In works of general geography the Library is not so rich as it might be. Many of the early classics are wanting. The earliest "Geographia" of Ptolemy in the possession of the Society is the Latin folio edition published at Strasburg in 1525; but no attempt has been made to secure costly bibliographical curiosities for the Library at the expense of works of practical utility to geographers. The most recent general works in French and German are liberally represented on the shelves, and no English treatises of real importance—they are unfortunately very few—are absent. The curious sixteenth-century "Cosmographia" of Sebastian Munster is a mine of quaint geographical information and illustrations, representing the knowledge of the middle-ages not yet displaced by results of modern discovery. The "Cosmographia" of Apian and Gemma Frisius, on the other hand, is a fitting introduction to the fine works on mathematical geography of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, in which the Library is comparatively rich.

The history of discovery is represented by many valuable works, not only in such collections as the publications of the Hakluyt Society and the "Recueil de Voyages," but also by the original books. The later literature of the discovery of America is fairly complete, among the most remarkable works being the great "Raccolta di Documenti e Studi" of the Italian Commission, and the beautifully illustrated "Christobal Colon" by Asensio.

In physical geography there are still many gaps, and no effort has recently been made to include geological works, which, during the presidency of Sir Roderick Murchison, were acquired in considerable numbers. The Ethnology section also, with the subdivision on languages, has only been partially kept up to date, on account of the great development of these subjects and the existence of societies specially devoted to their study. The preservation of biographies of geographers is viewed as an important purpose of the Library. Hence, biographical dictionaries find a place on the shelves, and in default of more elaborate works, obituary notices, made up in pamphlet form, are preserved.

In a few instances collections of books presented or purchased have been kept apart from the main Library; for example, the unrivalled collection of works on Morocco, made by the late Dr. Robert Brown, and the interesting series of MSS. plans for a history of the Arctic regions made by the late Captain Parker Snow. It is to be hoped that the presentation of rare or inaccessible works by Fellows will continue. Many interesting papers are lost to the Society by being published in periodicals of a non-geographical character. Separate copies of these, presented by the authors, are always welcomed.

The Transactions and Periodicals are of three classes: (1) The official publications of Government Departments or international institutions of a geographical character, such as Sailing Directions, Census Reports, Records of Surveys, etc. (2) Geographical publications, either in the form of journals published weekly, monthly or quarterly, or the transactions of societies wholly or mainly devoted to geography. This department is practically complete for recent years. (3) Publications of a more general kind in which geographical papers are frequently published, including the transactions of Royal Societies and Academies, and high class journals such as the Quarterly Review, the Nineteenth Century, the Fortnightly Review, the Contemporary Review, Blackwood's Magazine, and the leading weekly illustrated papers. No periodical which does not frequently publish geographical papers is subscribed for.

It is necessary to refer to the languages represented in the Library. While English books predominate, works in French and German are treated on an exactly equal footing so far as selection is concerned. Books in other languages, such as Italian, Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, Swedish and Danish, are purchased only when they are of quite exceptional importance, and books in Russian, the other Slavonic languages, Hungarian, Finnish, Greek, Latin and Oriental languages are practically never bought, although a number have been presented. The result of a careful estimate shows that about 51 per cent. of the books in the Library are in English, 21 per cent. in French, 16 per cent. in German, and 12 per cent. in other languages. Of books dealing with geography as a science in general the greater number are in German.

ARRANGEMENT OF BOOKS.

At the extensive re-arrangement of the Library in 1894 an attempt was made to place the unique resources of the Society more readily at the service of Fellows than had been the case previously. The introduction of the electric light at that time added much to the convenience of reference, and enabled some dark corners to be utilised for storing books. Unfortunately the open fires used throughout the house continue as an element of danger to the Library and much aggravate the plague of dust. The damage done by the long-continued use of gas has recently necessitated the rebinding of several hundred volumes.

The books throughout are arranged according to subject. The main room of the Library is on the first floor, where the Assistant-Librarian is always in attendance. Two sides of the room are occupied by books of reference and the unbound numbers of the current volumes of periodicals kept in separate boxes. A revolving bookcase in one corner contains a set of the last edition of the best English and foreign guide-books; another small case contains a selection of handsomely illustrated books of large quarto size, which it is inconvenient to place on the ordinary shelves. The new books received by the Society, and a selection of the books just ready for borrowing, stand upon the table for inspection. Two cases on the south wall are occupied by Arctic books; and two cases by books relating to the British Islands. The west wall contains books dealing with the different countries of Europe, except Russia, those for each country by itself.

The gallery opening from this room contains the rest of the books capable of topographic arrangement, beginning at the north-west corner with Russia, and going on with Asia, Australia, Africa, North America, and South America. The south-western corner of the gallery contains sailing directions and other works under the charge of the Map-Curator, and the Librarian is not responsible for their arrangement, although for convenience they are entered in the Library Catalogue.

The landing on the first floor is fitted with glazed presses containing bound volumes of serials, and the shelves round the Council Room are also occupied by similar works. In the Council Room there are also some very large illustrated works, such as the elephant-folio account of the Temple of Borobodoer in Java, and the atlases of plates of the French circumnavigations of the last century.

The landings on the second floor and the Secretary's ante room are fully taken up with serial publications, many of them in Russian and Dutch.

The Upper Library is devoted to general works on geography. It is furnished with tables for the convenience of Fellows engaged in geographical literary work, and the work on the Subject Catalogue is also carried on in it. Ancient and historical geography, works of general reference, like the "Encyclopædia Britannica," books on geology, meteorology, oceanography, ethnography, and biography are arranged here, each division by itself. A large section is also devoted to collections of travels, and Dr. Brown's collection of works on Morocco is placed in one of the bays.

The Librarian's Room contains a number of works of reference—bibliographies, catalogues, dictionaries, books on physical and economic geography, and school-books. Here also is the card subject catalogue of acquisitions since 1892, which is always kept up to date.

On the third floor some of the less frequently referred to sets of Transactions are placed in the Instruction Room.

Throughout the Library the bookcases are numbered consecutively, 1 to 102 on the first floor, 103 to 159 on the second floor, and 160 to 176 on the third. Each shelf is lettered alphabetically from above downward, the top shelf in each case being called A. Thus each shelf in the Library is denoted by a number and letter from 1A to 176G. The total shelf space will accommodate rather less than 40,000 volumes of average size.

All the books are marked in pencil with the number of the shelf on which they are placed, and these press-marks are entered in a copy of the Catalogue, so that any book may be found readily. A "Desiderata Book" is provided, in which Fellows are invited to insert the title of any work they desire to see added to the Library.

WORKING OF THE LIBRARY.

Each book or pamphlet as it is received is entered in the Accession Book, and the title copied for publication in the Journal. The book is then laid on the table for three months, and afterwards placed on the shelf containing other works of a similar kind. The pamphlets are put in boards by the Society's map-mounter, and are thereafter treated exactly like books. Many of the foreign books are published in paper covers, and these have to be bound, a stout cloth binding being in almost all cases preferred to leather, experience having shown that cloth resists the London atmosphere much better than any leather binding. A number of old books formerly bound in calf or morocco have to be rebound in cloth each year. A special colour of cloth is used for binding books belonging to each section of the Library; but new books sent out in publishers' covers are not rebound until they fall to pieces.

The time of the Library staff is largely occupied by the routine of entering and cataloguing the new accessions, and in attending to Fellows who call in order to consult or to borrow books. Frequent demands are also made by Government Offices and by learned Societies for special information or references to geographical literature, all of which are attended to. The number of borrowers per week averaged seventeen in 1895, eighteen in 1896, nearly twenty-two in 1897, over twenty-one in 1898, and twenty in 1899; but this gives little clue to the actual amount of work involved ; a few minutes suffices in some cases, in others as much as an hour may be necessary in looking for books containing the information which is required.

The use of the Library for purposes of geographical work has greatly extended since a special room was set apart for that purpose. Occasionally one person may come daily for a month or more and consult many hundred volumes ; and the room is rarely without at least one worker. As a matter of courtesy the members of foreign geographical societies visiting this country in order to consult the libraries are freely accorded the privileges of Fellows, so far as reference to the books is concerned.

A good deal of work has also to be done by letter, some of the questions asked often involving a great deal of hunting through works of reference before the correct reply can be found.

THE CATALOGUES.

The first Catalogue of the Library was prepared by the Secretary, Dr. Norton Shaw, in 1852, and was superseded in 1865 by a fresh volume of 542 pages, giving the contents of the Library down to that date. The entries were all arranged in one alphabet under authors' names as far as possible, but with long headings for "Transactions, Voyages," etc.

In 1871 Mr. G. M. Evans, of the British Museum, compiled a supplement of 136 pages, which included the accessions down to 1870. Mr. E. C. Rye, Librarian of the Society, brought out a second supplement coming down to 1880. This forms a volume of 380 pages, and while necessarily conforming to the previous arrangement, it is an admirable piece of work most conscientiously performed. When the time came for the next decade of accessions to be catalogued, the Library Committee decided not to issue it as a third supplement, because the original Catalogue was then out of print. It was accordingly resolved to reprint the old catalogue and supplements together with the new supplement, all carefully re-arranged and revised ; and this was done. The volume was prepared by the present Librarian, issued early in 1895, and is a complete list of the contents of the Library down to the end of 1893. It is a volume of nearly 840 pages, printed for the most part in double column. The first 520 pages form an Authors' catalogue, with 18,000 entries arranged alphabetically under authors' names. Of these 3,800 entries are cross-references. Books are in each case distinguished from pamphlets. Three appendices follow ; the first, of 88 pages, gives an analysis of the collections of travels arranged alphabetically, with 3,300 entries. Appendix II., of 149 pages, contains 5,600 entries, dealing with anonymous and official publications arranged geographically ; and the 61 pages of Appendix III. contain a list of the serial publications arranged geographically, and requiring 1,600 entries.

This Catalogue is kept up to date by the publication, every month, of the accessions to the Library in the Geographical Journal. The compilation of the "Geographical Literature of the Month" is by no means the least arduous piece of Library routine, for it includes memoirs and articles in journals as well as separate books. Each article is glanced through by the Librarian and a note on the contents added in cases where the recording of the title is insufficient. The entries from two copies of this monthly bibliography are cut out, and one set is pasted on slips arranged alphabetically and kept in the Library for reference, and to form the nucleus of a new supplement.

In 1870 Mr. Evans prepared a Classified Catalogue, which is still useful, although of course much out of date. The arrangement was alphabetic, and the subjects entered were usually the names of places. A new subject catalogue of a complete kind is a most important desideratum. The Council having authorised the compilation of such a work, it was put in hand in 1893, and a good deal of time was occupied in getting over preliminary difficulties as to compilation and classification. Since 1892 the second copy of the notices in the "Literature of the Month" have been pasted on cards and arranged in geographical order by the Librarian, who, as the number of cards increased, was able to experiment on the best methods of classifying them. It was resolved to make these cards a nucleus for the great Subject Catalogue, which should thus commence by being up to date and be extended backwards to embrace the whole contents of the Library. The collection of title cards for this work was completed in January 1899, and numbers upwards of 100,000, including the contents of all the most important geographical journals and Transactions. In the selection of titles very important services were rendered by Mr. Edward Heawood, M.A. The cards have been classified into large divisions such as the continents, and the various departments of general geography, the sections being subdivided in accordance with the plan experimentally adopted. The usefulness of this catalogue, already great, will increase; and when the catalogue has been placed in handy boxes, instead of the large and awkward drawers which now contain it, it will be readily accessible and easy to consult. An incident in the preparation of the Subject Catalogue has been the attempt to construct a classification of geography such as will provide a place for recording every separate geographical fact and achievement.

The Library of the Society is being conducted with the view of making it an efficient engine of geographical progress, and not merely a repository for work done long ago. The arrangement of the shelves and catalogues is designed to afford the greatest possible facilities to Fellows desirous of studying any of the branches of geography, or consulting geographical literature, on any subject. During the last ten years the work of the Library has been greatly increased, and it shows no sign of diminution. The staff consists of the Librarian and two assistants.

REGULATIONS FOR THE LIBRARY AND MAP ROOM.

1. The Library shall be open to Fellows every day in the week except Sundays, Christmas Day, Good Friday, Bank Holidays, and on such other days as the Council may from time to time determine, from half-past Ten in the morning to half-past Four in the afternoon, except on Saturdays, when it shall close at One P.M. The Map Room shall be open to Fellows and the public on the same days and during the same hours as the Library.

2. Every Fellow of the Society is entitled (subject to the Bye-laws) to borrow as many as four volumes at one time, with the exception of Dictionaries, Encyclopædias, and other works of reference, Minute-Books, Manuscripts, Atlases, Books in loose sheets, unbound Numbers of Periodicals, Drawings and Prints, unless with the special written order of the President or one of the Secretaries. Maps, Charts, and Photographs can only be lent by the special sanction of the President or one of the Secretaries. New Works cannot be lent before the expiration of three months after receipt.

3. The title of every Book, Pamphlet, Map, or Work of any kind lent shall be entered in the Library-register, with the borrower's signature, unless applied for by letter in the borrower's hand.

4. No work of any kind can be retained longer than one month; but at the expiration of that period, or sooner, the same must be returned free of expense, and may then, upon re-entry, be again borrowed, provided that no application for it shall have been made in the meantime by any other Fellow.

5. Any Fellow requiring to consult a volume on the premises shall apply to the Librarian, or his Assistant, who will procure the same; and every such volume when done with shall be at once handed to the Librarian, or his Assistant, to be by him returned to its proper place.

6. In every case of loss or damage to any volume, or other property of the Society, the borrower shall make good the same; and all or any property shall be considered as lost, and recovery of its value be capable of being enforced, which is not returned within four months after application for it.

7. No stranger can be admitted to the Library except by the introduction of a Fellow.

8. Fellows transgressing any of the above Regulations shall be reported by the Secretary to the Council, when such steps will be taken as the case may require.

9. In consideration of the grant of £500 per annum from Her Majesty's Government, the Map Room of the Society shall be open to all persons seeking geographical information.

VII.

MAP ROOM.

THE Map Room receives a Government grant of £500 a year on condition that the Society's collection of maps shall be open to the public.

A book kept in the Map Room, in which the number of visitors is entered, shows that this privilege is appreciated, and that the maps are frequently consulted by Government Departments and the public.

In addition to manuscript maps, the Society's collection includes many valuable ancient atlases and maps, and no opportunity is lost of making up deficiencies. All the principal Government surveys in the British Empire are received from the Imperial, Indian, and Colonial Governments, while those of foreign countries are added to the collection as soon as they are published. All new maps and atlases, published in the United Kingdom or abroad, are submitted to the Map Committee, and, if approved of, are purchased; thus the Map Room collection is kept well up to date, and the most recent and reliable maps can always be consulted by the Fellows of the Society and the public. The number of sheets of maps in the Society's collection now exceeds 101,000.

The series of large maps, which have been constructed at different times to illustrate lectures, are in frequent request, and are lent to societies and to private individuals for a fee of £1 1s.

In 1884, on the suggestion of Mr. Douglas Freshfield, a beginning was made in the collection of photographs illustrative of the various regions of the world and of geographical subjects. The Society's collection of photographs and slides now exceeds 18,000.

Since it was decided to illustrate papers read before the Society with the dioptric light, the number of lantern slides has steadily increased, and as the majority of them have been produced from photographs taken by explorers, they form what is probably the best collection of geographical lantern slides in the world. These slides are lent to the Fellows and the public at a charge of 2s. a dozen.

The Council have decided to have a card catalogue made of all the photographs and slides in the Society's collection, and it is hoped that it will be completed by the end of the year. In addition to this, circulars have been sent out to all the Fellows of the Society, inquiring as to whether they have geographical and cognate photographs and slides, and if so, what are the subjects, and under what conditions they would be willing to lend them. Favourable answers have been received to some of these, and Fellows of the Society, by writing to the Map Curator, desiring it can be put into communication with those willing to lend photographs.

The Map Room catalogues are all in manuscript, with the exception of one that was printed in 1882. They are arranged geographically, and the date when each map is received, together with its title, scale, size of sheet, author, place and date of publication, and donor, are entered. Each map, atlas, and set of photographs has its proper press mark, which enables it to be readily found.

Among the more important maps published by the Society are:—“Map of Eastern Equatorial Africa,” by E. G. Ravenstein; “Persia, Afghanistan, and Beluchistan,” and “The Pamirs,” compiled under the supervision of Lord Curzon of Kedleston; “The Karakoram Himalayas,” by Sir Martin Conway; “Tibet and Surrounding Regions,” compiled from the latest information.

A complete set of instruments, with other articles necessary for the equipment of an observer in the field, is placed under a glass case in the Map Room, as a guide to intending travellers, and to remind them of useful things which might otherwise be overlooked, and further information can be obtained from the Society’s instructor. The staff of the Map Room consists of a Curator and two assistants.

MAP DRAWING.

As far as possible the maps published by the Society are compiled and drawn on the premises. In the Map-Drawing Room on the third floor are a chief draughtsman and two assistants. These are kept busy the whole year round examining and compiling the materials brought back by travellers from all parts of the world, and in executing special maps of particular regions from the best existing materials. The lithographing of the maps is done outside.

Beside the Map-Drawing Room is the Map-Mounter’s Room, where all the maps acquired by the Society are mounted on cloth for their better preservation, and where all the pamphlets added to the Library are put into cases.

VIII.

SCIENTIFIC INSTRUCTION.

PREVIOUS to the year 1879 the only instruction given in practical astronomy and surveying to intending travellers was undertaken privately by the late Map Curator, Staff Commander George, R.N., and his successor, Mr. John Coles.

In the summer of 1879 the Council sanctioned a portion of a scheme proposed by the Secretary, Mr. Clements Markham, for giving instruction to intending travellers in the use of instruments for astronomical observations and surveying. Mr. Coles, the Map Curator, was appointed the instructor, and has held that position to the present day. The lessons are given in the Society's building, and an observatory has been built on the roof to facilitate instruction, surveying being taught in the country. It was arranged that the fees paid by the pupils should be at the rate of 2s. 6d. per hour, and, in the first year, thirteen intending travellers received instruction. During the seven months that have elapsed since the last annual report, thirty-two gentlemen have received instruction.

As some of the results of the instruction given, forty-five explorers have contributed maps which have been published by the Society, and three—viz., Lord Curzon of Kedleston, Mr. St. G. R. Littledale, the late Mr. Joseph Thomson, and Mr. E. A. Fitzgerald—have been awarded the Society's gold medal; while eleven others have received minor awards for work done in the field. In addition to this, nearly all the officers who have taken part in the Boundary Commissions in Africa have received instruction from Mr. Coles.

The fees for instruction at the Society have continued to be 2s. 6d. an hour, and the whole course includes observations with the sextant and theodolite, including the adjustments and the computation of latitude by meridian altitudes of sun and stars, by circummeridional altitudes, by Polaris and double altitudes. Observations with sextant and theodolite, and computations for finding local time by sun and stars, and thence the longitude; equal altitudes of sun and stars for finding error and rate of watch. Longitude by occultations of stars by the moon, and the prediction of the circumstances of occultations; by moon culminating stars and the necessary corrections for level error, and placing the instrument in the meridian; eclipses of Jupiter's satellites and Lunars when required; longitude by meridian distances from the observed error of watch. Observations and computation of the true bearing of an object by its angular distance from the sun. Error of compass from the observed bearing of the sun and its computed true bearing.

In addition to the above, surveying with the prismatic compass, tachemeter, plane-table and theodolite, determination of altitudes by barometer and boiling-point thermometer, plotting from the field-book and map projection.

By a resolution of the Council, 4th January, 1897, it was decided to grant diplomas, as originally proposed by Mr. Markham in 1879, to students who had gone through the whole course of instruction, and who could pass an examination on the subjects mentioned before a committee appointed for that purpose. Since that date the following gentlemen have successfully passed the examination and received diplomas:—Capt. E. M. Woodward, Capt. A. H. C. Kenny Herbert, Mr. C. L. Temple, Mr. R. J. Money, Lieut. F. B. Henderson, R.N., Lieut.-Col. J. J. Swinton, R.A., Lieut. C. J. R. L. Learmouth, R.N., A. E. S. Laughton, Capt. W. C. G. Heneker, Major W. D. Bird, Capt. W. F. T. Corrie, R.A., Capt. A. J. Richardson, W. F. Wilkinson, Major E. M. Percival, R.A., and Captain Vincent Wright.

The foregoing has reference only to instruction in surveying and astronomical observations, but in the year 1884 the Council sanctioned the rest of the scheme proposed by Mr. Markham in 1879 for assisting intending travellers, who obtained a certificate of competency in astronomy and surveying from Mr. Coles. They can now receive practical instruction in other subjects on the same plan, as regards fees, as that sanctioned for instruction in practical astronomy, and in 1895 this scheme was further expanded.

The following is a list of the subjects :—

Geology, including practical training in the field. Under the superintendence of the Director General of the Geological Survey.

Botany. Under the superintendence of the Director, Royal Gardens, Kew.

Zoology. By Dr. R. BOWDLER SHARPE, Natural History Museum, South Kensington.

Anthropological Measurements. Under the superintendence of Dr. J. G. GARSON, Anthropological Institute.

Photography. By Mr. JOHN THOMSON, Author of "Photographic Illustrations of China and its People," and other works.

Instructions as to What and How to Observe in the Field, from the general geographical standpoint. By Dr. H. R. MILL, Librarian to the Society.

From the first the Society has actively encouraged exploration and research by grants of money and by the loan of instruments. The following is a list of the expeditions and travellers that have been subsidised by the Society:—

EDUCATION.

For the last quarter of a century the Council has made very persistent efforts to improve the geographical education of the country, and not without permanent results. In 1884 Mr. Keltie, afterwards Librarian (1885), and now the Secretary to the Society, was commissioned to investigate the position of geographical education in Great Britain and on the Continent. He made a full report; and in 1885-86 there was an exhibition of geographical appliances for teaching. The collection has since been kept at the Teachers' Guild Museum in Gower Street. There can be no doubt that Mr. Keltie's Report was the means of arousing an interest in the teaching of geography, which has since increased, so that its influence has been permanent and useful.

From 1871 to 1887 the Council perseveringly represented to the authorities of the Oxford and Cambridge Universities the urgent importance of giving geography its proper place as a subject for instruction. At length it was arranged, in 1888, that a Reader in Geography should be appointed at Oxford, half his salary being paid by the University and half by the Society, for a period of five years. At the end of that time the Society consented to continue its payments for another five years; and, under the able conduct of Mr. H. J. Mackinder, the Readership became a marked success. The University authorities fully recognised its importance, and at the end of the second five years they resolved to continue it permanently without assistance from the Society. In 1899 a new departure was made by the establishment in Oxford of a School of Geography under the supervision of a Joint Committee of the Society and the University. To the School the Society contributes £400 a year for five years, and the University contributes a like sum. The School is under the superintendence of Mr. Mackinder, who deals specially with the historical and political aspects of the subject, with Mr. H. N. Dickson and Dr. A. J. Herbertson as lecturers and tutors in different branches of Physical Geography, and Mr. G. B. Grundy as lecturer in Ancient Geography. The School is intended to furnish a thorough theoretical and practical training in every branch of geography in the highest acceptance of the term. A start was made in October, 1899, and so far the results have been encouraging.

At the Cambridge University a lectureship in geography was established in February, 1888, towards which the Society agreed to contribute two-thirds of the salary for a term of five years. As at Oxford, the Council agreed to continue the payment to Cambridge for a second five years. That term has now expired, and geographical instruction is recognised by the University authorities as so useful that a readership in geography has been established, the appointment having been given to Mr. Yule Oldham, the former lecturer. The Council has consented to continue its payments towards the salary for a third five years, in the confident expectation that at the end of that time Cambridge, like Oxford, will be in a position to continue the geographical readership permanently.

The Society has also given liberal assistance to the Oxford University Extension Board; for several years contributed £100 a year for lectures in geography to the London University Extension Society; granted £75 a year, from 1891 to 1897, for a lectureship at Owens College, Manchester; and prizes to the Training Colleges from 1888 to 1894. At present prizes are given for geography to the training-ships Conway and Worcester, to the Scotch training colleges, and to the Oxford and Cambridge Local Examinations.

XI.

MEETINGS.

THERE are on an average fourteen evening meetings during the Session from November to June, besides occasional afternoon technical meetings in the Map Room. The meetings are opened by the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, of the names of newly-elected Fellows, and of candidates for election. The President then refers to any matter of interest to the Society, and briefly introduces the reader of the paper for the evening. The papers are almost invariably illustrated by lantern slides. After the reading of the paper a discussion takes place. The meeting then adjourns to the tea-room, where tea and coffee are served, and where there is an exhibition of photographs and articles bearing on the subject of the paper. The following is a list of papers read at the evening meetings during last year, 1899:—

- Jan. 23.—“The Plan of the Earth, and its Causes,” by Dr. J. W. Gregory.
- Feb. 13.—“Exploration in the Canadian Rockies; a search for Mount Hooker and Mount Brown,” by Professor Norman Collie, F.R.S.
- „ 27.—“Travels and Researches in Rhodesia,” by Dr. H. Schlichter.
- Mar. 13.—“The Uses of Practical Geography, as illustrated in recent Frontier Operations,” by Col. T. H. Holdich, K.C.I.G., C.B.
- „ 27.—“Illustrations of Waves,” by Vaughan Cornish, Esq.
- Apr. 24.—“Journeys on the Nyasa Tanganyika Plateau,” by Captain F. R. F. Boileau, R.E., and L. A. Wallace, Esq.
- May 8.—“Explorations in the Bolivian Andes,” by Sir Martin Conway.
- „ 29.—“Explorations in Patagonia and the Eastern Andes,” by Dr. Francisco Moreno.
- June 5.—Anniversary Meeting. Address by the President.
- „ 19.—“Exploration between Lake Rudolf and the Nile,” by Colonel J. R. L. Macdonald, R.E.
- „ 26.—“Road-making and Surveying in British East Africa,” by Captain G. E. Smith, R.E.
- Nov. 13.—Opening Address by the President. “Travels in Bokhara,” by Willy Rickmer Rickmers, Esq.
- „ 27.—“Desert Sand Dunes,” by Vaughan Cornish, Esq.
- Dec. 11.—“A Journey through Abyssinia to the Nile,” by H. Weld Blundell, Esq.

THE NATIONAL ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION.

During the past year the special efforts of the Society to obtain the funds for an Antarctic expedition have met with considerable success. The appeal of the Joint Committee of the Royal and the Royal Geographical Societies resulted in private subscriptions to the amount of about £45,000, a munificent example being set by one of our Fellows, Mr. Llewellyn Longstaff, who presented to the President a cheque for £25,000. A further appeal to the Government succeeded in obtaining a promise of a sum equivalent to the amount of the private subscriptions.

On this basis the Executive Committee have been busily at work organising the expedition. Special Committees were appointed for different subjects, and preparations are so far advanced that the ship has been placed for construction in the hands of a Dundee shipbuilding firm. Other preparations are being made, and it is believed the expedition will be able to start in the summer of 1901, at the same time as the German expedition, with which it is to co-operate.

ANNIVERSARY DINNER AND SOIRÉES.

THE Anniversary Dinner takes place in the evening of the day on which the Anniversary Meeting is held. The dinner and annual soirée have always been useful conclusions to the business of the Session. They have tended to make the affairs of the Society work smoothly, to promote acquaintanceship among the Fellows, and to increase our numbers.

The evening receptions were commenced by Sir Roderick Murchison in his own house, 16, Belgrave Square, in 1852. The Earl of Ellesmere gave them at Bridgewater House from 1854 to 1856; Sir Roderick, at 16, Belgrave Square, from 1857 to 1860; and Lord Ashburton, at his house in Piccadilly, in 1861 and 1862. In 1863 the Fellows had become too numerous to be received in a private house, and Sir Roderick gave receptions at Willis's Rooms from 1863 to 1870. Sir Henry Rawlinson did the same from 1872 to 1875, and in 1876 the reception was at South Kensington. In 1877 Sir Rutherford Alcock's reception was at Willis's Rooms.

From 1878 to 1886 there were no receptions. The want of them was felt, and those who were most experienced in the working of the Society were convinced that it was desirable to resume them.

In 1887 they were resumed, General Strachey and the Council receiving the Fellows at South Kensington in that year, and at Willis's Rooms in 1888. Sir Mountstuart Grant Duff and the Council received the Fellows at Willis's Rooms in 1889 and at South Kensington in 1894. In 1895 Sir Clements Markham and the Council received the Fellows in the Water Colour Gallery in Piccadilly, and again in 1896, when 1000 were present. The Soirées in 1898 and 1899 were in the Natural History Museum, when 1500 were present on each occasion.

THE WORKING OF THE SOCIETY

THE affairs of the Society are carried on by the Council with the aid of the salaried staff, under the direct supervision of the President and the Honorary Secretaries.

The Council meets, on an average, once a fortnight, from November to June. Its business is very varied. All correspondence of importance is laid before it for consideration; it has the administration of the Society's finances; requests for grants of money for explorations and geographical research, and for the loan of instruments, have to be considered from time to time; in it is vested the election of Fellows; it has to see to the efficiency of the Society's library and map collection; papers offered to the Society for reading at meetings and for publication have to be considered and referred to specialists for report; it has annually to adjudge the honours awarded by the Society.

Such are some of the multifarious duties of the Council. Much of the business brought before it is referred in the first instance to committees, which, after careful consideration of any matter, report to the Council, with which rests the final decision.

These Committees are—Finance, Library and Map, Exploration (dealing, among other things, with instruments and special scientific subjects), Education and Orthography. Special committees are occasionally appointed when deemed advisable. The Finance and the Library and Map Committees meet once a month, the other Committees when necessary.

The correspondence of the Society, which is heavy, is carried on by the Secretary, who is responsible to the Council for the efficient working of the various departments, and for the execution of the Council's decisions.

The clerical staff consists of a Chief Clerk and two assistants. It is their duty, under the direction of the Secretary, to attend to the business affairs of the Society, the keeping of accounts, the collection of fees, the notification of elections, the preparation of business for Council and Committees, the issue of publications, arrangements for meetings, and much else, involving a good deal of correspondence.

The Society's House is in charge of a housekeeper and his wife, who reside on the premises, and who, with assistance, attend to the daily cleaning. Once a year, during the summer vacation, the whole house is completely overhauled, all the books and bookshelves cleaned, and repairs seen to. So far as books go, the introduction of electric lighting into the house has done much to prevent the deterioration of the bindings.

Of course a considerable amount of the work of the Society is necessarily done outside by printers, stationers, bookbinders, lithographers, and others. The Society has its own shorthand writer to report the discussions at the meeting.

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL.

READ AT THE ANNIVERSARY MEETING OF THE 5TH OF JUNE, 1899.

THE COUNCIL have the pleasure of submitting to the Fellows the following Report on the general and financial condition of the Society:—

Membership.—The number of Fellows elected during the year ending May 8th, 1899, was 267, and 1 Honorary and 3 Honorary Corresponding Members. In the previous year, 1897–98, the total elections amounted to 308, and in 1896–97 the number was 270. Our losses have been, by death 118 (which includes 7 Honorary Corresponding Members); by resignation 50; and by removal on account of arrears of subscription 65; making a total increase of membership for the year of 34. In the year 1897–98 there was an increase of 141, in 1896–97 an increase of 97. The total number of Fellows on the list (which does not include those 35 who have been elected but have not yet paid the fees, and is exclusive of Honorary and Honorary Corresponding Members) on the 25th of May was 4043.*

Finance.—As will be seen by the annexed Statement of Receipts and Payments for the year, the total net income for the Financial year ending Dec. 31st, 1898 (i.e. exclusive of balance in hand and sale of stock) was 11,297*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*, of which 8148*l.* 4*s.* consisted of entrance fees and subscriptions of Fellows. In the previous year, 1897, the total net income was 11,029*l.* 19*s.* 6*d.*, and the amount of subscriptions, &c., 7719*l.*; in 1896 the two totals were 11,023*l.* 1*s.* 8*d.* and 7379*l.* 8*s.* respectively.

The net expenditure for the past year (i.e. exclusive of balance in hand) was 10,889*l.* 16*s.* 7*d.* The net expenditure in 1897 was 11,518*l.* 19*s.* 11*d.*; in 1896, 10,820*l.* 15*s.* 1*d.*

The Finance Committee of the Council have held, as usual, Meetings during the year, supervising the accounts of the Society. The Annual Audit was held in May last, the accounts being audited by a chartered accountant and duly certified as correct. The following is the Auditor's Report.

Auditor's Report.—"I beg to report that I have examined the account of Receipts and Payments of your Society for the year ended 31st December last, with the books and vouchers relating thereto, and find it to be correct.

* It will be observed that the elections are given for the year ending May 8th, the accounts for the year ending December 31st. The total number of Fellows elected during the Financial year, January to December, 1898, was 289, including 6 Honorary Corresponding members.

"I have also verified the balance at the bankers and the securities held for investments of the Society, as follows:—

Securities held by Bankers:—

- 2000*l.* Caledonian Railway 4% Consolidated Preference Stock No. 1.
- 4850*l.* Great Indian Peninsula Railway 5% Guaranteed Stock.
- 1800*l.* Great Western Railway 4½% Debenture Stock.
- *1334*l.* London and North-Western Railway 3% Debenture Stock.
- 2044*l.* Midland Railway 2½% Debenture Stock.
- 1333*l.* North-Eastern Railway 3% Debenture Stock.
- 1000*l.* Norwegian 3½% Bonds.
- *1131*l.* 10*s.* 9*d.* Nottingham Corporation 3% Stock (561*l.* 0*s.* 8*d.* Trust Fund).

Inscribed at Bank of England:—

- *1121*l.* 0*s.* 8*d.* 2¾% Consols "A."
- 440*l.* 2¾% Consols "B."
- 1000*l.* India 3½% Stock.
- 1000*l.* Metropolitan 3½% Consolidated S. & K.
- 400*l.* „ 2½% Stock.
- *1028*l.* 5*s.* 6*d.* New South Wales 3½% Stock, 1924.
- 1000*l.* New Zealand 4% Stock.

* Special Trust Funds.

"The ordinary receipts for the year have amounted to 11,297*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*, being an excess of 408*l.* 0*s.* 11*d.* over the ordinary expenditure, which amounted to 10,889*l.* 16*s.* 7*d.* In the previous year the expenditure exceeded the receipts by 489*l.* 0*s.* 5*d.* The total improvement shown in the present year's accounts is therefore 897*l.* 1*s.* 4*d.*

"The market value of the Society's investments at 31st December, 1898, as certified by the bankers, was 27,913*l.* 17*s.* 7*d.*, including 4306*l.* 9*s.* 11*d.* on account of Trust Funds, as against a total market value of 28,638*l.* 8*s.* 5*d.* last year. An alteration has been made in the form of the accounts this year, in accordance with a minute of the Finance Committee dated 10th June, 1898, four Trust Accounts, administered by the Society and to which specific conditions are attached, being shown separately at the foot of the accounts. Other bequests, to which no conditions are attached, have been treated as part of the Society's General Funds as heretofore.

"During the year 1000*l.* India 3½% Debentures have been paid off at par, and 1044*l.* Midland Railway 2½% Debenture Stock at 94¼% purchased therewith.

"2014*l.* 14*s.* 3*d.* 2¾% Consols were sold at 110½, and with the proceeds a further 1000*l.* Midland Railway 2½% Debenture Stock at 95, and 1131*l.* 10*s.* 9*d.* Nottingham Corporation 3% Stock at 111¾ were purchased.

"The arrears of subscriptions amount to 1338*l.*, as against 1279*l.* at 31st December, 1897, an increase of 59*l.*

"Chartered Accountant."

May 24th, 1899.

Publications.—The monthly 'Journal' has been issued with regularity throughout the year; the twelve numbers for 1898 forming two volumes of 1444 pages, illustrated by 47 maps and 175 illustrations and diagrams. The total cost of the edition of 5500 copies (including 574*l.* 0*s.* 1*d.* for free delivery to Fellows and Institutions) was 3231*l.* 2*s.* 10*d.* From this is to be deducted the amount of 1076*l.* 7*s.* 4*d.* received from sale of copies to the public and from advertisements. The sum of 192*l.* 9*s.* 11*d.* was expended on Extra Publications.

Year-Book and Record, 1899.—For the second time in the history of the Society a Year-Book has been published, together with the List of Fellows, containing full information respecting the constitution and working of the Royal Geographical Society, and the arrangements for the utilisation of its property and the furtherance of its objects. It is hoped that the Fellows will thus become better acquainted with the uses to which their premises are put, as well as with the labours of their Society since its foundation. This, the Council trust, will lead to more frequent visits to their rooms and to a largely increased use of the geographical treasures they contain. Another object of the Year-Book will be the more general dissemination of knowledge respecting the work and uses of the Society.

Library.—During the past year, in addition to serial publications, 985 books and pamphlets have been added to the Library. Of these 689 were presented, and 296 purchased. The titles of all accessions and of the more important papers in geographical publications have been printed monthly in the 'Geographical Journal.' Amongst presents and purchases of special interest there may be noted:—Tasman's Journal of his discovery of Van Diemen's Land and New Zealand, a facsimile with notes; Lady Meux, Abyssinian M.S. No. 1, translated by Dr. E.

Wallis Budge; Ptolemæi Planisphærium, Venice, 1558; Cluveri Introductionis in Universam Geographiam, Amsterdam, 1729; Honteri Rudimentorum Cosmographicorum, Tiguri, 1548; Le Brun-Corneille, Voyage au Levant, Delft, 1700; Casalis, Dizionario Geografico-Storico-Statistico-Commerciale degli Stati di S.M. il Re di Sardegna, 26 vols., Turin, 1833-55. The Society's map mounter has put 315 pamphlets in covers. During the year 454 new volumes have been bound; and 417 have been rebound or had their binding repaired.

The sum of 173*l.* 4*s.* 5*d.* has been expended on books, and 151*l.* 18*s.* 9*d.* on binding, for the year ending December 31st, 1898.

Subject Catalogue.—Over 100,000 title-cards have been collected and, with the exception of some Hungarian and Slavonic series of Transactions, all the geographical publications in the Library have been worked through, and the title of every important paper recorded. The classification is in progress. The accessions are catalogued as they come in, and the titles, which are published in the 'Geographical Journal,' are at once classified, so that the most recent entries in the subject-catalogue are always available for reference.

Scientific Instruction.—During the past year 62 intending travellers have received instruction from Mr. Coles, in Practical Astronomy, in the Society's Observatory, and in surveying with the theodolite, prismatic compass, and plane-table, in the country. Eleven of these gentlemen have successfully passed an examination before the Committee, and have received the Society's diploma.

Instruments to the value of 537*l.* 14*s.* 6*d.* have been lent during the past year to the following travellers:—Mr. Jennings Bramley (N.E. Africa and Arabia), 13*l.* 8*s.*; Mr. R. T. Günther (Lake Urmia District, Persia), 9*l.* 2*s.*; Sir Martin Conway (Andes), 55*l.* 15*s.* 6*d.*; Dr. H. O. Forbes (Sokotra Island), 62*l.* 18*s.* 6*d.*; Captain H. W. Dowding, R.N. (South America), 74*l.* 15*s.* 6*d.*; Mr. H. Weld Blundell (Abyssinia), 71*l.*; Dr. J. W. Gregory (West Indies), 4*l.* 10*s.*; Mr. P. C. Reid (Central Africa), 40*l.*; Mr. J. E. S. Moore (Lake Region, East Central Africa), 206*l.* 5*s.*

The instruments lent to the following gentlemen have been returned during the past year, with the exception of those which have been lost:—Gen. F. D. Lugard (South Central Africa), 1896; Capt. L. R. Arthur (Congo Region), 1895; Mr. W. A. L. Fletcher (Siberia), 1898; Mr. R. T. Günther (Lake Urmia District, Persia), 1898; Mr. C. W. Andrews (Christmas Island), 1897; Sir Martin Conway (Andes), 1898; Sir William MacGregor (New Guinea), 1895; Mr. A. H. Savage Landor (Central Asia), 1897.

The following is a list of travellers who still have instruments lent to them in their possession:—Mr. E. Douglas Archibald (for cloud observations in England), 1885; Rev. A. Hetherwick (South-East Africa), 1891; Mr. C. W. Campbell (Korea), 1893; Mr. J. C. White (Sikkim), 1893; Mr. R. M. W. Swan (South-East Africa), 1893; Mr. R. T. Coryndon (Mashonaland), 1894; Mr. C. M. Woodford (Pacific Islands), 1894; Mr. R. T. Turley (China), 1896; Dr. G. E. Morrison (China), 1897; Capt. H. H. P. Deasy (Central Asia), 1897; Col. J. R. L. Macdonald, R.E., formerly lent to the late Capt. R. T. Kirkpatrick (Uganda), 1897; Dr. A. Neve (Kashmir), 1897; Capt. F. R. Maunsell, R.A. (Asia Minor), 1897; Dr. J. Bach (Brazil), 1898; Prof. A. C. Haddon (New Guinea), 1898; Major A. St. H. Gibbons (Central Africa), 1898; Mr. Jennings Bramley (Arabia), 1898 and 1899; Dr. H. O. Forbes (Sokotra Island), 1898; Capt. H. W. Dowding, R.N. (South America), 1898; Mr. H. Weld Blundell (Abyssinia), 1898; Dr. J. W. Gregory (West Indies), 1899; Mr. Percy C. Reid (Central Africa), 1899; Mr. J. E. S. Moore (African Lakes Region), 1899.

Map Room.—The accessions to the Map Room Collection during the past year comprise 1364 Maps on 1692 sheets; 106 Atlases (including continuations), containing 1109 sheets of Maps, 880 Photographs, 21 Sketches, and 402 Lantern Slides. Of these, 20 Maps on 83 sheets, 38 Atlases, 186 Photographs, and 272 Lantern Slides, have been purchased.

The important donations to the Map Room Collection during the past year have been mentioned in the 'Geographical Journal.'
